JOYOUS REUNIONS

1st Fliers Back From Formosa

One hundred men of the 83rd Fighter Interceptor Squadron came home for Christmas to Hamilton Air Force Base last night from the war that didn't happen.

A C97 Stratocruiser landed the pilots and ground crew men at Hamilton after a trip across the Pacific from Formosa, where they were rushed in September when threats and counter-threats over the offshore islands of Quemoy and Matsu raised fears of a shooting war with Red China.

The remainder of the 83rd is expected to arrive later this week aboard another C97.

Wives and children of the Starfighter fliers and crewmen lined the Hamilton flight line last night as the big transport plane circled in from the last leg of its trans-Pacific journey. It reportedly had been delayed temporarily in Honolulu by engine trouble.

There were scenes of happy reunion as the men alighted from the plane to be greeted before being hustled through a processing line to check records, receive pay (at the overseas rate) and be presented three-day passes.

When the 83rd squadron was secretly ordered to Formosa in September, many a flier's worried wife feared she might not see her husband again.

Now, the worries are over.

Among the men arriving last night were Maj. Carl H. Lee, executive officer of the 83rd, and Capt. Walter W. Irwin, who set the world's speed record last spring in a Starfighter.

On hand to greet them officially was Col. Louis W. Ford, commander of the 78th Fighter Group, of which the 83rd is a unit.

The 83rd, commanded by Lt. Col. John W. Bennett, who is to return in the second "wave," is being replaced on the Nationalist Chinese island by the 337th Fighter Interceptor Squadron from Westover Air Force Base, Mass. The 83rd left its F104 Starfighters in Formosa, and the 337th has left its Starfighters at Hamilton to be taken over by the Marin squadron.

Tomorrow's Deadline For Tax Payment

Deadline for payment of first installment taxes is 5 p.m. tomorrow, County Tax Collector M. F. Donohue announced today.

A last minute rush of about four million dollars in tax payments was expected today and tomorrow. "The final rush is going to be heavier than in past years," Donohue predicted.

Normally, about 60 per cent of the year's tax bill is paid by the first installment deadline. This would mean that eight-and-one-half million dollars is expected by tomorrow night. As of this morning, only $4,100,000 had been paid. The year's total tax bill is $14,400,000.

Payments must be in the mail and postmarked not later than 5 p.m. tomorrow if the taxpayer is to avoid a penalty.

State Recommends Loans For Marin Harbor Facilities

More than a million dollars worth of improvements for small craft facilities in the Marin area were recommended for approval today to the state Small Craft Harbors Commission.

The commission was meeting today in Blythe for the first time since the voters at the November election gave it 10 million dollars to lend for small craft projects. Before it were 25 applications for loans. Two are in Marin County; a third just across its northern boundary.

MARIN PROJECTS

In Marin, the staff of the Division of Small Craft Harbors recommended loans of $300,000 to the City of Mill Valley for development of a harbor in Richardson Bay, and $300,000 to the County of Marin for development of the channel and shoreline improvements in the same bay.

Just north of Marin, the division recommended a $500,000 loan for harbor construction and improvements at Bodega Bay.

Both of the Marin loans were ringed with contingencies, however. The divisioin pointed out that both the city and the county must prove feasibility of the projects, that they would pay for themselves and would benefit the community.

MILL VALLEY PLANS

Mill Valley's plans, which are more detailed than those of the county, but still only in tentative form, call for a 36-acre harbor development on the east side of the Northwestern Pacific Railroad tracks and west of Enchanted Knolls. It would extend the Sausalito channel of Richardson Bay to serve a yacht basin and facilities.

The division staff called the Mill Valley location good, the land available and the project "justified pending further planning."

On the county proposal, the staff said it was being recommended pending detailed planning "because they have plenty

Legion Offers Building For Recreation

Mill Valley American Legion Post last night decided to offer its $35,000 building to Recreation Council, Inc., without cost.

The post had put the valuable Miller avenue property on the market and has a sale under negotiation, reported Dr. J. J. Diederich, post commander. But officials of the Project 17 recreation group approached Legion officers asking to acquire the building for moving to the project area in the marshlands for recreation use.

"We are happy to be of service to the community," Dr. Diederich said, "and hope that this move will be another step in the betterment of Mill Valley and its activities."

During the past year, Legion members completed a $9,000 modernization and improvement job on the building, which included a new kitchen and other facilities.

Recreation Council officials are planning to present the matter to the Mill Valley City Council at its Dec. 17 meeting to clarify the legal status of the transaction, since the building would be placed on city-owned property.

Goldfine Faces 18 Charges Of Contempt

WASHINGTON (AP)—A federal grand jury today indicted Boston industrialist Bernard Goldfine on a charge of contempt of Congress.

The 18-count indictment was based on Goldfine's refusal to answer 22 questions put to him by the House Subcommittee on Legislative Oversight, which last summer investigated Goldfine's relationship with Sherman Adams, then assistant to President Eisenhower.

GIFTS TO ADAMS

The committee heard testimony that Goldfine, an old friend of Adams, made valuable gifts to Adams and that Adams had contacted federal agencies investigating Goldfine enterprises.

The questions Goldfine refused to answer were mostly about his financial dealings with a Boston company he controls.

The House voted a contempt citation 379-8 on Aug. 13.

The law provides for maximum penalties of a year in jail and a fine of $1,000 for each count of contempt proved in court.

NO COMMENT

Goldfine's Boston office said he was not in today and there would be no comment at present.

It was learned that the indictment was voted by the grand jury yesterday while Goldfine's attorneys were skirmishing in federal court in Boston over financial records which the millionaire industrialist had been ordered to turn over to the Internal Revenue Service in an income tax investigation.

Tax officials said the records produced were not complete, but Goldfine spokesmen plead-

Robber Of Fairfax Bank Captured In Calistoga

Seized After Stickup

A Marin County Farm and Hospital janitor, captured by a pistol-carrying bank manager minutes after a Calistoga bank holdup yesterday, confessed also the $910 robbery of the Bank of America in Fairfax last Aug. 6.

Robert Francis Gladu, 51, who resided at the county farm, was trapped when he turned his car into a deadend street while fleeing from the holdup of the Calistoga branch of the Bank of America.

Hot on his trail was the bank manager, Frank Piner, waving a .32 caliber automatic pistol.

THREATENS TO SHOOT

As Gladu tried to back out of the deadend street, Piner shouted: "Stop or I'll shoot!"

Gladu surrendered. Piner, pistol in hand, marched him back to the bank, where the $750 loot was recovered from him.

"I felt silly marching that man back to the bank with a gun at his back," Piner said afterward.

He felt a lot sillier, he confessed, when he looked at the pistol. It wasn't loaded.

Gladu, it turned out, was also unarmed. He had held an overcoat concealing one hand as if he held a gun when he shoved a note to Mrs. Robert Dikeman, a teller.

'TRIGGER HAPPY'

The note read: "I am desperate and trigger happy. Don't make a move to attract any attention until I make my getaway. Give me twenty-five $20 bills, twenty-five $10 bills and twenty-five $5 bills. Return this note with the money."

Mrs. Dikeman was so nervous she unintentionally left out the $5 bills.

After his capture, Gladu admitted to Calistoga police that he robbed the Fairfax Bank of America. The robber on that occasion draped a windbreaker over what appeared to be a gun. Gladu told police he was unarmed then, also.

SIMILAR TIMING

Timing of the two jobs was approximately the same. Gladu marched up to Mrs. Dikeman's window at 12:30 p.m. yesterday. The Fairfax robbery was pulled off at 11:35 a.m. on Aug. 6.

A federal complaint was filed today charging Gladu with both robberies, said Webb Burke, special agent of the Federal Bureau of Investigation in San

GEORGE'S TROUBLES BEGIN —When the first stage of alcoholic anesthesia sets in, George feels relaxed. His self-consciousness evaporates. Inhibitions slack off. He puts his arm around the boss's wife. He becomes careless, loud and boisterous.

Our Drinking Habits

Liquor Doesn't Stimulate; It Puts The Brain's Policeman To Sleep

By HOWARD WHITMAN

Liquor is not a stimulant; it is a depressant. It does not wake you up; it puts you to sleep.

But the first part of you which it depresses (or anesthetizes) is the cerebral cortex, the policeman of the brain. And so, for a time, until the rest of the brain is anesthetized, a little hell breaks loose. We call that "getting drunk."

Alcohol is an anesthetic drug like ether or chloroform. It might even be used as a general anesthetic during surgery or tooth extraction, except that the amount it takes to banish consciousness (the point where the drinker "passes out") is too dangerously close to the point of death.

Here's how alcohol works:

It enters the stomach just as any other food does. And it is a food; it is loaded with calories. Absorption into the blood stream begins almost at once, through the tiny blood vessels which line the stomach wall. About a third of the alcohol is absorbed through the stomach; the remaining two-thirds sluices along into the small intestine and is similarly absorbed into the blood stream through the capillary lining.

It is the only food which goes straight into the blood without digestion. That's why its action is fast.

The blood stream carries the alcohol to the liver, and, if you are a very moderate drinker that's the end of it. The liver simply oxidizes the alcohol, burns it up as fuel for the body engine. But that's assuming you drink one mild high ball or one bottle of beer in an hour. Any more than that and the liver is overloaded; too much fuel for the engine.

Result: the excess alcohol overflows and is carried by the blood stream to every organ in the body. It hits the brain. And there's where the fun and/or trouble begin.

Alcohol's first action is felt

Navy Plane Hits Houses; Six Killed

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—A disabled Navy tanker plane smashed into two houses today in a residential area near Chesapeake Bay. The plane's four crewmen and two babies in one of the houses were killed. Two other persons were burned.

The plane crashed in one of this port city's main thoroughfares as it approached the Norfolk Naval Air Station for an emergency landing after its left engine failed.

One of the two houses struck by the plane was the home of Navy Lt. Joseph E. Tondora. His wife and two of their three children were at home. The children perished and Mrs. Tondora was burned. She was taken to a naval dispensary.

No one was at home in the other house.

The plane was an AJ2 twin-engine tanker.

Before it struck the houses, it smashed into a potato-laden trailer truck. The truck driver was taken to the naval dispensary for treatment of burns. His name was not available immediately.

Miller, Dupuis Both Spent About $15,000

Congressman-elect Clement W. Miller and his defeated Republican opponent, Fred G. Dupuis, each spent about $15,000 in the election campaign, according to expense statements on file with the county clerk today.

Tonight is the deadline for filing of campaign statements.

Miller's statements show his campaign cost him $14,893, of which he put up $4,445 himself. Contributors to Miller included Democratic committees; political education committees of various unions, including Painters, Decorators and Plasterers, Electrical Workers, CIO, and Trainmen, and a long list of individuals.

Dupuis' statement shows a total cost of $14,608, of which about $3,000 was to make up for the deficit from the June primaries. Dupuis paid $635 himself, and the rest came from his backers. Biggest contributions were $4,000 from the Republican Central Committee of Marin and $1,300 from the Friends of Fred Dupuis Committee. Outgoing Congressman Hubert Scudder chipped in $118 for Dupuis.

Sheriff-elect Louis P. Mountanos reported a total cost of $2,825, of which he put up $55 himself. Among the 40 contributions were $300 from Kenneth Shafer, $200 each from William Ghilotti and John Cosmas, $125 from James Hadreas, and $100 each from Joseph Kane, Vincent Maggiora and Son, Sil Oliva and Mike Krekos.

William A. Gnoss, supervisor from North Marin, spent $450. Gnoss put up $240 himself and got $210 in contributions.

Jesse W. Carter, associate justice of the state Supreme Court, who was not opposed, got back into office without spending a cent on his campaign.

State Assemblyman Richard H. McCollister, who was also unopposed, reported his reelection cost him nothing at all.

The campaign statement of Virgil S. Hollis, superintendent of county schools, was not filed as yet this morning.

The penalty for not filling a statement is that the man cannot be sworn into office.

Fisherman Stranded On High Cliff Hauled To Safety

San Francisco fisherman Jack Rudolph Witt, 49, stuck on the face of a 100-foot cliff at McClure's Beach for about two hours last night, was hauled to safety by friends and a deputy sheriff.

Witt, a leather worker, was cold but unhurt.

Deputy Sheriff Arthur Leal said friends of Witt were trying to use a clothes line to haul him from his precarious perch 60 feet above the ocean on Pierce Point, across Tomales Bay from Dillon Beach. Witt, who had been abalone fishing, started to climb the cliff and reached a point where he could go neither up or down as darkness and fog closed in on him.

San Franciscans Robert Andrew Moore, Jack Leary and William Francis Killpack, aided by Leal and John McClure, hauled the victim over the cliff at 8:44 p.m. Witt was stuck on a cliff known as Elephant Rock at Pierce Point, on the peninsula that juts out between the Pacific Ocean and Tomales Bay.

County Fire Chief Charles Reilley and Fireman Ed Gearhart from the Woodacre firehouse aided in the rescue. Coast Guardsmen were also called to the scene.

Prison Honors Three Leaving Religious Staff

Three members of the religious staff at San Quentin Prison were honored at a farewell dinner last night.

The three, Rev. Leonard S. Weed, Rev. H. S. Rentfro and Herbert Friedrich, all have resigned from their prison positions.

Rev. Weed, Protestant chaplain, will minister to inmates in San Diego County honor camps, after a few weeks' vacation. He has been at San Quentin 10 years and worked as a correctional officer while studying at San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo.

Rev. Rentfro, San Anselmo Seventh-Day Adventist pastor, is retiring. He has been ministering to prison inmates on Sundays for 16 years and has also been active in the prison's religious study program.

Friedrich, a Christian Science reader, has assisted at the institution for five years.

The gathering of personnel and their wives was highlighted by farewell wishes from Warden Fred R. Dickson. Chaplain Byron Eshelman was in charge of the event.

No One Attends Merger Meeting

A public hearing on the proposed unification of Novato and San Jose School Districts was closed a few minutes after it was opened last night at Marion School, Novato, when no audience appeared.

Mrs. Helen E. Wallace, chairman-elect of the County Committee on School District Organization, expressed regret that the meeting was not attended.

Supt. William J. J. Smith of the Novato Unified School District, and Edwin L. Blackmore, administrative assistant to the county superintendent of schools, also present at the unattended hearing, said they expect a turnout at other hearings on the subject tomorrow at 8 p.m. at Lynwood School, Novato, and again Dec. 15 at 8 p.m. at Novato High School.

Rex Silvernale, vice chairman of the committee, will preside over those hearings.

ROBBER

Francisco. Gladu was to be arraigned today before a United States commissioner in Sacramento.

Gladu was employed until Dec. 1 as a janitor at the Marin County Hospital and Farm for the elderly indigent. He was a good worker, said Supt. Lloyd De La Montanya. At one time he was a bank teller in Canada. Before working for the county, he was a janitor at the San Rafael Military Academy from 1954 to 1956.

Last May 6 he quit his job at the county farm to get his money out of an employees' retirement fund. He returned to work on June 1.

In August, fellow workers at the county farm noticed that Gladu seemed to have a lot of money and was paying off debts. He was questioned about the Fairfax robbery but said he was in Pt. Reyes the day of the holdup. He was not picked out of a lineup by Fairfax bank employees.

Gladu at the time said he won the money at a poker game in Napa County.

Calistoga police said Gladu told them he held up the bank yesterday so he could get money for "a nice Christmas" for a Larkspur woman friend who has four children. According to county personnel records, Gladu is married but separated from his wife.

ASKED TO RETURN

De La Montanya said Gladu sent a wire from Santa Ana last week saying he wanted to return to work at the county farm. When he left he was getting a salary of $268 a month and lived on the premises, paying $43 a month for room and board.

Gladu never showed up, De La Montanya said. He got a telephone call from the Larkspur woman, who said Gladu left Marin again on Friday telling her he "had a job," De La Montanya said.

Calistoga Police Chief Ken Hively said Gladu told him one of his motives for yesterday's holdup was that he had overdrawn about $100 in his personal bank account.

Frank Foley, operator of the Wilkins Hotel in San Rafael where Gladu lived while he worked at San Rafael Military Academy, said he had cashed a check and signed a note for Gladu recently. "The guy clipped me," Foley said.

Gladu had also borrowed $10 from Alfred Barnes, a patient at the county hospital.

Goldfine's tilt with the subcommittee here occured July 11 while the subcommittee was looking into the disposition of cases involving Goldfine companies by the Federal Trade Commission and the Securities and Exchange Commission.

The questions Goldfine refused to answer related to financial affairs of the Boston Port Development Co., in which he held the major interest.

In refusing to answer the questions, Goldfine claimed they were not pertinent to the investigation.

District court officials said Goldfine will be arraigned Friday.

Orthodox Deacon Dies At Service

Graveside services for Prokope Berdine, a deacon of St. Nicholas' Russian Orthodox Church of San Anselmo who suffered a fatal heart attack during the Sunday morning liturgy, were conducted by Rev. Boris Symeonoff this morning at Mt. Tamalpais Cemetery, San Rafael.

The 73-year-old Berdine made his home with Mr. and Mrs. Constantine Pope at 314 Jewell avenue, San Rafael. He came to the county two and one-half years ago from France. He was born in Russia.

He collapsed suddenly, falling to the floor of the church at 102 Ross avenue. Attempts to revive him by San Anselmo Fire Department's resuscitator squad failed and he was pronounced dead by Dr. John C. Siemens. The body was taken to the Chapel of the Hills.

He has no known survivor.

Board Votes To Hire Aide For Juvenile Hall

The board of supervisors today approved the hiring of an additional woman group supervisor at Juvenile Hall because of crowding of the facilities in Lucas Valley.

Probation Officer Walter H. Busher, in a letter to the board, pointed out that since July this year the daily population of the hall had increased from an average of 13.1 children to 27 children. Highest total was 34 children. The hall was designed to handle 20.

Busher said that since July, only two days had occupancy gone below 15 and that since Oct. 25, there have never been less than 20 children on any day.

DOUBLING UP

"When we are averaging 27 children," Busher said, "we are having to detain seven or eight adolescent boys in custody in the girls' wing along with whatever girls we have there. This involves doubling up of children in rooms, sleeping children on mattresses on the floor."

The crowding is "not so much from any undue increase in the admissions to Juvenile Hall, but due to the difficulty in getting children out of the hall into placements ordered by the juvenile court. As a result, more children are staying longer in custody."

10 GIRLS AT A TIME

He said that as many as 10 girls had been in the hall simultaneously and that it had been two months since there had been less than seven girls at any one time.

There has been only one woman on duty during the daytime, Busher said. The new woman is badly needed, he maintained. The supervisors agreed.

DON'T WORRY; 'TAINT SO — That portion of the plate on parking meters in San Rafael's new Fifth avenue-C street parking lot which says "5 cents per hour until 9 p.m. on Fridays" will be removed or obliterated, Public works Director Norris Rawles promised today. Somebody goofed, Rawles admitted—there's no meter charge after 6 p.m. (Independent-Journal photo)

Parking's Free In New Lots After 6 O'Clock

San Rafael shoppers who park their cars in the three new offstreet parking lots do not have to put in coins after 6 p.m., although the sign on the meter says the meters must be fed until 9 o'clock on Friday nights.

It was all a misunderstanding, City Manager Dan E. Andersen explained yesterday. Fourth street businessman Francis Fogarty pointed out that many customers were confused by the sign that says coins must be put in until 9 p.m. on Fridays.

Councilmen Joseph Sauer and Louis H. Baar, members of the city parking committee, said they had never heard of such a ruling. They asked the city manager to correct the sign.

The city manager issued this clarification: Regardless of what the meters say, you don't have to put money in the meters after 6 p.m. In other words, feeding of meters in the new parking lots will be exactly the same as on city streets.

4 CHILDREN INVOLVED

Request Results In School Redistricting

The boundaries of a Sonoma County school district may be revised to make it a joint district, and the line between two North Marin districts redrawn, so that four ranch children can attend schools nearer their homes.

This was the upshot of discussions at last night's meeting of the Marin County Board of Education.

Involved are Kirk and Elizabeth Hay, children of Mr. and Mrs. Richard B. Hay, and Perry and Mary Moore, children of Mr. and Mrs. Max Moore. Both families live on ranches on Chileno Valley road.

The four children attend Two Rock School in Sonoma County. But Tomales Union Elementary School District trustees refused to approve an inter-district agreement so that Two Rock School District could collect state funds for the children.

Although Two Rock School is much closer to the two ranch homes than is Tomales School —about two miles instead of six miles—the Tomales board pointed out that bus transportation is available to Tomales.

At its meeting last night in San Rafael, the county board overruled the Tomales board to approve inter-district agreements permitting the Hay and Moore children to continue at Two Rock School. But it went further.

The board authorized E. Warren McGuire, assistant county counsel, to start proceedings to redraw the boundary lines of several school districts to straighten out the tangle.

First, the Hay ranch will be placed in Laguna Joint School District, another North Marin district, instead of Tomales. The ranch borders the Laguna district.

Laguna district children attend Kenilworth Junior High High School in Petaluma and Petaluma High School. And the district board has no objection to an inter-district agreement to allow the Hay children to attend Two Rock elementary school, according to County Supt. Richard L. Foster.

Next, the 144-acre Moore ranch, which now lies partly in three school districts, will be annexed to Two Rock District. This will transform Two Rock from a union school district to a joint school district (under California's complicated school district law, a joint district is one which crosses county lines). This will eliminate the complication for the Moore children.

Of Moore's 144 acres, all but 34 acres are in Sonoma County. But the house is in Marin County — in Tomales Elementary School District. Part of the Sonoma portion of the ranch is in Two Rock District, and part in Bloomfield District.

Strawberry Land Owners Elect

Forrest Randolph, wholesale meat broker, last night was named president of the Strawberry Property Owners Assn., succeeding Clifford W. (Bill) Young. Randolph lives at 309 East Strawberry drive.

Ralph Cain of Trailorboat Engineering Co., was elected vice president. Col. W. E. Long and James L. Clark were re-elected secretary and treasurer, respectively.

Long announced the property owners will again sponsor an outdoor Christmas tree decoration contest, with details to be announced later.

Disaster Station Goes Into Operation Dec. 17

Sausalito School District trustees were informed by City Manager Donald A. Duerr last night that the city plans to put its portable first aid and fire-fighting station at the Richardson Bay School annex into operation Dec. 17.

The disaster station, made available by the state, is designed to offer aid in case of enemy attack or community disaster.

The board announced that Mrs. Shirley Krikorian, second grade teacher at Central School, had been selected to lead a two-week phonics workshop at Monmouth College in Illinois next summer.

Times were set for school Christmas programs. They are: Richardson Bay, Dec. 17 at 7:30 p.m.; Marin City and Bayside, Dec. 18 at 1 p.m., and Central, Dec. 19 at 10 a.m.

Trustees tabled a letter from the Marin County Labor Council suggesting that the board adopt a policy which would not restrict teacher employment outside of school hours. Present policy does not interfere with teacher employment outside of school hours, the trustees noted.

Traffic Unit Opposes B Street Compromise Parking System

San Rafael's B street businessman Andrew Pedroli presented a "compromise solution" for parking on B street yesterday afternoon, then stormed out of the meeting when the city's three-man traffic committee stuck to its original stand of keeping parallel parking on both sides of the street.

Pedroli said he and other businessmen would agree to keeping parallel parking on one side of B street if the city would switch back to diagonal parking on the other side.

But the city traffic committee, composed of City Manager Dan E. Andersen, Police Chief Frank Kelly and Public Works Supt. Norris Rawles, said the half-and-half plan (one side diagonal and the other parallel) would still not provide the required 24 feet of freeway in the middle where two cars could safely pass each other.

Chairman Joseph F. Sauer asked the traffic committee to diagram the half-and-half plan, with 30-degree diagonal parking instead of 45 degrees to see exactly how much space would be left in the center of B street.

No date was set for the next meeting.

Harry Albert and Pedroli led the group of businessmen protesting the parallel parking, pointing out that many parking spaces were lost in the switch to parallel. More important, they said, customers are being lost because drivers, especially women, cannot park parallel and are thus being chased away from the street.

At least 90 per cent of B street merchants oppose parallel parking, Pedroli declared. Reports from Mayor John F. McInnis and Councilman Sauer that people are expressing themselves about 10 to 1 in favor of parallel parking are not true, Pedroli charged.

Sauer, Councilman Louis H. Baar and Fourth street businessmen Robert Batty and Francis Fogarty said they are in favor of giving parallel parking a fair trial on B street.

"We've already given it a fair trial," said Pedroli. "Every day we see people try to park and then drive off. Ninety-nine per cent of the merchants on B street are against it."

Pedroli warned that if diagonal parking is not restored to at least one side of B street, the merchants will probably appear in force at the next city council meeting and "blow off the roof."

Albert asked for a concrete report on how diagonal on one side and parallel on the other would work. He agreed with Pedroli that this would be the best compromise solution.

Bid Opening Set For Mt. Tam Firehouse

Bids will be opened Jan. 6 for construction of a new county firehouse on the slopes of Mt. Tamalpais.

Detailed drawings on the structure, which will be able to house three fire trucks and some firemen, were presented to the board of supervisors today by architect Henry Schubart.

Schubart estimated the building would cost $39,500 if completed entirely under contract. However, he said the bid price might be in the neighborhood of $33,000 if firemen completed the inside finishing of all the rooms except the kitchen and bathroom.

The building will have, besides the garage space, quarters for the man in charge of the station and a small dormitory for two or three firemen. It will also have a day room and a duty room, which will have a corner window giving the man on duty a sweeping view of the slopes of the mountain.

It will be built on about an acre of ground a short distance up the fire trail from the Mountain Home Restaurant on Panoramic highway.

The supervisors also gave County Fire Chief Charles Reilley permission to start testing for water on a proposed firehouse site in Hicks Valley at the intersection of the Pt. Reyes-Petaluma and Chileno Valley roads.

San Rafael PG&E Official Gets Promotion, Transfer

Lyle W. Smith of San Rafael, general services manager for Pacific Gas and Electric Co.'s North Bay Division, has been promoted to manager of PG&E's Vallejo-Napa District, division manager E. S. Day announced today.

Smith will succeed district manager Louis N. Pechette of Vallejo, who retires Jan. 1.

The Vallejo-Napa District includes Napa County and the Vallejo, Benicia and Cordelia areas of Solano County.

A native of Albany, Ore., Smith attended Oregon schools and was graduated from Oregon State College at Corvallis.

From 1929 to 1934 he taught agriculture at Fortuna Union High School in Humboldt County. After a year as head of the agriculture department at Arcata Union High School in 1934-35, Smith joined Southern California Edison Co. as an agricultural specialist. He became a power salesman and sales supervisor, and in 1944 joined PG&E as an industrial power engineer at San Rafael. He was promoted to field supervisor, to commercial and industrial sales supervisor and, in November, 1956, to general services manager for the North Bay Division.

Smith also has achieved status as a registered electrical engineer by passing a California examination.

He has been active in farm organizations, Boy Scout work, the San Rafael Chamber of Commerce and the California Chamber of Commerce.

Smith was married in 1932 to Mary Alice Degnan. The Smiths' daughter, Carol Lee, 21, attends Dominican College in San Rafael.

Now residents of San Rafael at 19 Curtis avenue, the Smiths will move to Vallejo.

Novato To Get Contemporary Furniture Store

A new contemporary-modern furniture store will open on Novato's Grant avenue about Jan. 15, it was announced today by Richard A. Gronberg, proprietor of Johnson's Red Barn, which specializes in colonial furniture at 857 Grant avenue.

The new store, to be across the street from the Red Barn at 828 Grant, will occupy the building formerly housing the Novato Variety Store and now being used temporarily by Rayburn's Grocery Store.

Redecorating of the building will begin when Rayburn's Grocery moves into new quarters being completed at 850 Grant avenue.

Eugene Williams, assistant manager at the Red Barn, also will assist at Johnson's new store.

Gronberg opened the Red Barn in September of 1957, two months after his Johnson's Furniture Store in San Rafael was leveled in the disastrous Fourth street fire of July 29.

Performance Of 'Messiah' Set Tonight

Cary Smith of Mill Valley will be bass soloist at the annual performance of "The Messiah" at 8 o'clock tonight in the gymnasium of San Francisco Theological Seminary, San Anselmo.

This will be Smith's first solo performance in Marin County. He is a new member of the Marin Chorale, which unites with the Seminary A Cappello Choir in singing the traditional Christmas music again this Yule season.

Oroginally from Washington, D.C., Smith was formerly stationed with the Air Force on Mt, Tamalpais. He liked Marin County so much that he moved his wife and two children to California. Now a student at San Francisco State College, where he is studying music under Rue Knapp. Smith has studied in the past at American University, Washington, D.C. While in that city he was a member of the Washington Opera Society and the National Episcopal Cathedral Choir. He is a member of the Mill Valley Light Opera Company and soloist with St. John's Episcopal Church in Ross.

Other soloists in "The Messiah" will be Marion Swartz, soprano; Eleanor Clemmons, contralto and Robert Bruce, tenor. Carolyn Witt and Wilbur F. Russell will be accompanists.

Tonight's performance, again under direction of Dr. John Milton Kelly, will be the 22nd annual presentation of the Handel oratorio at the San Anselmo college.

For Fourth Time, Vehicle Hits House

BERKELEY (AP) — There is some hazard in living at 900 Marin avenue, Berkeley.

It's the home of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Rygh. Yesterday, for the fourth time in eight years, a run-away motor vehicle hit their house.

This time it was a 12-ton garbage truck.

The truck had just turned into the extremely steep street when its brakes failed. Quickly gathering momentum, the truck rolled 130 feet down the hill before the driver veered it over the curb, clipped the front porch and rammed into the heavy brick fireplace.

Mrs. Rygh, 54, talking to a friend on the telephone at the time, exclaimed "That's an earthquake!"

The truck overturned after hitting the house. Its load of garbage was strewn over the Rygh lawn and the street.

Russel Badies, 39, of Oakland, driver of the truck, and his brother Nealon, 37, of Berkeley, escaped with minor injuries. A third man on the truck, Prince A. Davis, 33, of Berkeley, jumped off earlier and was unhurt.

Damage to the home and truck was estimated by police at about $5,000.

During the Boer War, Britain sent many of its prisoners to a big detention camp on Bermuda.

Mill Valley Trustees Discuss Class Sizes

Rescheduling of classes in the Mill Valley School District might correct some weaknesses in the bus operations but would not solve problems of class size, Leo B. Edson, principal of Park School, told last night's meeting of the district trustees.

It was the first of three meetings scheduled by the board to discuss the problems of class size.

Edson's report traced the history of bus transportation problems from 1953, showing that the present 1,002 pupils carried represented a 40 per cent increase in that period; the 73,500 miles traveled is a 23 per cent increase, and that the $29,500 expense was up 20 per cent.

In the same period, Edson's report showed, the transportation cost per pupil dropped 9 per cent from $36.08 to $29.44.

The trustees reached no conclusion on changing times for classes to start and finish.

"There is a positive correlation between equalization of class size by transportation and an inefficient bus transportation program," Edson declared.

Supt. G. R. McConnell said trustees may decide at their Jan. 12 meeting whether to call again for a vote on a bond issue for more classrooms to alleviate the class size problem.

TWO BIG PENNEY STORES TO SERVE YOU — SAN RAFAEL — CORTE MADERA

Soviet Police Boss Relieved Of Post

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union's top policeman, Gen. Ivan A. Serov, has been relieved of his job. The announcement in the Soviet government newspaper Izvestia today said he had been transferred to other duties but gave no hint of what they were.

Serov's successor as chairman of the Committee for State Security also was not announced.

IVAN A. SEROV
To more important job?

HIGHER JOB?

Most foreign observers in Moscow believed Serov may perhaps have been given an even more important job. He has long been a friend and close associate of Nikita S. Khrushchev, who heads both the government and the Communist Party.

Some Western experts on Soviet affairs believed Serov had been demoted because the Izvestia announcement did not give his new post, the customary precedure when a Kremlin official is promoted.

WELL KNOWN

Serov, a 53-year-old army general, had become well known abroad in recent years for being in charge of security arrangements on Premier Nikita Khrushchev's trips. He was widely known earlier for directing the plan to liquidate anti-Communist elements in the Baltic countries in 1940.

Serov was last seen by Western correspondents at a Kremlin reception Nov. 10 for Wladyslaw Gomulka, head of the Polish Communist Party. A slight, ruddy-faced man with penetrating blue eyes, he was usually friendly and informal in public, chatting freely with foreign diplomats and newsmen at receptions.

After having been closely identified with Soviet security organs almost from the beginning of his career, Serov got some of the powers of Lavrenty Beria after Stalin's police chief was executed in 1953. He formally took command of the committee which is the supreme Soviet police organ in April 1954.

Serov was one of the numerous officials now in top Soviet ranks who worked with Khrushchev when the present premier was Communist Party boss in the Ukraine during World War II. Serov was head of state security in that southwestern Soviet republic.

Ike Gets Secret Nikita Message Via Humphrey

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn.) today gave President Eisenhower a confidential message from Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev dealing with Russian nuclear explosions.

Humphrey, just back from Moscow, also told Eisenhower about secret Soviet developments in the field of rockets.

The senator gave the President an 80-minute oral report on the eight-hour conference he had with Khrushchev.

TWO SECRETS

Afterward, Humphrey told newsmen his report to Eisenhower regarding Soviet nuclear explosions and developments in the rocket field are the two secrets which he had stated earlier Khrushchev had told him.

He added that the Soviet premier had asked him specifically to pass on to Eisenhower the information dealing with Russian nuclear explosions.

Humphrey said Khrushchev also asked him to pass on to the President some suggestions dealing with the Berlin crisis. The senator said he personally regarded those suggestions as unacceptable to the Western powers.

MUM ON DETAILS

Humphrey declined to provide any details regarding the information he passed on to Eisenhower. He said it is up to the administration to decide whether the American public should be informed.

Humphrey has gained wide publicity from his conference in Moscow with Khrushchev and other Soviet leaders, and from the news conferences he has held since then in Moscow, London, New York and Washington.

His hopes for the 1960 Democratic presidential nomination aren't hurt, either, by the invitation to confer with the President on grave international matters.

U.N. DELEGATE

Eisenhower gave the 47-year-old senator a chance to show himself in international affairs as a delegate to the United Nations last year. But he has not previously been in the top echelon of congressional Democrats consistently consulted by the administration.

"I don't think we're going to make any progress politically with the Soviets for a long time," Humphrey told a news conference yesterday. "No great political decisions are in the offing."

OWN FIRE ESCAPE—Wilda Myman, 9, holds 60-foot length of rope her mother had her take to her fourth grade class in Independence, Mo., school. If fire breaks out, Wilda is to use the rope as a fire escape from her second story classroom. Her mother, Mrs. W. F. Hyman, apparently disturbed over the recent disastrous Chicago school fire, said she had Wilda pack the rope to emphasize importance of fire safety factors. (AP Wirephoto)

It Must Be Christmas!

BETHLEHEM, Conn. (UPI) — The postmaster of Bethlehem needed no reminder today that Christmas is drawing near.

Cards from throughout the Christian world have started pouring into the Bethlehem post office for remailing.

By the time Postmaster Earl S. Johnson and his helpers close up shop on Christmas Day, they expect to handle about 250,000 pieces of mail.

5th French Republic Comes Into Being

PARIS (UPI)—The newly elected National Assembly convenes here today, marking the first official function of the Fifth French Republic. Premier Charles de Gaulle was to deliver an address.

The new Assembly was to open with all the pomp of the old, including the beating of the drums by the Republican Guardsmen as the temporary speaker strides through the corridors to take his seat.

But it lacked the political power of the Fourth Republic Assembly, being forced to take its cue from De Gaulle, who was expected to announce Thursday his candidacy for president of the new republic in the electoral college vote Dec. 21.

ELECTION AHEAD

The Assembly today was to elect a speaker and assign Assembly benches on the right, left and center to the various party blocs.

Most of the new deputies have accepted the fact that under the new constitution the Assembly will be second to de Gaulle, but the representatives from Algeria have shown signs of parliamentary friskiness.

They threatened yesterday to resign their Assembly seats unless de Gaulle endorses their policy of French-Algerian integration by next July—a policy he has shown no indications of adopting.

REDS REDUCED

The Communists, who often disrupted proceedings in previous National Assemblies, were reduced to only 10 in the new chamber. However, they were expected to be quite vociferous in their opposition to deGaulle's programs.

The new Assembly is different from the old in that it no longer has the exclusive power to initiate laws—this power may be delegated to the premier.

Germany Campus Called Success By Stanfordites

STUTTGART, Germany (AP)—Stanford University in Germany is a success say its 63 American students as the first European branch of the California school nears the end of its first half year.

The students have been studying languages and culture at the Stanford center in the nearby village of Beutelsbach.

"They have achieved outstanding results in their studies," said Prof. F. W. Strothmann, head of the center. It opened in June.

"Stanford in Germany is no longer an experiment but a permanent enrichment of our university," Strothmann added. He is executive head of Stanford's Modern European language department.

The students visited art centers in Rome and took a one-week trip to Berlin during the session. They will return to the United States soon and another group is expected to arrive late this month.

Strothmann said another Stanford branch probably will open in Florence, Italy. He didn't say when.

HUGE? YOU TOO CAN BE AN AF CADET

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., (AP) — There never has been an Air Force Academy cadet who stands 6 feet 6, weighs 239 pounds, and wears glasses. But there may be in the future.

The academy announced yesterday it is relaxing its physical standards for admission.

The academy has increased cadet height limits from 6 feet 4 to 6 feet 6, and weight from 226 pounds to 239 pounds.

Applicants also may be accepted with distant and near vision in both eyes of 20-50, correctible to 20-20 with moderate refractive error, and with minor defects of color vision. Failure to pass depth perception tests no longer will disqualify an applicant.

Man Jailed On Charge Of Writing Bad Check

Mill Valley police arrested James Leonard Liles, 38, also known as James Morris, in Petaluma Saturday and booked him at the county jail on a charge of writing a $19.50 bad check to the Brothers Tavern in Mill Valley. The arrest was made by Officer Dan Terzich.

Liles was also booked on a charge of failure to support minor children on a warrant from Ukiah.

Alabama Vote Probe Runs Into Wall Of Silence

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI)—A southern member of the federal Civil Rights Commission has cautioned reluctant witnesses to testify on voter registration in Alabama or face possible punitive legislation by the next Congress.

The warning came when registrars and other local officials in six Alabama counties refused a direct order by Commission Chairman Robert G. Storey yesterday to take the stand and answer questions.

Ostensibly they acted on the advice of Gov.-elect John Patterson, one of the officials who greeted the opening of the commission's Alabama hearing with bristling resistance.

This brought a call from the southerner on the commission, former Virginia Gov. John S. Battle, for cooperation in the current hearing.

'ALL FRIENDLINESS'

Speaking "in all friendliness" Battle then warned that "the majority of the next Congress will not be friendly to the South and punitive legislation may be passed . . . this hearing may be used in the advocacy of that legislation which will be adverse to us in Virginia and to us in Alabama."

The hearings here are the first conducted by the seven-member commission created by Congress in 1957.

Geneva Conferees Eye Details Of Test Ban

GENEVA (AP)—East and West turned today to the details of a control system to police a world ban on nuclear weapon tests.

The Soviet Union accepted controls in principle last night but proposed that big power agreement be required to run the control system, thus giving each nation a veto. The United States and Britain insist that the system must be veto-free to be effective.

Western and Soviet delegates to the secret three-power talks approved the second article of a draft treaty authorizing a control organization in general terms and obligating the signers to cooperate with it.

The first article, approved Saturday, obligates signers to suspend nuclear tests.

The articles will become effective only when a complete treaty is approved. The West wants the treaty or an annex to spell out in detail how an independent control system will work to prevent later hamstringing by one power.

Losing Candidate's Backers Riot In Venezuela's Capital

CARACAS, Venezuela (UPI)—Demonstrators favoring Communist-supported Rear Adm. Wolfgang Larrazabal ran riot in the streets here last night, protesting his defeat in Sunday's presidential election by Romulo Betancourt.

Gangs of unruly teenagers circulated through central Caracas, tearing down Betancourt campaign posters and breaking into and looting homes that displayed them. One group wrecked the headquarters of Betancourt's Democratic Action Party in suburban San Augustin.

Police used tear gas to break up a mob of about 1,000 youths in El Silencio Square and another gang that stoned police patrols in the nearby Santa Teresa district. No casualties were reported.

Groups of demonstrators stood on street corners, shouting "Long live Larrazabal!" "Long live the URD!" "Long live the Communist Party!"

Police and troops stood guard at Venezuela's "White House" and at the Capitol, where the supreme electoral council was overseeing the vote count.

At an early hour today, Larrazabal had neither conceded defeat nor had Betancourt formally claimed victory. Both men left it up to the electoral council to announce a winner.

Nearly complete returns gave Betancourt 1,045,607 votes to 832,813 for Larrazabal and 360,736 for Catholic candidate Rafael Caldera. Electoral officials said there was "only the slightest chance" that the votes still outstanding could affect the outcome.

Moscow radio today said the subs would follow up work done by Soviet scientists in connection with the International Geophysical Year program. Together with surface vessels, they will conduct oceanographic surveys "in various areas of the world's oceans," particularly in the Southern Hemisphere.

Matson To Sell Hawaii Hotels To Sheraton

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Matson Navigation Co. is getting out of the hotel business after 30 years of playing host to passengers from its luxury liners and other travelers in Hawaii.

Directors voted approval yesterday of a contract for operation and ultimate purchase of the firm's four swank Honolulu hotels by the Sheraton Corp. of America, Boston. The price is 18 million dollars in cash.

The hotels are the Royal Hawaiian, Moana, Surfrider and the new Princess Kaiulani, all in the Waikiki Beach area.

Randolph Sevier, Matson president, said in a statement that the company is getting out of the hotel business "to concentrate more fully on its passenger and freight operations to Hawaii and other areas of the Pacific."

Water Amendment Passes Committee, Still Faces Fight

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A proposed constitutional amendment designed to end California's sectional water fight went to the printer today, but it still had a long, hard road to travel.

Several members of the joint Legislative Committee on Water Problems attacked the measure yesterday and the committee accepted the draft only "for the purpose of getting it into print."

Sen. James A. Cobey (D-Merced) asserted that the amendment would mean an abdication of the Legislature's power to the governor in that the state Water Resources Department would designate the projects to be built.

Assemblyman Bruce F. Allen (R-Los Gatos) urged members of the committee to "think a long time before turning this power over to the administration."

Under the proposed amendment, the Legislature would keep control of the purse strings and veto power over projects, but the details of state water development would be left up to the Water Resources Department.

The amendment also would set up a huge California water fund, taking what's left of the investment fund plus a 500-million-dollar bond issue, income from water projects and two and one-half million dollars a month from the general fund.

Cobey said he opposes "the whole theory," and that the amendment would favor the more populous areas.

Turning water policy over to the department would break up the existing balance of power in the Legislature, he said.

Sen. Alan Short (D-Stockton) answered, "Balance of power adds up to only one word—stalemate."

The two northerners referred to the north's control of the Senate and the south's dominance in the Assembly.

The south, with most of the population, has held out for ironclad guarantees of water before authorizing water projects in the north, which has most of the water.

50-Year Pin For NSGW Member

Warren (Hap) Gallagher of Sausalito, a half-century member of Sausalito's Sea Point Parlor 158, Native Sons of the Golden West, will receive a 50-year pin at the parlor's annual dinner-dance Saturday evening at the IDESST Hall in Sausalito.

Presenting officer will be Raymond H. Shone of San Rafael, grand president of the lodge, according to Manuel E. Silva, chairman of the event. He will also present 25-year pins to Silva, Fred Schmidt and Grido Guio.

The festivities will open with a cocktail party, followed by dinner and dancing.

Cargo-Carrying Missile Fired In First Successful Flight

SAN DIEGO (UPI)—The first successful firing of the Lobber, a new supersonic ballistic cargo missile, was announced late last night by J. V. Naish, president of Convair division of General Dynamics Corp.

The new missile, which could revolutionize the transportation industry and add a vital new element to America's fighting machine, carried a 50-pound payload intact over a six-mile desert range at Camp Irwin, about 100 miles northeast of here.

Naish said Convair already was studying plans for larger Lobber-type missiles which would be capable of transporting men as well as large stores of fuel and munitions.

Naish said the Lobber was a nine-foot solid propellant missile which soared through the air at speeds up to 1,500 miles an hour and was capable of readily supplying troops with ammunition, food, medical and other emergency supplies.

Firm Unveils Tilt Wing Transport

MOFFETT NAVAL AIR STATION (UPI)—An experimental transport plane, with a revolutionary tilt wing for vertical takeoffs and landings, was unveiled yesterday by Hiller Aircraft Corp.

The 16½ ton twin-engine craft, designated the X18 "Propelloplane" by the Air Force, is scheduled for its first flight in April, 1959.

The X18 combines the vertical ascending, descending and hovering characteristics of a helicopter with the inflight capabilities of a conventional aircraft, according to a spokesman for Hiller.

The Palo Alto firm is primarily a helicopter manufacturer.

The transport utilizes twin Allison turboprop engines developing a total equivalent of 11,070 shaft horsepower with counterrotating blades and a J34 Westinghouse turbojet in the after portion of the fuselage.

Hiller engineers demonstrated the revolutionary wing, which tilts from conventional position to nearly 90 degrees. With the wing in the maximum position, the aircraft will rise vertically with full load.

General specifications: Wingspan 48 feet (60 feet with extensions), length 63 feet, height 24 feet, 8 inches. Performance and payload data were not disclosed.

Bridges Reported Planning To Wed Nisei Secretary

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—West Coast longshore leader Harry Bridges left for Reno yesterday to marry a San Francisco legal secretary, the Chronicle said today.

She is Noriko Sawada, a pretty Nisei in her early 30s.

Bridges, 58-year-old head of the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union, has been married twice before.

Miss Sawada was born in Los Angeles and attended schools there. The daughter of Santa Ana truck gardeners, now dead, she was sent to a Nisei relocation center in Arizona along with others of Japanese descent during World War II. She moved to San Francisco after the war.

San Rafael Has Parking By Christmas As Promised

Parking in San Rafael by Christmas!

That was the promise the San Rafael city council made to the people of Marin.

And last weekend the third downtown municipal parking lot opened to complete the present parking proposal. There are 234 new metered parking spaces available for shoppers in the city.

This is not small accomplishment. The council deserves commendations and accolades from both the public and the city's merchants for providing them.

On the other hand, in our enthusiasm, we must remember that we have gotten only a part of the actual need. Our three new lots are a good step in the right direction. but it is only a step, not the ultimate.

For example, back in 1954, a Mayor's Committee studied San Rafael's parking problem. Four years ago, almost to the day, the committee said that at that time two lots should be developed with 271 spaces.

Then in the Fall of 1956, the second Mayor's Committee proposed four lots, with 430 spaces, as being needed and practical. It was this proposal, amended and adjusted, which has ultimately resulted in today's 234 new spaces.

And even all of these spaces are not brand new. The largest of the lots, at Third Street and Lootens Place, had been a private parking lot. Many of these spaces, however, had been rented by the month for all-day parkers and so were not available for shoppers or visitors in San Rafael.

This day-long parking brings up another problem. Although the lots have been open only a few days, some gloom dispensers already are saying, "they'll never fill up. What we should do is mark some of the spaces for all-day parkers."

Back in 1950, when the city's parking master plan was a major issue, they were talking in terms of nearly a thousand parking spaces. With the county and city grown tremendously since that time, we now have 234 new spaces.

We are sure the city council won't be bums-rushed into some action now without actual experience figures to go on. Our new parking lots are in and operating. They are available for the Christmas shoppers, who we are sure will fill them to capacity. After Christmas, we shall get a better idea of their normal use.

Filled parking lots are no more useful to a shopper looking for a place for his car than filled curbsides. Filled parking lots mean only that more lots are needed.

The council is alert to the problem and, we are sure, will watch with a critical eye how the new facilities work out and what is needed next.

THREE MINUTES A DAY

ARE YOU STARVING YOURSELF!

Vitamin deficiency may be widespread among older residents of Winnipeg, Canada, according to a study of their food habits.

About 100 persons over 70 years old were asked to keep track of the food they ate each day. From the information secured, it was found that despite the quantity of food they consumed daily, they were not getting the necessary vitamins and proteins.

Many of us, no doubt, short-change ourselves by not providing our bodies with the necessary food required for good health. Our inclination is to eat what we like rather than what is good for us.

We can cheat ourselves to an even greater degree by not giving our souls proper spiritual nourishment.

Take care to provide the spiritual vitamins needed to sustain the life of the spirit.

Be objective about both your physical and spiritual requirements and you will lead a well-balanced life. Don't starve either your body or soul.

Film Writers, An Honored Breed, Once Were Afraid Of Best Hotels

NEW YORK (AP) — The writer is no longer low man on the Hollywood totem pole.

"In the old days a writer was kind of like a guy in uniform before Pearl Harbor," said Daniel Taradash. "He was afraid to go into the best hotels.

"But now he is a person of importance in the industry. Everybody at the moment is paying him lip service. Production heads are getting the idea that writers can do more than just sit at a typewriter. Their advice is sought."

Taradash, who now also directs and produces films, is currently one of the highest paid writers in the field.

He can demand and get a "big chunk more than $100,000" for writing a picture, plus a share of the profits.

Taradash, a Harvard law graduate, rang the bell in 1938 in his first assignment in Hollywood as co-author of the script for "Golden Boy."

Dan, a pleasant-faced man of 45 with thinning hair, made movie history when he insisted on getting a percentage of the profits for adapting "From Here to Eternity," a script that won him an Oscar.

A slow and painstaking craftsman, Taradash has turned out only about a dozen movies in 20 years. He takes from six months to a year to finish a script.

"DURING THE PERCOLATING period I may sit for two or three weeks and not write a line," he said. "In the old Hollywood days that would have been unthinkable.

"A writer then was supposed to write — not think."

"I also have another unusual clause in my contract — that they can't see the script at all until I complete it, unless I choose to let them," he said.

"YOU CAN GET MURDERED if you let a producer have a third of the script, while you're still working on the rest. He can start picking it to pieces. Writers can easily be confused, bulldozed and talked out of an idea."

Taradash doesn't share the idea that Hollywood stifles creative talent, and that a man is only as good as his last picture.

"It's an optimistic place," he said. "They like success and like to remember it. Your flops and the stumbling blocks of your career they tend to overlook and forget.

"That attitude is one of the pleasantest things about Hollywood."

REMEMBER WHEN

10 YEARS AGO

San Rafael joined other Marin cities in an effort to stamp out the rat menace. The city council appropriated $100 for rat bait, which was to be made available to residents for use on their property.

20 YEARS AGO

Pacific Greyhound Lines offered to pay $50,000 a year in advance to the Golden Gate Bridge as a flat toll for operating trans-bridge bus commuter service to North Bay cities. The company based its estimate on four million passengers and 75,000 bus crossings each year.

Hail Ye Editor! Master Of Masters

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

Re your editorial dated Tuesday, Dec. 2, I just cannot refrain from dropping a thought or two.

Of course the people are stupid. They have no idea of what right or wrong is. They should not be allowed to vote. In fact, "they might elect the town drunk" as was stated openly in a Corte Madera council meeting by one of the elected councilmen.

People have no right to vote the way they please. Just who do they think they are? Americans? Where do they think they are? In U.S.A.? That just shows how stupid they, the people, are. This is why we must have an end to letting them vote. You and I know, Old Ed, that this has got to stop. If the schools' empire wants bigger and better buildings, we gotta see that they get 'em. This refusal of the people to vote them more bond indebtedness has got to stop. We just have to figure a way to get around the people. What if they are getting damned tired of the waste of tax money? As said above, "Just who do they think they are"?

The beautiful picture in your newspaper of Dec. 3 showing that magnificent gymnasium, which you captioned "Redwood High Boasts Snazzy Gym" is an example of how we should treat these groveling characters, the taxpaper. Once we get our empire built we can expand and then expand some more and neither hell nor high water shall stop us.

If we can't talk the dopes into voting more bonded indebtedness upon themselves, we will take care of it some other way, just like you say in your editorial. Gee, you are sure a smart fellow! If the rabble refuse to pass the bonds you got it figured that we can get them some other way. Gee, boss, I'm glad to be on your side.

Some folks say that you have lost touch with the common folks in Marin County; that you're getting too big for your britches. Well, boss, don't you let such talk bother you. This is only the rabble talking; unorganized and drifting. They always fight amongst themselves even if they try to organize. If this does not happen and they do seem to be getting organized, a few wisely put and properly placed innuendos by you will accomplish the break-up.

Some say that people vote against the bonds as a protest to the wild spending of the brass of the empires. They say that this is the American Way of showing the elected officials of their disapproval of things done by the officials. Pooh! We can handle this, can't we? There is more than one way of skinning a cat!...

Hail Ye Editor! Let us make a toast to the day that we make you our Master of Masters! Then we will have no more of this stupid voting by a stupid people. You can better select the local bosses and judges over them than they can for themselves. We will take care of them from the cradle to the grave. They will worry no more. They will be happy and no more tears.

Oh, how fortunate we are to have you, Old Ed.

Will St. Patrick Come Down Flue

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

Heard "Green Christmas" today. Hooray for Stan Freberg. Each year I feel a little sadder because Christmas comes sooner and sooner.

It frightens me that in a few years the only way St. Patrick can arrive for the "wearing of the green" is to come down the chimney with Santa Claus.

Cross Should Not Be Used For Tree

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

I was deeply shocked when I first learned that San Rafael was planning on trimming our hill-top cross with Christmas lights, changing our cross to a tree.

I love Christmas and all it stands for. My children look forward to Santa Claus and their tree and presents.

But aren't we forgetting that Christmas is Christ's birthday? True this does not follow in all faiths but I think we all feel that the cross is a symbol at Christmas time as well as the children's favorite — the gaily trimmed tree.

Could we not therefore make room on top of our San Rafael hill for both and not make our cross take a "back seat" for the happy holy season?

TRY AND STOP ME

BENNETT CERF

A salesman brought his son, a TV addict, into a restaurant. Sonny promptly yanked a water pistol out of his holster, and shot a stream into the fact of a startled diner. "Don't mind the kid," soothed the father. "You ought to see what does to people he suspects of rustling!"

Fifty miles from home, embarked on a vacation tour, Mrs. Jacobs suddenly cried, "Stop the car! I forgot to turn off my electric iron before we locked up the house."

"Cheer up," counseled Mrs. Jacobs' husband, Walter, "It won't burn long. I forgot to turn off the faucet in the bathtub."

Matrimonial mutterings:

WIFE: I don't know why, but you can't seem to make dough like my father.

Novato Firemen Find Real Pair Of Muscular Dystrophy Workers

Members of Novato Volunteer Firemen's Assn. last week conducted their annual North Marin Campaign for funds to continue the battle against muscular dystrophy, a crippling and often fatal disease of children. As usual, one of the association's most dedicated campaigners was Sam Marzell.

On his third night out, Fireman Sam thought he'd completed his canvass of Lambert way in Novato when he spotted lights burning in the last house on the block. It was some distance away, and Sam, footsore and weary, debated whether to make the long walk.

Never a quitter, he trudged out there and rapped on the door. After making his usual pitch for a contribution, he was flabbergasted when the couple who answered his knock said, "Come in, come in. We were looking for you last night. Where have you been?"

Marzell entered and was offered a cup of steaming hot coffee by the couple, Mr. and Mrs. Stan Young.

"Then," as Marzell tells it, "This fellow put some money in the muscular dystrophy bag. I didn't see how much, but I figured it was a buck or two. Then he placed something else in the bag. It was so heavy it pushed my hand down. I said, 'What have you got in there, some kind of food?'"

The "food" turned out to be an instant coffee jar filled to the brim with pennies.

"We've been saving them for a year," Young told Marzell, "and we've already got a jar started for next year."

Sam will be telling that story for months. He and his fellow volunteers found most North Marin residents responsive to the campaign, but nothing touched them quite so much as the Youngs' double contribution.

"I enjoy making these annual rounds," Marzell says, "because I know I'm doing it for the children's sake. I figure we're walking for those who can't walk, and I'm thankful God gave me the legs to do it."

Incidentally, Marzell was surprised at the number of young people who contributed to this year's drive. One night he ran into a couple of newspaper boys, one of whom kicked in a quarter and the other 50 cents without being asked to give a penny.

Novato Fire Chief George Cavallero, county chairman of the 1958 muscular dystrophy campaign, said the volunteer firemen covered as much of North Marin as possible last week with a limited number of canvassers. But some districts were missed, he said, and anyone still wishing to contribute may do so at the Novato firehouse.

NO COMMENT DEPARTMENT: The current issue of the "Club Call," twice-monthly publication of the Non-Commissioned Officers' Club at Hamilton Air Force Base, tells of two technical sergeants awarded $5 each for offering timely suggestions to the club.

One suggested there be snacks at the bar.

The other proposed a full length mirror for the men's room.

Mexico A Haven For Communists Preparing To Persecute Others

MEXICO CITY — Foreign Communists continue to find Mexico an easy and valuable base from which to operate—and they are operating on a large scale today.

Mexico provides not only a welcome haven when things get too hot at home—there are at least 100 Communist families from the United States here right now—but also a strategic spot from which to mount subversive activities throughout the Western Hemisphere.

For years the Mexican government has given safe harbor for foreign Communists—as well as revolutionists of the extreme right—on the theory that it was applying the respected and humane concept of asylum for those suffering political persecution.

MEXICAN LEADERS and intellectuals greatly pride themselves that their country offers asylum so freely and so unquestioningly and there is no evidence that the new government will change this policy in any important particular.

What Mexican leaders do not choose to recognize—is that there is a vast difference between providing asylum for those who are persecuted and providing asylum for those who use this privilege to prepare persecution against others.

This is the way the great liberal tradition of political asylum is being abused here today. The record is perfectly clear on that.

FOR FIVE YEARS Mexico harbored some 100 to 150 Venezuelan Communist leaders assembled under the direction of the Soviet Embassy. They carried on subversion against their country from within Mexico and the dangerous rise of Communism in Venezuela came from services rendered while Mexico was making it safe for them to operate. They have now made their way back to Venezuela.

There is a group of at least eight Guatemalan Communists who are doing the same thing and are waiting only the timely moment to return.

Occasionally a foreign Communist violates his "asylum" so blatantly that he runs afoul of the law here or elsewhere. This is what happened to Jose Manuel Fortuny the secretary general of the Communist party of Guatemala who has been operating freely here for some time. He obtained a false Mexican passport to go to Moscow a few weeks ago, but this became known and had to be discarded. He started his return trip by way of Rio de Janeiro and was picked up by the alert Brazilian police for presenting another false passport.

THE ADULT United States Communist population here hovers around 200 most of the time. Once in a while a U.S. Communist, as in the recent case of Gus Hall, is given over to U.S. authorities. But this is a rarity.

When Communist Albert S. Stern, whose wife is Communist Martha Dodd Stern, was wanted to testify in the Soble-Soviet spy case, he was sheltered safely here. They both recently made off for Prague, where they were lately joined by Maurice Halpern, a former Boston University teacher who was living here—and now all three are ready for future assignments.

THE CLANDESTINE character of much of the Soviet embassy's role here is illustrated by its extremely tight operations. It does not permit itself to employ a single Mexican national to do even the most menial caretaking work.

The embassy has 10 officers on its military staff among whom are three naval captains—this in a country whose navy is virtually non-existent. This staff is obviously more concerned with what military secrets it can procure from the United States than from Mexico, particularly since the border is so easy to cross by agents who serve the Soviets here in Mexico.

SNOWBOUND — This is how streets in Oswego, N. Y., looked today after continuing snowfall piled up four feet deep. Snowplows from the entire upstate area were summoned to the city to help it dig out. (AP Wirephoto)

N.Y. Community Digs Out From Under 4 Feet Of Snow

OSWEGO, N.Y. (AP) — Police patrol cars delivered milk and a snowplow assisted a maternity case as this northern New York community fought back today from the worst snowstorm in its history.

A task force of snowplows recruited throughout the upstate area attacked mountainous drifts to re-establish lines of transportation and supply.

About two inches of snow fell early today and made a total of four feet on the ground where there had been no drifting, the city's official weather observer reported. Approximately 37 inches had piled up since noon Sunday on top of an 11-inch base, he said.

Mayor Vincent Corsall reported swift progress in recovery with the aid of equipment from nearby areas. State police reported most main routes open and many secondary highways restored to service, although only to one-way traffic in some sections.

Schools and factories remained closed. Police set up an emergency service to deliver milk, and plows escorted fuel trucks on emergency deliveries to homes without oil and coal.

A plow churned a path for an ambulance that took Mrs. Catherine Shannan to Oswego Hospital, where she awaited the birth of a child.

A total of 55 minerals are produced commercially in Texas.

Students See How Army Models Planes

One hundred twenty - five seventh and eighth grade craft students at Richardson Bay School in Sausalito now know how it's done in the Army.

The junior craftsmen, led by Pincipal Robert Thomson and teachers John Scherff and William Mosher, were shown large model airplanes being put together in the craft shop of the headquarters battery, 30th Artillery Group, at Ft. Barry. They also heard an explanation of the Nike guided missile system.

SPEAKER IN PLAYING DAYS — Tris Speaker, who died today, is shown in his playing days as a centerfielder for the Cleveland Indians. He played for the Tribe from 1916-1926. Speaker, one of the immortals of the game, was named to Baseball Hall of Fame and many times to all-time-great squads. Many regard him as the greatest centerfieder in history of baseball. (AP Wirephoto)

Tris Speaker Dies Of Heart Attack

Succumbs At 70 On Fishing Trip

TRIS SPEAKER
'Gray Eagle' dead at 70

HUBBARD, Tex. (UPI) — Tris Speaker, generally regarded as the finest defensive outfielder who ever lived, died of a heart attack last night only a pop fly away from the spot where he played his first baseball game as a barefooted youngster.

Speaker, 70, died whispering his own name, apparently uncertain that those who tried to help him knew his identity.

The Hall of Fame outfielder, who compiled a lifetime batting average of .345 in 22 seasons, mostly with the Boston Red Sox and Cleveland Indians, had just finished a day's fishing with a friend, Charley Vaughan, at nearby Lake Whitney when the end came.

The two men were hooking the boat and trailer to their car when Speaker suddenly slumped over. Vaughan and other fishermen picked up the former big league star and lifted him into the back seat of the car.

Dr. H. P. Sammons, another friend, said baseball's famed "Gray Eagle" opened his eyes and whispered:

"My name is Tris Speaker."

Those were the last words spoken by the man, who along with Babe Ruth and Ty Cobb, was ranked as part of baseball's all-time "dream outfield."

Speaker's body promptly was brought here where he was born and where he first pitched for his grammar school team. He is survived by his wife, Frances, and two sisters, Mrs. Pearl Scott of Hubbard and Mrs. Alma Speaker Lindsey of Abilene, Tex. Burial will be held here in his home town, where he always would come back to fish after each baseball season.

Cobb, a contemporary of Speaker, summed up the sentiments of most baseball men upon learning of his death.

"I'm deeply depressed," Cobb said. "I don't need to emphasize Speaker's greatness. His records speak for themselves."

Speaker began his professional baseball career in 1906 with Cleburne of the Texas League at $50 a month and then earned $57,000 a year in 1920 when he managed Cleveland to its first American League pennant and world championship.

"Spoke," as his fellow ball players called him, broke into the major leagues with the Red Sox in 1907 and formed part of a brilliant outfield with Harry Hooper and Duffy Lewis. From 1910 through 1915 he never hit less than .322 and after being traded to Cleveland in 1916 he usually managed to hit better than .350 each year.

Impressive as his hitting was, it was overshadowed by his brilliant defensive work in center field. He could go back for a ball like no other outfielder and there was none—before or even after him—who ever played so close behind the second baseman.

Crowning glory of Speaker's career came in 1936, when he was voted into baseballs' Hall of Fame at Cooperstown, N.Y.

Doak Roberts, former owner of the Houston club in the Texas League, was credited with discovering young Speaker in this same city where his body lay today.

Trying to interest the St. Louis Browns in him, Roberts wired them:

"If Speaker doesn't make good, I'll give you 175 acres of Texas black land."

The Browns hesitated, but the Red Sox bought him from Houston for $400 and nine years later sold him to the Indians for $50,000 and three players.

Speaker put in short stints with the Washington Senators and Philadelphia Athletics before hanging up his glove in 1928.

Later he became a sales representative for an Ohio steel company and chairman of the Cleveland Boxing Commission. But he never lost his great interest in baseball.

BLOODY WIN FOR ROSI — A blood-bathed Paoli Rosi (right) lands a left high on the head of Bobby Scanlon in the closing seconds of their 10-round lightweight fight at the Cow Palace last night. Rosi Defeats Scanlon Again, Now Wants Shot At Brown

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—New York's Paolo Rosi, having belted out another victory over San Francisco's Bobby Scanlon, wants a shot at lightweight champion Joe Brown.

Rosi won a 10-round split decision last night in the Cow Palace over the baby-faced Scanlon whom he knocked out in the third round Oct. 13.

Ranked fifth by the National Boxing Assn., Rosi will fight No. 1 contender Carlos Ortiz of New York here Jan. 19. He said he expects to whip Ortiz and then hopes to get the title match.

Scanlon opened an ugly gash over Rosi' left eye in the seventh round this time and in the ninth referee Jack Downey stopped the fight for a physician's examination of the cut. The doctor permitted the bout to continue and Rosi won that round and the last one handily.

Normally a hometown favorite, Scanlon was booed repeatedly for holding. He was careful to keep away from Rosi's potent right hand. A right sent Scanlon to his knee for no count in the second.

In the dressing room, Rosi commented:

"Scanlon is a good boxer but tonight he fought too scared. Every time I hit him he grabbed."

Si Crisci, Rosi's manager, said he thought Scanlon "fought dirty all the way." He asserted that Scanlon opened the cut by butting Rosi and continued to try to butt the wound.

Scanlon declined to discuss the fight. His manager, Art Benjamin, said Bobby fought "according to plan and boxed all the way."

A crowd of 4,000 paid $15,470 net gate.

The BULLPEN

With JOHN J. CONNOLLY

Keep Your Eyes On Rodriguez; Looks Like He's Going Places

CONNOLLY

Last week my nephew, Louie Bruschini, the big butter, egg and cheese man for the Borden's Company, drove me over to the Richmond fight areas to see Sixto Rodriquez, and a chocolate-drop carbon copy of Tony Galento, alias southpaw Billy Hester, battle 12 rounds for the State light-heavyweight championship.

The fight went the distance and in some respects it was like a re-run of the Blue Danube Waltz. In fact in the middle of the scrap, the cash customers, numbering $2,000 worth, began to whistle . . . that's how uninteresting was the hassle. But Sixto took the title away from the southpaw and did it easily, at least on points.

"Do not ever talk to me again about Sixto Rodriquez," my nephew Louie kept on saying. "He can't hit hard enough to bust an egg.

"I like boxfighters hairy and sweaty and sluggers.

"I like guys," continued my nephew, "who fight themselves between rounds. This guy Sixto prayed more in 12 rounds than anybody I ever saw.

"Why he knelt down and blessed himself 12 times. In fact before every round he did it.

"IN THE old days John L. Sullivan and Stanley Ketchell and Ace Hudkins never prayed as much in their life as Rodriquez in less than an hour."

Well, it got my interest aroused to hear a young fight fan rave. And it brought back many pleasant memories, which, of course, happened before my nephew was kicking the gong around.

I remember, I said, when the great Jack Dempsey fought Willie Meehan in the Civic Auditorium during the first World War.

Meehan, in many ways, was a pot belly guy like Hester, only he was righthanded and his skin was chicken white. But Willie was so flabby that Dempsey could have kicked him in the belly and never have hurt him

"But," interrupted my nephew, "Dempsey COULD HIT."

Sure, sezzi, and he did HIT Meehan with everything except his mother-in-law And Meehan kept laughing and bearing in and whacking Dempsey with the bass drum punch until finally after four rounds Meehan was handed the decision

That is why I am "beefing" about the poor press notices young Sixto Rodriquez got after winning the state light-heavyweight crown.

MY OLD PAL, Eddie Muller of the S.F. Examiner, skimmed over the scrap and another pal, Jack Fiske of the Chronicle, who must have had an upset stomach, kicked the bejabbers out of the scrap, saying it was awful.

But, sezzi to my nephew, those guys forget that Hester was a difficult guy to fight, like all southpaw scrappers, and Sixto was finding it out as he went from round to round.

Hester didn't seem to care how hard Sixto hit him. He just kept charging in and writing off the belting he was getting to the grease in his system. He kept puffing a little harder and oftener, but never showing any particular signs of distress. Very few southpaw fighters get hurt much.

Finally my nephew inquired as to the schooling Rodriquez got and I explained to him that Sixto was exposed to first, second, and third degree education; that he worked as a tile setter for a wonderful young fight manager, Karl Ashley, who is one of Marin County's general contractors in the tile-setting business.

IN FACT, it was Ashley who sold hundreds of tickets to guys like Ed Burger, the building contractor; Ben Badarocco, the banker, and Bob Parnow, another builder.

Rodriquez, I'm told, runs 10 miles every morning before he goes to work, then goes to the job for an eight hour shift, and then over to Newman's gym in S.F. and belts around his sparring partners for a couple of hours before dinner.

It's a funny thing for me to say, but I really think Sixto Rodriquez is a name you should jot down in your future sports book.

Some day you are going to hear more about him.

I got hot and cold all over when I thought of how hard he prayed and how hard he tried to make a good showing against a flabby no good light heavyweight SOUTHPAW who had as much license to be called a champion as I have, and I'm not bragging about my figure, fighting or otherwise.

"I GUESS," said my nephew, "that is the caveman spirit in me, that makes me want to see guys like Rodriquez bop guys who look like Beer Barrel Tony Galento around."

As we drove over the Richmond Bridge to San Rafael, I reminded my nephew that Jack Dempsey wouldn't fight Harry Greb because Greb was a southpaw puncher . . . that Joe Louis once told me he knew a nobody southpaw fighter who could have belted the daylight out of Joe even when he was champion.

Just wait and watch for Rodriquez to carve his niche in the fight game. He has the stamina, the courage and I don't care if he only reads signs that say "gents and ladies" . . . he'll get to the top of the fight game.

I hope I'll be around to say I TOLD YOU SO.

St. Mary's-California Is No. 1 Game Tonight

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

St. Mary's and defense-minded California meet tonight at Berkeley in the top basketball game on the Pacific Coast.

The Gaels edged UCLA and swamped Stanford over the weekend. But California, which grabbed the Pacific Coast Conference title last season by stressing defense, beat tough University of San Francisco—and held the Dons to only 43 points.

In other games tonight, Washington State hosts Whitworth, Santa Clara visits Chico State, San Francisco State plays at San Jose State, San Diego State meets Loyola, and the U. S. Marines go against Fresno State.

Last night's games produced a couple of surprises. Idaho State College came up from behind to defeat co-PCC champion Oregon State, 55-49, and Seattle University had to fight to down College of Pacific, 72-67. Seattle swamped the Tigers 91-53, last week.

The Washington Huskies, touted as one of the best teams in the nation before losing two games to Colorado last weekend, didn't find things so easy last night. However, they got by the University of Hawaii, 67-62.

In other games, Long Beach State was forced into overtime to beat Sacramento State, 75-73, Gonzaga defeated Eastern Washington, 73-58, and Whitman downed Northwest Nazarene 69-59.

Center John Bethke was the big gun for Idaho State at Pocatello. He scored 19 points, while rangy Gary Goble led the Oregon State attack with 10.

At Stockton, Seattle was led by Charlie Brown with 19 points and reserve guard Lloyd Murphy, who scored 11 points in the second half. COP's Leroy Wright led all scorers with 22 points.

At Seattle, Doug Smart and Bruno Boin scored 45 points between them for Washington. Smart had 24 and Boin 21. Tony Davis was top for the Hawaiians with 19.

Seattle Executive Buys Bounty II

Purchase of a 41-foot fiber glass Bounty II by Eric Zahn, Seattle manufacturer, was announced today by Frederick M. Coleman, vice-president of Aeromarine Plastics Corporation. Lt was the 13th Bounty II to come off the ways at the Sausalito shipyard.

This is Zahn's second of the Bounty series; he was previously owner of a wooden Bounty purchased before World War II from the then Coleman Boat Co. of Medford, Massachusetts.

Zahn is associated with the Kenson Tooth Manufacturing Co., of Seattle.

The boat was on exhibition at the Seattle Boat Show last week.

Wins Voit Trophy

Japanese Smelt May Feed Trout In Marin

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO—Two Marin lakes have been selected for a proposed experiment aimed at improving trout fishing.

Tomorrow afternoon, the state Fish and Game Commission will be asked to approve a plan for importing fresh water smelt from Japan for planting in 13 California lakes as forage for trout.

The Fish and Game Department, which is making the request, declares "There is a good possibility that trout fishing can be materially improved at slight expense" under the plan.

The Japanese fresh water smelt seldom grows larger than three and one-half inches long, so that it can be eaten by a trout throughout its life. It prefers trout water, the department points out, and it is not large enough to prey on trout or trout eggs.

It lives mostly on plankton, which abounds in many trout lakes, the department said.

The two Marin lakes selected for the experiment are Phoenix Lake in Ross and Kent Reservoir behind Peters Dam at Lagunitas.

Although fresh water smelt do live in the waters of California, no one here attempts to raise them or collect their eggs, the department said. The eggs are available in Japan for $8.33 per million. The Fish and Game Department wants authority to purchase 20 million eggs at a cost of $166.60 plus the air freight to fly them to California next January or March.

The commission is expected to act tomorrow on the request.

Marin Bowler, 11, Fires 402 Total At Marin Bowl

For a young man at the age of 11, Bobby Stevenson of San Rafael shows great promise to become a top bowling star in later years.

Although he's been bowling only two years, Bobby has attained an average of 111 per game in recent competition. But last Saturday at Marin Bowl he topped his average by a good margin with a 402 series for three games. His games were 132, 117 and a nifty 153. During the series Bobby, a sixth grader at Oliver Hartzell School, picked up a difficult 3-7-10 split.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Stevenson and his mother is Marin County representative for the Women's International Bowling Congress.

BULLDOGS OPEN NEW GYM WITH A BANG

San Rafael High School's brand new gymnasium housed its first basketball encounter last Friday night when the Bulldogs romped to a 53-27 triumph over the Novato Hornets. San Rafael was hosting the Westmoor High team this afternoon. The gym seats approximately 1,300 spectators. (Jim Kean photos)

Welter Champ Rose From Near Poverty

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Don Jordan, the new world welterweight champion, could pass as a dapper haberdasher instead of a prize fighter.

He was the prizefighter last Friday night when he dealt a severe beating to the champion, Virgil Akins of St. Louis, via a 15-round unanimous decision, and won the title.

Jordan is 24, the father of four daughters, with a background of near-poverty, one of 13 children still living in a family that once numbered 19 kids.

As a youngster, he was pretty well headed for the route of juvenile delinquency. He ran with a gang in trouble-torn East Los Angeles known as "The Flats."

But as his friends now say, he straightened out and began to fly right.

Don's father was a fighter of no great promise. But he encouraged his sons to box. Two of Don's older brothers took up the sport but never got very far.

Don, however, showed promise in Golden Gloves competition, and, while still in his 'teens, turned professional.

He learned his trade by industry, ambition and spirit. He is not a tiger at heart, yet does not lack courage in any sense of the term.

His nickname is "Geronimo Kid," based on his Negro-Indian ancestry, and just a few weeks ago the wags had a field day with this angle.

The details are still unclear, but Jordan got into a traffic beef with two girls in another car—they said he was blocking a driveway, or maybe it was the other way around.

In any event, "Geronimo Kid" came up with an archery set and let loose point blank at the other car with bow and arrow. There was a pinch by the police, but in a matter of days the case was cleared. The targets declined to prosecute.

Jordan is quiet in conversation and dresses conservatively.

He fought Gaspar Ortega in a national TV show staged in the grand ballroom of the Lafayette Hotel in Long Beach in October.

Long Beach society was out in its finest furs and gowns. They stayed for the dinner served after the big fight. Jordan, as immaculate as any guest, joined the party—an unobtrusive, well-mannered diner.

It seemed odd that just a few minutes before he had been exercising mayhem on his opponent. And winning a chance at the title.

Today his overall fighting record is: 56 fights, winner of 45, 15 by knockout, loser of 11.

He weighs normally about 143-145—and stands 5-9.

Today, in his native Los Angeles anyway, he probably stands 8-9.

Novato Opens Cage Tourney Play Friday

Interscholastic basketball at its best will be on tap at Healdsburg this Friday and Saturday and the next Monday when the Redwood Empire Invitational, is staged.

Analy and Novato take the court in the opener at 5 p.m., Friday to be followed at 6:30 when Fortuna meets Healdsburg. In the evening Sonoma contests with Montgomery, new entry from Santa Rosa, and Ukiah play Petaluma.

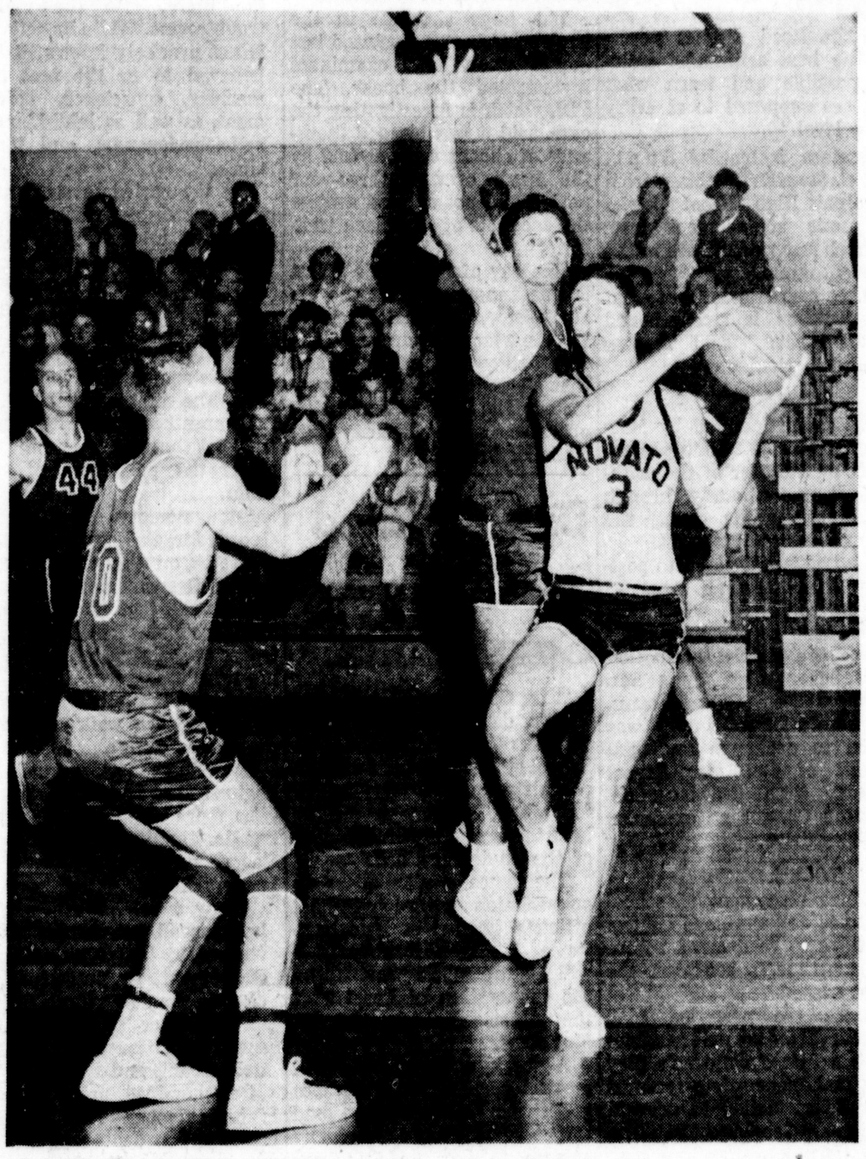
The following night will see semi-finalists meeting in a pair of games, while the losers will fight it out for consolation honors in the afternoon.

FINALS MONDAY

Final playoffs are scheduled for the evening of Dec. 15. The two survivors in consolation matches will clash in a preliminary game at 7:30 p. m. and the two finalists in the tourney will match skills at 9 p.m.

Montgomery and Fortuna are playing in the tourney for the first time this year. In future years, according to tourney director Arthur J. McCaffrey, Eureka and Arcata will alternate with Fortuna, and Ukiah and Fort Bragg will compete every other year.

Many sports celebrities are expected to be on hand for the tournament dinner and award presentation at Villa Chantecler, Healdsburg, Jan. 21, 1959. Trophies will be awarded the championship team, the runner-up, the consolation winner, the most valuable player and the best defensive team. The All-Tournament team members will be awarded medals. The Healdsburg Lions Club is sponsoring the dinner.



CLOSE GUARDING—Closely guarded from the rear by San Rafael's Ron Snidow (arm raised), Novato High star Jack Sparrow (3) attempts to get off shot in their battle Friday night at San Rafael. Sparrow, second high scorer in North Bay League last year, was held to six points Friday as Bulldogs romped to easy win. Other Bulldog players are Mike Curry (10) and John Blomquist (44).

PCC Plans For 1960 Rose Bowl

PASADENA (UPI) — The 1960 Rose Bowl, a post mortem event after the assured demise of the Pacific Coast Conference, figured prominently today in sessions of the PCC winter meeting.

Faculty representatives and athletic directors met jointly today to exchange and vote on plans for the final Rose Bowl under the agreement with the Big Ten.

The Coast Conference will break up on June 30, 1959. But agreements with the Tournament of Roses and National Broadcasting Co., not to mention the Big Ten, carry through the Jan. 1, 1960 game.

Dodgers Eying Player Deals

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—E. J. (Buzzie) Bavasi, general manager of the Los Angeles Dodgers, says there is a good chance the club will make at least one or two player deals in the near future.

Bavasi, fresh from the winter baseball meetings at Washington, yesterday said the "door was left open for a deal involving Jim Gilliam and, possibly, some of our other players.

"The Braves, Cubs and Phillies all expressed interest in Gilliam," Bavasi said. "If one of the other clubs will give us a righthander who can hit the ball, we can do business."

Lopes May Fight Again In State

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The California Athletic Commission has ruled that lightweight boxer Joey Lopes may return to the ring.

The commission cleared Lopes yesterday after receiving a report from the University of California Hospital that his kidneys are normal. In October, a doctor had found him suffering from a kidney disorder and recommended that he quit the ring.

"There never was anything wrong with me," Lopes said, "and I'm glad everyone knows it now."

Elliott Sees Iowa Team In Movies

Sausalito Yacht Club members struck some telling blows the past weekend, as volunteers under Commodore Fred Crawford turned out to drive some 50 piles at old Sausalito ferry slip site for foundation of $25,000 dock and clubhouse. Fairfax 'Standing Still,' Says Ex-Mayor—Streets To Blame

Chuck holes in the unaccepted portion of Cascade drive gave former Fairfax Mayor Floyd W. Elliott an opporunity to deliver one of his periodic tongue lashings to the Fairfax City Council last night.

In a complaining mood, Elliott moved from the specific to the general, charging that Fairfax is "standing still" because its streets are being neglected.

Then, back to the specific again, he accused street department crews of goldbricking in his neighborhood (he lives at 650 Cascade drive), and threatened to bring suit against the city unless it covers or removes 10 truckloads of street sweepings dumped in a hollow off Cascade.

The ex-mayor said nothing has been done by the street department since he appeared at the council's August meeting to complain about chuck holes in his street. He demanded to know why.

Charles Thornton, Fairfax fire chief who doubles as street superintendent, said the job of filling chuck holes on an unaccepted street "doesn't fit in with our plans." If the city did the work on Cascades, he said, it would have to do the same thing on all unaccepted streets.

Elliott said the job would involve "perhaps two hours of work and the expenditure of not more than $50."

"The alibi," he told the council, "is that you haven't got time to do it . . . but I can't believe Thornton will fix that street even if there's nothing else to do."

Mayor Edward A. Smith said councilmen are divided on the question of maintaining unaccepted streets. As for himself, he said he believes the council should heed the request of any citizen who wants chuck holes filled on his street, especially if the city has maintained the street in the past.

Thornton said it is imperative that his crews complete jobs on Tamalpais road and Pine drive before the winter rains come.

"Well, we certainly don't want to do this (Cascade drive) job at the expense of more important work," the mayor commented. "But let's make Cascade number three on the list."

The other four council members accepted the suggestion without a formal vote, and thus a job that didn't "fit in" with Thornton's plans became a Priority 3 project.

This appeared to satify Elliot, who, moments earlier, had asserted: "Fairfax is standing still and your downtown business district is dying on the vine. The only way you're going to improve the situation is by attracting new people in here, but you won't do that by neglecting your streets,"

To Elliott's charge that street crews were "killing time" in his neighborhood one day recently, Councilman William L. Hughes replied testily, "I don't think you know what you're talking about."

Registering his final complaint of the evening, Elliott said part of the 10 loads of street sweepings dumped at the end of Cascade drive, near the city line, landed on property he owns in unincorporated territory.

He acknowledged he had persuaded August Pfalzgraff, Thornton's predecessor as street superintendent, to dispose of tree stumps in the same area. But he said that didn't mean the area was to become a city dump for disposal of beer cans, Little League programs and other trash.

With Elliott threatening to go to the county health department and sign a complaint for abatement of a health hazard, Mayor Smith asked Councilman Rolfe M. Ockenden to inspect the area and determine what might be done to correct the situation.

The council also:

1. Reappointed Police Capt. Clifton Cordes to another two-year on the Marin County Mosquito Abatement District board.
2. Set for Dec. 29 at 8 p.m. a special meeting at which councilmen will (1) hold a public hearing on a proposed amendment to the zoning ordinance, adding multiple residential as a land classification, and (2) give first reading to an ordinance establishing that classification for Robin Hood Acres, a 5-3-acre parcel on which Robin Hood Land Co. plans to erect apartments. The parcel is adjacent to Westbrae subdivision.
3. Authorized the fire department to purchase 250 feet of 1½-inch fire hose at $1.25 per foot and a voice gun for $90. The later is a super megaphone to be used by the fire chief in giving instructions at the scene of a fire.
4. Decided to prohibit the use of Center boulevard by commercial vehicles of more than three tons gross weight.
5. Voted to pay W. E. Radtke, planning commission chairman, $25 per month while temporarily doubling as commission secretary. Former secretary Dolores Price recently moved from Fairfax.
6. Amended the city's dog licensing ordinance to conform with the licensing program of the county and Marin's eight other cities. The action made permananent an emergency measure adopted at the council's November meeting.

Dozen Accused Of $1 Million Bank Swindle

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A dozen businessmen and bank officials are accused by the U.S. attorney's office of looting a suburban bank of up to a million dollars by cashing thousands of worthless checks.

Asst. U.S. Atty Thomas Sheridan says one man cashed checks totaling $296,067 on an account containing $131. Another was accused of having collected $129,465 on 301 checks when his account was already overdrawn $43.50.

DOZEN ARRAIGNED

Among the 12 arraigned yesterday in federal court were the president and assistant cashier of the bank, the Sun Valley National Bank, and the chairman of its loan committee. The others are businessmen in Sun Valley and neighboring San Fernando Valley communities.

They were charged with aiding and abetting John Peterson, cashier and vice president of the bank, who was arrested last week on a charge of making a false bank record. Sheridan said the charges are merely preliminary to a presentation of the complex case to a federal grand jury within the next few weeks.

SHORTAGE FOUND

The huge shortage in the bank's funds was disclosed last month when bank examiners investigated the books. The FBI, which is investigating the case, said it was learned thousands of checks were cashed by the bank over a three-year period and not applied against the accounts of the check writers.

The day of Peterson's arrest it was announced that the Security-First National Bank of Los Angeles had purchased the Sun Valley National Bank and that all deposits would be protected. The bank is now being operated as a Security-First National branch.

ACCUSED OF BANK CHARGE — Charles Bascom Tribble (left), 41, a grocery store operator, and Clarence Claycamp (right), 37, a jeweler, were among 12 persons arrested in connection with the disappearance of a million dollars from the Sun Valley National Bank. They were arraigned before a U.S. Commissioner yesterday and charged with aiding a bank vice president in allegedly misapplying funds of the bank. (AP Wirephoto)

Hub Decides Tonight On Hiring Works Boss

The San Anselmo City Council will decide tonight whether to hire William J. Dabel of Benicia as San Anselmo's first director of public works.

It appeared rather unlikely today that Dabel will be hired.

Councilman William Franchini is expected to cast the deciding vote on the issue. Last Wednesday night, Mayor Arthur W. Smith and Councilman Carmel H. Booth committed themselves against hiring a public works director. Councilman Carleton G. E. Little and Jordan L. Martinelli Jr. have expressed themselves in favor of Dabel's employment.

Franchini said today he did not care to commit himself in advance of the meeting. However, it was reported he has expressed doubt of the wisdom of hiring a public works director at present. (The job would include duties of city engineer, superintendent of streets and building inspector.)

The San Anselmo City Council will receive a petition tonight signed by 68 residents of Greenfield, Terrace and Spring Grove avenues asking for four new stop signs on Greenfield. The petitioners want traffic stopped both ways at Sequoia avenue, and on both Greenfield and Terrace avenues at their intersection. They also want pedestrian crosswalks at Greenfield and Terrace.

The new business license ordinance, restoring fees for retail firms based on sales volume, will be up for adoption, as will the bulky all-inclusive traffic ordinance. The 1958 building code is to be introduced as an amendment to the building ordinance.

The council will receive the civil service board of review's finding that James A. Farmer should be restored to his classification as police officer-clerk, and paid retroactive pay for the difference between the $460 per month he has been receiving since reclassified late in 1957 and the $481 he would have received as a police patrolman. Farmer stands to receive about $275, less withholding tax and retirement contribution.

Larkspur Merger Unit To Go Slow

The fast-moving Larkspur merger study committee topped off a "where do we go now?" debate last night with questioning of William R. Zion, manager of Public Affairs Research, Inc., and author of the merger study report purchased by Larkspur and Corte Madera.

The Larkspur committee of a dozen citizens concluded a two-and-one-half-hour meeting at city hall with decision to go ahead without waiting for a parallel merger study committee in Corte Madera to "catch up."

GENERAL DISCUSSION

Meanwhile, 10 members of the Corte Madera committee, meeting at Neil Cummins School, held general discussions and put off until next week decision on the list of topics to be covered in future meetings.

Meeting of the Larkspur group, presided over by H. H. (Dutch) Pierson, vice chairman, was launched with a rough-and-tumble discussion on the role of the committee before joint meetings can be held.

General consensus was to go slow until early January to allow the Corte Madera group to obtain sufficient studies to permit joint meetings.

STREET DEFICIENCIES

000 Larkspur and $238,000 Corte Madera street deficiencies in the report were exciencies in the report were explained by Zion. He said the figures were based merely on costs to bring the streets to state standards. Pierson observed that "our city streets, however, are as good as theirs."

Zion suggested the committee, if in favor of merging the twin cities, should work to have the proposal placed on the ballot before launching into public controversy on any merits or faults in the plan.

Robert Smith asked Zion what major factors the public would consider in such an election.

Zion said he thought the only two basic questions would be taxes and community values.

The Larkspur committee will meet at 8 p.m. next Monday at city hall. The Corte Madera group will meet at 7:30 p.m. at Cummins School.

HST WOULD TAKE SENATE APPOINTMENT

WASHINGTON (AP)—Harry S. Truman, who has said some of his happiest years were spent in the Senate, would like to return there. But he doesn't plan to run for the office.

Truman was asked at a news conference whether he would be interested in running for the remainder of the term of Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.), if Symington were to get the 1960 presidential nomination. Truman was quick with a "no" on running for the office.

"But I'd be interested in being appointed to fill out his Senate term," the former President replied.

The play has been adapted from Henry James' "Turn of the Screw."

Reed Board Emphasizes Arithmetic

Reed School District trustees, scrutinizing the district's arithmetic curriculum last night, concluded "It is the board's responsibility to see that the Reed district pupils get the best arithmetic training possible and learn what they are supposed to at every grade level."

Trustees instructed Supt. Paul C. Stouffer to obtain from Tamalpais High School District arithmetic achievement tests to check any weaknesses in the Reed program.

"The board must see that our program is strengthened where needed," said Trustee Richard J. MacLaury.

SHOWS SLIDES

The discussion, led by MacLaury, followed a slide presentation by Stouffer of the arithmetic course of study through the eighth grade using the Winston series textbooks.

The trustees decided to postpone their normal Dec. 23 meeting to Jan. 7, when they are to hear a report on progress of the district evaluation study being made by a San Francisco State College team.

A resolution of intent was passed to exchange an equal amount of Del Mar School property with Crowley Construction Co. for an extension of Hilary drive.

TO BE DECIDED

Future placement of school buildings and drainage control will have to be decided before the exchange is accepted, the board agreed.

"Since the proposed road will curve on an embankment above a future children's play area, maximum safety features must be in stalled to prevent accidents," Trustee Alfred Azevedo warned.

The board also approved an application for a site development and engineering survey loan from the Federal Housing and Home Finance Agency for proposed construction of the planned elementary school on the Del Mar property.

A report on the worth of the 1958 summer school program by teachers indicated a slight curricular improvement.

Dance Slated To Celebrate Candy Sales

"The Choc Rock," a live-orchestra dance to celebrate the success of Marin Catholic High School students' sale of enough chocolate bars to raise $6,000 for school equipment, will be held tomorrow under direction of the student council.

The dance is planned as an appreciation gesture by school officials, headed by Rev. Lawrence A. Ryan, principal. It will feature music provided by the cooperation of Local 6 of the American Federation of Musicians.

A week ago, students had met 92 per cent of the quota and the only question seemed to be who would be lucky enough to get the few bars left. Most teams (23 business managers had 87 team captains helping with the bookkeeping—no small matter with $6,000, 35,000 chocolate bars and more than 600 youngsters involved) have made 100 per cent.

The whirlwind campaign not only pays for $2,500 worth of band uniforms, but for audio-visual equipment for the science classes, a tape recorder for foreign language classes, new books for the library and new equipment for the athletic department.

DRINKING

upon the most sensitive portion of the brain, the highly developed cortex. This is felt the most civilized portion of the brain, also the most troublesome. While its action is not precisely known, it is believed to be the seat of memory, conscience, judgment, as well as inhibitions, self-consciousness, and tensions.

Put the cortex to sleep and tensions subside. George feels suddenly relaxed. Self-consciousness evaporates. George talks to people, circulates, tells jokes with stentorian confidence.

Inhibitions slack off. George puts his arm around the boss's wife. The first stage of alcoholic anesthesia has set in, and the first thing to be anesthetized is the policeman of the brain.

But memory also goes. George forgets he put a lighted cigarette on the edge of the piano. Responsibility disintegrates. The fact that the children are home and the sitter leaves at midnight means nothing anymore.

Judgment vanishes. George is sure he can walk tightrope on the clothesline.

Drowsiness sets in, malaise begins as the body fights to oxidize more alcohol than it can handle. Finally there is stupor; George passes out. Anesthesia is complete.

Many a drinker's life has been saved by passing out. For at this point his intake of alcohol is precariously close to the death limit. Only an ounce or so of alcohol spells the difference between dead drunk and dead.

One hundred proof whisky is half alcohol. Thus a one-ounce drink contains half an ounce of alcohol. How many can George take?

Generally two such drinks are considered "safe." The alcohol concentration in the blood will be about .05 per cent. After two drinks the questionable area has been reached and at six drinks (three ounces of alcohol) George is at the danger point.

His blood alcohol is at .15 per cent.

Suppose he keeps drinking? When he reaches .5 per cent (20 drinks, 10 ounces of alcohol) he is dead drunk. And as little as two more drinks—just one more ounce of alcohol—might kill him.

Any concentration in the blood above .55 per cent can be fatal.

Most people think straight drinks hit the hardest. They don't. Straight liquor is so strong that it even anesthetizes the absorption processes a little, hence delaying the alcoholic effect.

But weak highballs are slow, too. Add five ounces of water to an ounce of whiskey and you get an 8 or 9 per cent alcohol solution; sheer buik slows down absorption.

The fastest absorption comes from 10 to 30 per cent solutions: half-and-half highballs.

Of course, food in the stomach (especially milk, fat, and meat) slows the absorption of alcohol. But not fruit—this produces alcohol of its own during digestion and simply makes matters worse.

The drinker's dream, one might suppose, would be to reach that pleasant peak known as the "glow"—when tensions are quelled, anxieties relieved, and none of the mess of drunkenness has yet descended—and stay there. It is theoretically possible.

Dr. Marvin Block, chairman of the American Medical Assn.'s Committee on Alcoholism, asserts, "The average man achieves an optimum stage when he has a shot glass or about an ounce of whiskey. The average human being can metabolize a half-ounce to an ounce of alcohol per hour. If this rate is maintained, the rosy feeling can be continued."

But the doctor adds, "In an attempt to insure this feeling, many are inclined to take another drink before the last is completely burned up. When this happens, the drinker sometimes becomes a little careless, loud and boisterous . . . may see double and become incoherent and fumbling. He often staggers . . ."

And the blush is off the rose.

HERMAN E. HEIN, Mill Valley landscape architect, and Mrs. Dion Ramsey-Raisan discuss details of the decor they are planning for the Frances Young gallery at the Marin Art and Garden Center in Ross, where the annual sale will be held Friday from 8 to 10 p.m. and Saturday from 10 to 4 p.m. Mrs. Richard D. Messinger is production manager.

VISIONS SUGAR PLUMS

Christmas Sale Will Feature Decorations And Delicacies

Festive decorations by the hundreds, holiday delicacies from Marin kitchens, and "visions of sugar plums" actually on a tree will be featured at the 11th annual Christmas Greens and Decorations Sale Friday night and Saturday at the Marin Art and Garden Center in Ross. Hours will be 8 to 10 p.m. Friday and 10 to 4 p.m. Saturday.

Sponsored by the center's Decorations Guild, of which Mrs. Frederick W. Macondray of San Anselmo is president, the sale is open to the public and annually draws hundreds of Christmas shoppers from San Francisco and the East Bay as well as from all parts of Marin County. Proceeds are used to help support the nonprofit center.

This year, for the first time in the history of the event, visitors may make purchases on opening night, formerly just a preview. However, only decorative articles made of permanent dried materials will be available then. On Saturday, both these and items of fresh greens, including the traditional pine boughs and holly, will be offered.

Refreshments will be served Friday night and hot food will be available Saturday.

All of the merchandise was hand-fashioned by members of the Decorations Guild during many weeks of work. Hundreds of wreaths, tree plaques, door swags and novelty items, in endless variety and to suit every taste, are the result.

The sale will be held in the Frances Young gallery on the center grounds, where the decor has been designed by landscape architect Herman E. Hein of Mill Valley.

The Pixie Parents of the AAUW, a center affiliate, are sponsoring the Christmas Cupboard, with Mrs. Jack Brandon of San Rafael as chairman. The cupboard offers a variety of homemade holiday foods.

Marin County Girl Scouts are decorating the Sugar Plum Tree with edible goodies especially for the youngsters, Mrs. J. S. Detweiler of San Anselmo is in charge of the Scouts' participation.

Chi Omegas Yule Party Set Dec. 13

Marin County Chi Omega Alumnae have selected Saturday, Dec. 13, as the date for their annual Christmas party.

Members and their husbands will gather at 7:30 p.m. in the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Rhoads, 143 Jordan way, San Anselmo, for dinner and an evening of dancing.

Co-chairman are Mrs. Donald Stokes and Mrs. Corinne Matthews, and Mrs. John Smillie and Mrs. Herbert Rowland are in charge of food.

Dinner will be cooked and served by members, and there will be dancing after white elephant gifts have been exchanged.

Proceeds from the party will be used for the chapter's philanthropic projects. Each month several members take refreshments and visit with residents at the Lucas Valley Farm.

For Thanksgiving they made floral tray decorations for the women and gave cigars and cigarettes to the men.

Reservations for the Christmas party must be made by Wednesday, Dec. 10, with Mrs. Leland Young, 185 Via Lerida, San Rafael.

The Northgate group of the Marin Art and Garden Center had its annual big-time Christmas party Friday night at the Meadow Club, Fairfax, and in beauty, attendance and gayety-among-friends topped all previous Northgate holiday doings.

Festivities began at 6:30 p.m. with cocktails and canapes, continued with a sophisticated and glamorous fashion show with clothes from a San Francisco specialty shop, and ended at dinner in the dining room at the club.

Around the theme "Christmas by Candlelight" the club had been decorated along traditional and old-fashioned holiday lines, except for one outstanding contemporary stylized wreath fashioned by Mrs. Winston Jones for the occasion. The huge circlet which characterized the decor was purchased later in the evening for "a tidy sum," said sum going into the coffers of the Decorations Guild of which Mrs. Jones is a mainstay.

The fashion show, designed to entertain the gentlemen and to give them ideas of what to buy their Northgate wives for Christmas, prompted applause as each familiar model projected herself into the spirit of the evening.

George Lemont of TV fame gave an amusing running commentary during the show which opened with Mrs. Richard Kure appearing as "The Spirit of Christmas." All in red, Patricia set the tone of the event, loaded with holiday gift boxes and toting a Christmas tree.

Next came Mrs. Barlow Ferguson in sheer, red, lace-trimmed shorty-pajamas. Betty's news in night wear wowed her audience.

BATHING SUIT

Mrs. Floyd Gilman, in a quick change of pace, appeared in a pink cotton bathing suit with a modest cape and pretty hat to match. Bee had been on jury duty in Marin Superior Court all week, but managed a "fitting" along with doing her civic duty.

Mrs. Charles Trost was trim in the "must" in every wardrobe, the San Francisco suit. At least the "must" wasn't black; it was a becoming beige in wool.

A desert orange knit dress with matching coat and orange bucket hat became striking on Mrs. Leroy Page. The costume was recommended for travel.

"Palm Springs, here I come" said the commentator as Mrs. Harding McPhun modeled in pink linen shorts with a deep pink top.

Next appeared Mrs. Henry Skinner in a Christmas green satin hostess gown, cut with both cunning and comfort.

Mrs. Donald Watts smashed the tradition that one must wear a conservative slicker when it rains when she showed a raccoon-trimmed, borgana-lined coat completely waterproofed.

Very comfortable, and very chic was Mrs. William Cassidy in nylon quilted two-piece lounging pajamas.

For those who don't know what to wear over a lovely beige cashmere dress, Mrs. Rudy Lang presented the answer in a beige leather coat with a mink collar.

Mrs. Alfred Oyster and Mrs. Edgar Lindner in a dual appearance presented the news in shirtmakers. Pat wore a silk shirtmaker print accented with pink and Maude modeled a white on white silk. They proved that Marin's favorite silhouette can be glamorous.

That silk is important in sports as well as dress wear, was demonstrated by Mrs. J. T. Turner who modeled a "mixed-match" casual suit.

Mrs. William Brantman was welcomed aboard with "This is the way all the girls should look when they open the front door for the breadwinner at night." Her eye-catching costume was a Dior adaptation hostess gown in blue and silver brocade cut with high Empire lines.

Mrs. William Pomeroy modeled completely drip dry natural silk pajamas from Hong Kong.

OTHER COSTUMES

Other costumes included a costume for "the hostess with the mostest," namely black satin pants worn with red satin brocaded jacket; a banded white silk holiday dress with colored empire accents; a white satin hostess gown set off with a flattering rouche of cock feathers; a floating blue printed nylon peignoir; red slacks worn with a coral silk blouse; and a large collection of beautiful short evening dresses exemplifying the importance of color at night.

Speaking of color at night, seen among the spectators were many red, many green and lots of blue silk frocks. Mrs. Allen Zeiss, who with Mrs. Donald Perry were receiving congratulations for their decorations of the club, wore royal blue. Mrs. John W. Merryman, Northgate Group president, in dark green satin, was receiving birthday congratulations. More bright blue was noted in frocks worn by Mrs. Rowland Chapman, general chairman of the successful party and by Mrs. Ralph Alden of the prizes committee.

Mrs. Frank Stratford in green, added to the lovely group watching the show which included Mesdames Norman B. Livermore, Wallace Scott and E. M. Shelton.

Devil Dip Is Green

New York — (UPI) — Green devil dip goes well with potato chips at snack-time. Blend thoroughly ½ cup each mayonnaise and chopped, cooked, drained spinach with juice of 1 lemon, ¼ teaspoon cayenne, 2-3 green pepper seeds, and 1 tablespoon each of the following chopped vegetables and herbs: Green pepper, celery leaves, scallion tops, horseradish and fresh tarragon. Two teaspoons dried tarragon may be substituted for fresh.

THE MEADOW CLUB was the setting on Saturday evening for the Ross Valley Players annual Christmas party, the "Gaieties." Checking tickets, left to right, are Mrs. Carl Riznik, Mrs. Thomas Cusick, Mr. Cusick, Vee Russell and Joseph Haskins.

ON THE DANCE floor following dinner were, left to right, the Jerry Slaters and the Evan Goldenbergs. Christmas decorations and the bright gowns of the women created a happy holiday spirit.

'GAIETIES' EVENT OF SATURDAY

Saturday evening the Meadow Club was the scene for the annual Christmas party of the Ross Valley Players, the "Gaieties." The Club was aglitter with traditional Christmas decorations and the gay formal gowns of the women added to the happy holiday spirit.

Cocktails were served at 7:30 o'clock with dinner and dancing following.

Seen among the many diners were the Percy McPartlands seated with the Ed Wrights, the Wishard Browns and the George Achoffs. Mr. and Mrs. Max Boone shared a table with the James Guilder and the D. J. Wallaces as well as James Fitch and Mrs. Bernice Jordan.

President and Mrs. Don Morrell received guests as they entered the foyer and later dined with the Jackson Bennetts and the Charles Kendricks. Dr. and Mrs. Ira Degenhardt dined with John Carish. The Chapin Days, Barney McGraths and Judge and Mrs. Harold Haley were in another group. Kay and Roland Wilson were seen on the dance floor enjoying the fine music. Dr. and Mrs. L. Martin Griffin also were among the diners, as were the Thalbert Duncans.

Camp Fire Workers Plan Holiday Meet

The annual Christmas meeting of all professional Camp Fire workers in region 10 will be held Friday, Dec. 12 at the Piedmont Camp Fire Girls Council headquarters.

Region 10 includes Northern California, Nevada and Utah. Miss Mary Fiedler of San Rafael is regional director of the area.

Miss Joan Yule, executive director of the Marin Council of Camp Fire Girls, will be chairman of the all day meeting. The program will be divided into three discussion sessions, the first of which will be the Golden Jubilee Girl Project. Each councill will come prepared to tell what is being done in each area on this national two year project. Miss Yule will lead the group in discussion. This will be followed by an exchange of ideas on junior high age girls, led by Mrs. French Baker, field director of Marin. Mrs. Constance Brumley, field director of Marin, will conduct the discussion on Horizon Club activities. The purpose of these discussions will be to investigate successful projects and approaches to these age groups by exploring and sharing each council's experiences.

During lunch, which will be prepared and served by volunteer members of the Piedmont Council, Miss Delores Walthers, executive director of Martinez, will give a report. The Martinez Council is participating in an experimental program being conducted by National Camp Fire Girls as a result of a Gallup poll study done last year. The findings of these experiments in 10 selected Camp Fire Councils throughout the nation will form the basis of a new program which will be instituted when the experiment is completed.

The day will end on a humorous note when a "Queen for a Day" will be selected. She will be chosen because of relating the saddest experience in her career as a Camp Fire Girls professional worker. Those contesting will be Miss Marion Coombs, executive director, Central Contra Costa, Miss Aileen Martinson, field director, San Francisco, Miss Claire Barracks, executive director, Peninsula Council, and Miss Delores Walthers. Mrs. Constance Brumley, assisted by Miss Sylvia DeVincinzi, field director, Marin, will act as coordinators for the contest.

2 CHP Men County's Top Gunslingers

Two sharpshooting highway patrolmen are the "top guns" among Marin County law enforcement officials for 1958.

In four matches which wound up Sunday at the county pistol range in San Rafael, Duncan Snell and William Roberts of California Highway Patrol posted the highest individual scores to take first and second. Snell rang up a score of 1,091, followed by Roberts with 1,077.

Sgt. Sidney Weber of the sheriff's office came in third with 1,060. Wade Powell of San Rafael Police Department was right behind with a score of 1,057.

Rangemaster H. O. Peters, who trained the men, announced that trophies will be awarded to these men at the next meeting of the Marin County Peace Officers Assn.

In yesterday's final match of the year, Weber took top score with 277, followed by Powell with 271 and Ed Levine of the sheriff's office with 269.

Non-Marching Brass Band To Play Carols

Christmas carols with a brassy beat will resound in Terra Linda and Marinwood on the night of Dec. 22.

Making the welkin ring will be an aggregation bearing the unlikely name of the Just for Fun Gallinas Valley Sanitary District Non-Marching Band.

The Just for Fun, etc., will live up to its non-ambulatory name by blowing out its music from the back of a flatbed truck, according to Joseph S. Curalito, Dixie School District music teacher who directs it.

POUND AND PUFF

The 22 members (there may be more by then) will pound and puff sweet (or loud, anyhow) Christmas music from 8 to 10 p.m. The truck will tour throughout Terra Linda and Marinwood, making sure that the sound of Christmas is heard by all, said Mrs. F. Strathirn of Terra Linda, one of the two women members of the Just for Fun, etc.

The amateur band was formed recently of residents of Terra Linda, Marinwood, Santa Venetia and San Rafael Meadows, hence the "Las Gallinas Valley Sanitary District" title. But membership is open to anyone who can read and play music and "who has a good sense of humor," regardless of residence, said Mrs. Strathirn.

LONG SILENCE

"Most of our members probably have not played in a band since high school days," she said.

Undaunted, however, the Just for Fun, etc., plans nonmarching concerts at the dedication of the new Terra Linda fire station (still undated) and at productions of the Terra Linda Little Theater.

The band practices each Monday at 8 p.m. in Mary E. Silveira School.

Alto Motel Host To TV Thieves

Television thieves struck Saturday at the Alto Motel, 817 Redwood Highway, Alto, and took off with a TV set and and other equipment worth $190 in all.

Mrs. L. N. Koons, the manager of the motel, told Sheriff's Deputy T. A. Lightfoot that two men drove up in a small black sedan at 4 a.m. A man who gave his name as Bob Bennett and address as San Fernando registered for a motel room. He was about 20 years old, 5 feet 8 inches, and wore a dark suit. His companion was a stocky blond youth.

When Mrs. Koons checked the room about 2 o'clock that afternoon, she found the men gone. So were a 17-inch television set and stand, an electric coffee maker and a pink bedspread.

THE PARENTS' CORNER

By RICHMOND BARBOUR, Ph. D.
Guidance Counsellor

'I Hate Both My Parents,' Says Girl Of 15 In Tough Situation

Doris T. "I'm a girl of 15. I hate both my parents. My father is down with leukemia. He'll die eventually. Since he's been sick my mother has worked. She has a night job. She is tired all the time. They expect me to do the housework, and be a full-time nurse. I don't even get to go to church. I missed every football game this fall. My clothes are awful. Dad scolds me all the time. What did I do to deserve such parents?"

Reply. I'm sure you did nothing to cause your father's illness, nor the situation it creates. Your hatred is understandable but it doesn't help. You are being tested early in life. Please try to show your strength, not your temper. Talk with your counselor at school. Probably she can help your mother and father understand your feelings. Then maybe things can be changed a little at home. A way should be found for you to go to church, and become active there. If your mother can't take care of your father part of the time on Sundays, other care might be arranged through your church. Ask about it. You need companionship, and a renewal of faith. Remember that your parents love you. They want only the best for you. But they are under terrible strain. Remember, and be more patient.

HOMEWORK STRIKE

Bill W. "We teen-agers should organize a union. We need something to protect our rights. Our teachers give us too much homework. I don't object to an eight-hour workday. I get sore when teachers pile on assignments. Their homework makes any school day a 14 or 16 hour day. I want to go to college. I'm taking some advanced courses. What would happen if I started a strike against homework?"

Reply. At first people would laugh. Then they'd get angry. Don't try it. Here's something better. Keep track of your home studying. Have your friends do the same. Then show your teachers your record. Let them see they're overdoing the homework. If your problem gets worse you could go to your principal. Probably he would be willing to help you. Remember, no strike.

Decoration Contest Set In Greenbrae

Residents of Greenbrae will compete for more than $200 in prizes this year in the 12th annual Christmas decorations contest sponsored by the Greenbrae Property Owners Assn.

Prizes will be donated by the Schultz Co. and merchants of the Bon Air Shopping Center.

Dr. Ted F. Pett, president of the property owners assn., said judging will be between 7 and 10 p.m. Dec. 23. He said all residents of Greenbrae are eligible to enter. No application form is necessary. Judges will make a complete tour of the area to view the entries.

Intent is to base judging on originality of design and presentation, rather than cost, said Pett.

George Bogel, sales manager for the Schultz Co., said first prize will be $50; second, $30; third, $20; and fourth through eighth place, $10 each, all in cash.

Additional prizes will include five $10 merchandise orders and six $5 orders.

Judges will be Dick Messinger, Bradley Palmer, Leo Perrier and Clerin Zumwalt.

Bogel said the contest was originated by his firm in 1947, the first year of the subdivision's existence.

Custody Suit Private

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A suit to determine custody of actor Sterling Hayden's four children will be heard behind closed doors.

"For the protection of the children," Superior Court ordered a private hearing of Mrs. Betty Ann De Noon's suit for a determination of custody.

Pretrial charges filed by Hayden accused Mrs. De Noon of being intimate with six men. Mrs. De Noon charged that Hayden "hates women."

The children, now between 6 and 10, went to Hayden under an out-of-court agreement when the couple was divorced three years ago.

Bombed School Aided

The largest single donation, $50 cash, came from a man in Maracaibo, Venezuela. The smallest, 5 cents, was sent by a youngster from Orinda, Calif.

Several persons were questioned about the bombing, but no one has been charged.

College Of Marin Musicians Perform Chamber Music

By MARTHA BRUCKNER

The music department of College of Marin presented "An Evening of Chamber Music" at Olney Hall on the campus in Kentfield Friday.

Thompson Chesnut, director of the concert, likes to offer a different kind of program every year. This time, he selected several different groups of instruments for variety. The comparison of these groups—strings, woodwinds and brass—verified again the fact that string players are difficult to get. Nevertheless, the small string group tackled three movements of Mozart's "Kleine Nachtmusik." For Bach's Brandenburg concerto No. 2 they got help from a flute (Elisabeth Howie), an oboe (Carolyn Michaelian) and a trumpet, played by Chesnut himself.

A well-disciplined and lively performance of a pathetic composition by Lully, three Russian dances and a modern composition by Arnell was given by the student's brass choir with brilliant trumpets (Louis Tomlinson, (first trumpet) and the rest of the brass also doing very well (first horn, James Schroeder; first trombone, Erik Wik; tuba, Merlin Combs). Earlier in the program the horns as a quartet had performed works by Mendelssohn, Tschaikovsky and von Weber.

A professional note was given to the concert by a woodwind quintet formed by Howie (flute), Carolyn Michaelian (oboe), Andrew Ward (clarinet), Virginia Ojeda (bassoon) and Geraldine Chesnut (horn), all members of the Marin Symphony Guild. Their performance was well rehearsed, clear and appealing.

Like It Or Not, Say Legislators, New Taxes Are Needed

By MORRIE LANDSBERG

SACRAMENTO (AP)—California legislators agree overwhelmingly that, like it or not, they'll have to impose new taxes next year.

That's the view of close to 80 per cent of lawmakers replying to an Associated Press questionnaire. They said they'll vote additional levies in view of a predicted 270-million-dollar deficit by 1960.

"I will not like to," said Sen. John J. Hollister Jr. '(D-Golet), "but I may have to."

FEW HOPEFUL

Only a relatively few inclined to the hope the day can be postponed for tapping the tax payers. Some suggested first using up reserves, such as they are. Others called for holding the line on spiraling state spending.

More than half of the 120 members responded in the poll. Asked whether they would prefer to boost present taxes or impose new ones, a 3 to 1 majority favored a combination of both.

Judging from the replies, it's a good bet California will put on its first cigarette tax. This prospective source drew the highest number of votes. It was followed by proposals for a bigger state cut of horse racing profits.

LIQUOR TAX

In order, the legislators next favored boosts in liquor, beer, personal and corporate income taxes.

There was decisive opposition to any raise in the 3 per cent sales tax. Even stronger reaction frowned on repeal of the present exemption on groceries. Many members declared they would fight any further consumer levies.

The survey turned up something of a sleeper—a controversial one, at that. Fifteen members signified they'd support a severance tax on oil, gas or other natural resources. None offered any hint as to the possible income.

DRAW POKER

Assemblyman Charles Wilson (D-Los Angeles) came up with still another idea: a "sizeable tax" on draw poker clubs. He acknowledge, however, this would hardly wipe out the red ink figures.

An increase in income taxes on fast capital gains and on profits from land speculation was suggested by Assemblyman Allen Miller (D-an Fernando). A lien law on property of old age pensioners was offered by Assemblyman Charles Conrad (R-Sherman Oaks).

Assemblyman Lester A. McMillan (D-Los Angeles) urged repeal of the veterans' $1,000 exemption on real property taxes. The state itself wouldn't benefit, but McMillan said it would help the counties.

ANTI-TAX GROUP

Among the anti-tax group, en. Nelson S. Dilworth (R-Hemet) thinks we can avoid new taxes by careful use of existing income. Sen. Charles Brown (D-Shoshone) suggested running the state on deficit spending for at least another year.

Assemblyman John Busterud (R-San Francisco) called for constitutional reform to place all of the state budget before the Legislature for review. The Legislature now has direct control over about 30 per cent of the state's expenditures; the remainder represents fixed charges.

'BUCKLE DOWN'

Assemblyman Harold K. Levering (R-Los Angeles) said:

"If this Legislature will buckle down to the job, there is no doubt in my mind that we can bring the cost of government in line with income. If we do not, I am not going to vote for any new taxes anyhow.

"I would rather see a showdown and see the Democratic party start issuing registered warrants. Of course, this financial debacle is chargable to the Republican administration that has been spending more than our income for some services that I regard very questionable for the past 10 years."

The Senate's president pro tem, Hugh M. Burns (D-Fresno), was asked whether he had any ideas for budget economies. "Yes," he said, "but I never get to first base." He sides with the prevailing view: there's no getting away from the need for more taxes.

Apartment Project Up For Discussion

A quarter-million-dollar apartment project near the San Rafael Airport will be discussed tonight by the San Rafael Planning Commission. The meeting is set for 7:30 p.m. in the city hall.

Kaehler Construction Co. wants to build 26 apartment units on Belvedere street between Alto and Medway streets.

Planning commissioners also plan to discuss the development of the entire East San Rafael Assessment District, which was originally set up as a light industrial area. With a growing interest in construction of apartments, bowling alleys and other non-industrial uses, the planners want to take another look at the area to see if industrial zoning should be changed.

A protest delegation from Sunnyview Terrace is expected to attend to oppose a zoning change near the intersection of East Crescent drive and Scenic avenue, north of the Miracle Mile. Tamarin Realty wants the present garden apartment zoning changed to straight apartment zoning. Residents oppose apartment zoning on grounds that traffic would be congested and sanitation facilities would be inadequate. Some want the area zoned back to one-family residential.

Aldersly, Inc., which operates the Danish Home at 326 Mission avenue, wants a rezoning of adjacent property so facilities of the old people's home can be expanded. The adjacent land, at 507 Belle avenue, is zoned for duplexes. Aldersly requests multiple zoning.

A fence in Loch Lomond that caused a neighborhood feud comes up for variance request. Roland and Jorna M. Hellman of 32 Manderly road request approval of a concrete wall and fence that are already up. They also ask for completion of the fence to make all of it six feet high, as suggested by the planning commission at the last meeting.

The neighbor, Bruce Bernhard, complained that Hellman's structure was a 12-foot fence (six feet of concrete wall and six more feet of wooden fence put up without proper permit. Bernhard threatened to retaliate with a 12 foot fence of his own until the planners stepped in and decided that Hellman should raise his fence to an even height all the way to serve both sides.

MacArthur Ignored

TOKYO (UPI)—The influential English-language Japan Times suggested today that Gen. Douglas A. MacArthur "no longer is a personality of importance" to Japanese readers.

The Times, in an editorial criticizing MacArthur for his refusal to see a Japanese mission investigating the drafting of the nation's postwar constitution, noted that Japanese language newspapers gave only scant attention to the incident.

"This may be because the vernacular papers are by policy against tampering with the constitution," the newspaper said. "Still another reason may be that General MacArthur no longer is a personality of importance to their readers."

Power Willed Eyes To Blind; Unfulfilled

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Actor Tyrone Power willed his eyes to give sight to the living, but his wish was not fulfilled.

At the U. S. Air Force Hospital in Spain where the actor's body was prepared for burial after his unexpected death of a heart attack last month, a spokesman said his eyes were not removed.

The Eye Bank for Sight Restoration in New York said that eyes must be used within 24 to 48 hours of a donor's death. There are few places outside the United States where they can be utilized in the corneal transplant operation which opens a window of sight for some blind persons, the eye bank said.

The Eye Bank spokesman said further that Power's wish could not have been fulfilled even if he had died at home if the gift was noted only in his will. Such a gift must be made in a special deed and its existence known to someone close to a dying person so that eyes may be removed within the short time they can be used.

Power's will filed yesterday in superior court directed that the bulk of the estate be equally divided into six parts and placed in trust for his third wife, his mother and sister, and his three children—one yet unborn.

The estate, although listed simply as in excess of $10,000, was said by one of the executors, A. Morgan Maree, to be of substantial value.

Plans Laid For Pony Express Celebration

Initial steps were taken in Sacramento on Friday to organize California's celebration of the 100th anniversary of the first running of the famed Pony Express.

April 3, 1960, will mark the centennial of the unique mail service, which operated between St. Joseph, Mo., and Sacramento.

Friday's meeting, held in the office of Gov. Goodwin J. Knight, was attended by Col. Waddell Smith of 75 Margarita drive, San Rafael, president of the National Pony Express Centennial Assn. Knight is a member of the association's board of governors.

Smith, great-grandson of William Bradford Waddell, one of the founders of the Pony Express, outlined the role of the California Pony Express Centennial Assn. The state organization's bylaws and articles of incorporation were approved at the meeting.

Cellist Fills In Quartet Without Rehearsal

By MARTHA BRUCKNER

The Marin Arts Quartet opened its second season Sunday at the well-filled Outdoor Art Club in Mill Valley.

Before starting to play, Charles Meacham had to announce that Jean Maguire, the cellist of the quartet, had been taken ill a few hours previously. To avoid canceling the concert, Herman Reinberg, one of the leading cellists of the San Francisco Symphony, had agreed to fill in, although he had time for no rehearsal and only a short look at the Hindemith score, which he had never played before.

However, Reinberg managed to blend in with the three other players.

This was made easier by their perfectly established harmony, with Meacham as a firmly and beautifully leading first violinist, William Pynchon as a reliable second violin player and Albert White at the masterfully handled viola.

In Mozart's Quartet in C Major, op. 465, in the beginning of the concert, there was a slight uncertainty of the cello, but it had almost disappeared in the concluding Brahms. The rich possibilities of that score, fully materialized, made it the highlight of the program.

Hindemith's first quartet, so modern when it was written more than 40 years ago and awarded the Mendelssohn Prize in Frankfurt, had now an almost romantic attitude to which Meacham had referred in his preview. However, the third movement, with so many musical thoughts, was very long for modern listeners.

TV Writer's Jail Sentence Still In Effect

NEW YORK (UPI)—Television columnist Marie Torre today faced 10 days in jail unless the federal judge who sentenced her on a criminal contempt of court conviction suspends the sentence.

The U. S. Supreme Court yesterday refused to review the conviction. Miss Torre was sentenced Nov. 12, 1957, by Federal Judge Sylvester J. Ryan, who found her guilty of contempt for refusing to divulge the source of a story she wrote about Judy Garland.

Miss Torre, whose column appears in the New York Herald Tribune, had no comment on the high court's action. Ogden R. Reid, editor of the newspaper, indicated he would have no comment until he had discussed the case with counsel.

The Herald Tribune supported Miss Torre's appeal of the lower court ruling, in which she said the Supreme Court decision would have "an immediate effect on the willingness of news sources to transmit news in confidence to reporters and news media."

Larkspur Building Reaches $117,224

This compared with a total of $315,045 authorized for the previous month, which included a $106,875 permit for Redwood Presbyterian Church.

'NOW, LET ME THINK!' — Six-year-old Joanne Drolla of Mill Valley is a Miss with a mind well made up. She even had her Christmas list all written down for Santa Claus when he made his initial Mill Valley appearance yesterday. But the Christmas saint seems to have stumped her with one of his questions. (Independent-Journal photo)

Chrismas (And Santa) Arrive In Mill Valley

There's no doubt that the Christmas season has arrived in Mill Valley.

From the city's huge living redwood Christmas tree at Miller and Sunnyside avenues, reaching more than 100 feet in the sky, to the little sidewalk forests of trees being sold for home decoration, the city has acquired a festive air.

Santa Claus has arrived and is greeting children in Lytton Square.

SNOW SCENE

Included in the Lytton Square decorations is an elaborate display in the center of the area by the city flagpole, where a 27-foot fir occupies the center of a simulated mountain display including rocky terrain and a snow scene. The display was designed by florist Normand Black and assembled by volunteer labor.

Along Throckmorton avenue from the R and M Style Shop to the Bank of America, and on Miller avenue from Mayer's Department Store to Brown's Furniture Store, garlands of greens have been strung from 10-foot poles in sidewalk holders. Intertwined in the greens are small cones from the Jeffrey pine and twinkling red and green lights.

In addition, there are the familiar strings of colored lights topping the Lytton Square area, installed by the fire department. These, the living tree and the sidewalk garlands are all scheduled to be lighted tonight.

Carl Mosher, one of the Lytton Square merchants, said plans are in the making for two innovations.

PHOTOS, STORIES

"We are planning to have photographer Phil Planert in the square each afternoon to take candid pictures of the youngsters with Santa," he said.

"We are also planning to have a story-telling hour each afternoon under the town clock when Santa will entertain the youngsters."

Wives of the Project 17 members will have a mistletoe and "kissing bell" both adjacent to the bus station.

Mosher said many of the stores are planning to remain open until 9 o'clock daily except Saturdays until Christmas.

Liquor Store Gets Oriental Front Design

Mill Valley's Redhill Liquor Store has gone Oriental.

The store this week unveiled a new front, designed by A.B. (Gus) Costigan, Mill Valley builder and contractor, featuring a front window which is a replica of a Japanese tea garden, complete with a real waterfall flowing over rocks, bamboo and beach sand.

The store, at 67 Throckmorton avenue, has been operated by S. J. (Si) Weil since 1950.

PICTURE WINDOW

"The exterior of the building, including stucco and paint design, has been so developed as to suggest a picture frame," Weil explained, "so that the eye naturally travels to the center design with its attractive Oriental scene."

An angled panel of Oriental motif set off by vertically placed reeds serves as a backdrop for the window landscape.

Perhaps the most unusual thing about the window is that it contains no merchandise, signs or placards.

DUTCH DOOR

The entrance consists of a slit Dutch door, which, except for the exterior electric sign, offers the only means for a passerby to determine what the store has for sale.

The store's interior has been redesigned to convey the same Japanese atmosphere, with liberal use of the reed paneling. Center posts have been topped with curved shingled roofs sheltering the shelving which displays glassware.

Church Women To Install Officers

The Women's Missionary Federation of Good Shepherd Lutheran Church of Novato will hold its Christmas party at 8 o'clock tonight in Shepherd Hall.

Officers for 1959 will be installed at the party, at which husbands of members will be invited guests. The newly elected officers are: Mrs. John Kirwin, president; Mrs. Robert Brewer, vice president; Mrs. Beatrice Bennison, secretary, and Mrs. Gordon Sorenson, treasurer.

'Touch Of Tropics' In Audubon Movie

"A Touch of the Tropics," the second in a series of Audubon Screen Tours, will be presented Friday at 8 p.m. in Olney Hall, College of Marin, by William H. Wagoner Jr., explorer.

Dr. S. N. LeCount, director of adult education, said the film and lecture will be based on a study of wildlife of the Florida Everglades.

The color motion picture is one of a series produced by Wagoner and his wife, June, after extensive travel in North America.

Future screen tours are scheduled for February, March and April. Tickets may be obtained from the college, which co-sponsors the series with the National Audubon Society.

Cab Driver Admits Tiburon Vagrancy

Connie Gene Dunn, 22, a cab driver living at Hilarita Housing in Tiburon, will be sentenced in Marin Municipal Court on Dec. 30 for vagrancy.

Dunn was caught Nov. 29 by Sheriff's Deputy Charles Newman inside the tool room and storage shed of Fred G. Zelinsky on Juanita street, Tiburon. He was originally booked on suspicion of burglary, but that charge was never pressed because there was no evidence of burglary. However, Dunn admitted he was guilty of vagrancy.

RECORD-MAKER BACK — Capt. Walter W. Irwin, who set a world speed record last spring in an F104 Starfighter, is greeted by his wife and three children, Christine, 1; Michael, 2, and Steven, 3, as he arrives at Hamilton Air Force Base with first contingent of 83rd Fighter Interceptor Squadron returning from Formosa. (Air Force photo)

JOYOUS REUNIONS

1st Fliers Back From Formosa

One hundred men of the 83rd Fighter Interceptor Squadron came home for Christmas to Hamilton Air Force Base last night from the war that didn't happen.

A C97 Stratocruiser landed the pilots and ground crew men at Hamilton after a trip across the Pacific from Formosa, where they were rushed in September when threats and counter-threats over the offshore islands of Quemoy and Matsu raised fears of a shooting war with Red China.

The remainder of the 83rd is expected to arrive later this week aboard another C97.

Wives and children of the Starfighter fliers and crewmen lined the Hamilton flight line last night as the big transport plane circled in from the last leg of its trans-Pacific journey. It reportedly had been delayed temporarily in Honolulu by engine trouble.

There were scenes of happy reunion as the men alighted from the plane to be greeted before being hustled through a processing line to check records, receive pay (at the overseas rate) and be presented three-day passes.

When the 83rd squadron was secretly ordered to Formosa in September, many a flier's worried wife feared she might not see her husband again.

Now, the worries are over.

Among the men arriving last night were Maj. Carl H. Lee, executive officer of the 83rd, and Capt. Walter W. Irwin, who set the world's speed record last spring in a Starfighter.

On hand to greet them officially was Col. Louis W. Ford, commander of the 78th Fighter Group, of which the 83rd is a unit.

The 83rd, commanded by Lt. Col. John W. Bennett, who is to return in the second "wave," is being replaced on the Nationalist Chinese island by the 337th Fighter Interceptor Squadron from Westover Air Force Base, Mass. The 83rd left its F104 Starfighters in Formosa, and the 337th has left its Starfighters at Hamilton to be taken over by the Marin squadron.

Tomorrow's Deadline For Tax Payment

Deadline for payment of first installment taxes is 5 p.m. tomorrow, County Tax Collector M. F. Donohue announced today.

A last minute rush of about four million dollars in tax payments was expected today and tomorrow. "The final rush is going to be heavier than in past years," Donohue predicted.

Normally, about 60 per cent of the year's tax bill is paid by the first installment deadline. This would mean that eight-and-one-half million dollars is expected by tomorrow night. As of this morning, only $4,100,000 had been paid. The year's total tax bill is $14,400,000.

Payments must be in the mail and postmarked not later than 5 p.m. tomorrow if the taxpayer is to avoid a penalty.

State Recommends Loans For Marin Harbor Facilities

More than a million dollars worth of improvements for small craft facilities in the Marin area were recommended for approval today to the state Small Craft Harbors Commission.

The commission was meeting today in Blythe for the first time since the voters at the November election gave it 10 million dollars to lend for small craft projects. Before it were 25 applications for loans. Two are in Marin County; a third just across its northern boundary.

MARIN PROJECTS

In Marin, the staff of the Division of Small Craft Harbors recommended loans of $300,000 to the City of Mill Valley for development of a harbor in Richardson Bay, and $300,000 to the County of Marin for development of the channel and shoreline improvements in the same bay.

Just north of Marin, the division recommended a $500,000 loan for harbor construction and improvements at Bodega Bay.

Both of the Marin loans were ringed with contingencies, however. The divisioin pointed out that both the city and the county must prove feasibility of the projects, that they would pay for themselves and would benefit the community.

MILL VALLEY PLANS

Mill Valley's plans, which are more detailed than those of the county, but still only in tentative form, call for a 36-acre harbor development on the east side of the Northwestern Pacific Railroad tracks and west of Enchanted Knolls. It would extend the Sausalito channel of Richardson Bay to serve a yacht basin and facilities.

The division staff called the Mill Valley location good, the land available and the project "justified pending further planning."

On the county proposal, the staff said it was being recommended pending detailed planning "because they have plenty

Legion Offers Building For Recreation

Mill Valley American Legion Post last night decided to offer its $35,000 building to Recreation Council, Inc., without cost.

The post had put the valuable Miller avenue property on the market and has a sale under negotiation, reported Dr. J. J. Diederich, post commander. But officials of the Project 17 recreation group approached Legion officers asking to acquire the building for moving to the project area in the marshlands for recreation use.

"We are happy to be of service to the community," Dr. Diederich said, "and hope that this move will be another step in the betterment of Mill Valley and its activities."

During the past year, Legion members completed a $9,000 modernization and improvement job on the building, which included a new kitchen and other facilities.

Recreation Council officials are planning to present the matter to the Mill Valley City Council at its Dec. 17 meeting to clarify the legal status of the transaction, since the building would be placed on city-owned property.

Goldfine Faces 18 Charges Of Contempt

WASHINGTON (AP)—A federal grand jury today indicted Boston industrialist Bernard Goldfine on a charge of contempt of Congress.

The 18-count indictment was based on Goldfine's refusal to answer 22 questions put to him by the House Subcommittee on Legislative Oversight, which last summer investigated Goldfine's relationship with Sherman Adams, then assistant to President Eisenhower.

GIFTS TO ADAMS

The committee heard testimony that Goldfine, an old friend of Adams, made valuable gifts to Adams and that Adams had contacted federal agencies investigating Goldfine enterprises.

The questions Goldfine refused to answer were mostly about his financial dealings with a Boston company he controls.

The House voted a contempt citation 379-8 on Aug. 13.

The law provides for maximum penalties of a year in jail and a fine of $1,000 for each count of contempt proved in court.

NO COMMENT

Goldfine's Boston office said he was not in today and there would be no comment at present.

It was learned that the indictment was voted by the grand jury yesterday while Goldfine's attorneys were skirmishing in federal court in Boston over financial records which the millionaire industrialist had been ordered to turn over to the Internal Revenue Service in an income tax investigation.

Tax officials said the records produced were not complete, but Goldfine spokesmen plead-

Robber Of Fairfax Bank Captured In Calistoga

A Marin County Farm and Hospital janitor, captured by a pistol-carrying bank manager minutes after a Calistoga bank holdup yesterday, confessed also the $910 robbery of the Bank of America in Fairfax last Aug. 6.

Robert Francis Gladu, 51, who resided at the county farm, was trapped when he turned his car into a deadend street while fleeing from the holdup of the Calistoga branch of the Bank of America.

Hot on his trail was the bank manager, Frank Piner, waving a .32 caliber automatic pistol.

THREATENS TO SHOOT

As Gladu tried to back out of the deadend street, Piner shouted: "Stop or I'll shoot!"

Gladu surrendered. Piner, pistol in hand, marched him back to the bank, where the $750 loot was recovered from him.

"I felt silly marching that man back to the bank with a gun at his back," Piner said afterward.

He felt a lot sillier, he confessed, when he looked at the pistol. It wasn't loaded.

Gladu, it turned out, was also unarmed. He had held an overcoat concealing one hand as if he held a gun when he shoved a note to Mrs. Robert Dikeman, a teller.

'TRIGGER HAPPY'

The note read: "I am desperate and trigger happy. Don't make a move to attract any attention until I make my getaway. Give me twenty-five $20 bills, twenty-five $10 bills and twenty-five $5 bills. Return this note with the money."

Mrs. Dikeman was so nervous she unintentionally left out the $5 bills.

After his capture, Gladu admitted to Calistoga police that he robbed the Fairfax Bank of America. The robber on that occasion draped a windbreaker over what appeared to be a gun. Gladu told police he was unarmed then, also.

SIMILAR TIMING

Timing of the two jobs was approximately the same. Gladu marched up to Mrs. Dikeman's window at 12:30 p.m. yesterday. The Fairfax robbery was pulled off at 11:35 a.m. on Aug. 6.

A federal complaint was filed today charging Gladu with both robberies, said Webb Burke, special agent of the Federal Bureau of Investigation in San

GEORGE'S TROUBLES BEGIN —When the first stage of alcoholic anesthesia sets in, George feels relaxed. His self-consciousness evaporates. Inhibitions slack off. He puts his arm around the boss's wife. He becomes careless, loud and boisterous.

Our Drinking Habits

Liquor Doesn't Stimulate; It Puts The Brain's Policeman To Sleep

By HOWARD WHITMAN

Liquor is not a stimulant; it is a depressant. It does not wake you up; it puts you to sleep.

But the first part of you which it depresses (or anesthetizes) is the cerebral cortex, the policeman of the brain. And so, for a time, until the rest of the brain is anesthetized, a little hell breaks loose. We call that "getting drunk."

Alcohol is an anesthetic drug like ether or chloroform. It might even be used as a general anesthetic during surgery or tooth extraction, except that the amount it takes to banish consciousness (the point where the drinker "passes out") is too dangerously close to the point of death.

Here's how alcohol works:

It enters the stomach just as any other food does. And it is a food; it is loaded with calories. Absorption into the blood stream begins almost at once, through the tiny blood vessels which line the stomach wall. About a third of the alcohol is absorbed through the stomach; the remaining two-thirds sluices along into the small intestine and is similarly absorbed into the blood stream through the capillary lining.

It is the only food which goes straight into the blood without digestion. That's why its action is fast.

The blood stream carries the alcohol to the liver, and, if you are a very moderate drinker that's the end of it. The liver simply oxidizes the alcohol, burns it up as fuel for the body engine. But that's assuming you drink one mild high ball or one bottle of beer in an hour. Any more than that and the liver is overloaded; too much fuel for the engine.

Result: the excess alcohol overflows and is carried by the blood stream to every organ in the body. It hits the brain. And there's where the fun and/or trouble begin.

Alcohol's first action is felt

Navy Plane Hits Houses; Six Killed

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—A disabled Navy tanker plane smashed into two houses today in a residential area near Chesapeake Bay. The plane's four crewmen and two babies in one of the houses were killed. Two other persons were burned.

The plane crashed in one of this port city's main thoroughfares as it approached the Norfolk Naval Air Station for an emergency landing after its left engine failed.

One of the two houses struck by the plane was the home of Navy Lt. Joseph E. Tondora. His wife and two of their three children were at home. The children perished and Mrs. Tondora was burned. She was taken to a naval dispensary.

No one was at home in the other house.

The plane was an AJ2 twin-engine tanker.

Before it struck the houses, it smashed into a potato-laden trailer truck. The truck driver was taken to the naval dispensary for treatment of burns. His name was not available immediately.

Miller, Dupuis Both Spent About $15,000

Congressman-elect Clement W. Miller and his defeated Republican opponent, Fred G. Dupuis, each spent about $15,000 in the election campaign, according to expense statements on file with the county clerk today.

Tonight is the deadline for filing of campaign statements.

Miller's statements show his campaign cost him $14,893, of which he put up $4,445 himself. Contributors to Miller included Democratic committees; political education committees of various unions, including Painters, Decorators and Plasterers, Electrical Workers, CIO, and Trainmen, and a long list of individuals.

Dupuis' statement shows a total cost of $14,608, of which about $3,000 was to make up for the deficit from the June primaries. Dupuis paid $635 himself, and the rest came from his backers. Biggest contributions were $4,000 from the Republican Central Committee of Marin and $1,300 from the Friends of Fred Dupuis Committee. Outgoing Congressman Hubert Scudder chipped in $118 for Dupuis.

Sheriff-elect Louis P. Mountanos reported a total cost of $2,825, of which he put up $55 himself. Among the 40 contributions were $300 from Kenneth Shafer, $200 each from William Ghilotti and John Cosmas, $125 from James Hadreas, and $100 each from Joseph Kane, Vincent Maggiora and Son, Sil Oliva and Mike Krekos.

William A. Gnoss, supervisor from North Marin, spent $450. Gnoss put up $240 himself and got $210 in contributions.

Jesse W. Carter, associate justice of the state Supreme Court, who was not opposed, got back into office without spending a cent on his campaign.

State Assemblyman Richard H. McCollister, who was also unopposed, reported his re-election cost him nothing at all.

The campaign statement of Virgil S. Hollis, superintendent of county schools, was not filed as yet this morning.

The penalty for not filling a statement is that the man cannot be sworn into office.

Fisherman Stranded On High Cliff Hauled To Safety

San Francisco fisherman Jack Rudolph Witt, 49, stuck on the face of a 100-foot cliff at McClure's Beach for about two hours last night, was hauled to safety by friends and a deputy sheriff.

Witt, a leather worker, was cold but unhurt.

Deputy Sheriff Arthur Leal said friends of Witt were trying to use a clothes line to haul him from his precarious perch 60 feet above the ocean on Pierce Point, across Tomales Bay from Dillon Beach. Witt, who had been abalone fishing, started to climb the cliff and reached a point where he could go neither up or down as darkness and fog closed in on him.

San Franciscans Robert Andrew Moore, Jack Leary and William Francis Killpack, aided by Leal and John McClure, hauled the victim over the cliff at 8:44 p.m. Witt was stuck on a cliff known as Elephant Rock at Pierce Point, on the peninsula that juts out between the Pacific Ocean and Tomales Bay.

County Fire Chief Charles Reilley and Fireman Ed Gearhart from the Woodacre firehouse aided in the rescue. Coast Guardsmen were also called to the scene.

Prison Honors Three Leaving Religious Staff

Three members of the religious staff at San Quentin Prison were honored at a farewell dinner last night.

The three, Rev. Leonard S. Weed, Rev. H. S. Rentfro and Herbert Friedrich, all have resigned from their prison positions.

Rev. Weed, Protestant chaplain, will minister to inmates in San Diego County honor camps, after a few weeks' vacation. He has been at San Quentin 10 years and worked as a correctional officer while studying at San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo.

Rev. Rentfro, San Anselmo Seventh-Day Adventist pastor, is retiring. He has been ministering to prison inmates on Sundays for 16 years and has also been active in the prison's religious study program.

Friedrich, a Christian Science reader, has assisted at the institution for five years.

The gathering of personnel and their wives was highlighted by farewell wishes from Warden Fred R. Dickson. Chaplain Byron Eshelman was in charge of the event.

No One Attends Merger Meeting

A public hearing on the proposed unification of Novato and San Jose School Districts was closed a few minutes after it was opened last night at Marion School, Novato, when no audience appeared.

Mrs. Helen E. Wallace, chairman-elect of the County Committee on School District Organization, expressed regret that the meeting was not attended.

Supt. William J. J. Smith of the Novato Unified School District, and Edwin L. Blackmore, administrative assistant to the county superintendent of schools, also present at the unattended hearing, said they expect a turnout at other hearings on the subject tomorrow at 8 p.m. at Lynwood School, Novato, and again Dec. 15 at 8 p.m. at Novato High School.

Rex Silvernale, vice chairman of the committee, will preside over those hearings.

Francisco. Gladu was to be arraigned today before a United States commissioner in Sacramento.

Gladu was employed until Dec. 1 as a janitor at the Marin County Hospital and Farm for the elderly indigent. He was a good worker, said Supt. Lloyd De La Montanya. At one time he was a bank teller in Canada. Before working for the county, he was a janitor at the San Rafael Military Academy from 1954 to 1956.

Last May 6 he quit his job at the county farm to get his money out of an employees' retirement fund. He returned to work on June 1.

In August, fellow workers at the county farm noticed that Gladu seemed to have a lot of money and was paying off debts. He was questioned about the Fairfax robbery but said he was in Pt. Reyes the day of the holdup. He was not picked out of a lineup by Fairfax bank employees.

Gladu at the time said he won the money at a poker game in Napa County.

Calistoga police said Gladu told them he held up the bank yesterday so he could get money for "a nice Christmas" for a Larkspur woman friend who has four children. According to county personnel records, Gladu is married but separated from his wife.

ASKED TO RETURN

De La Montanya said Gladu sent a wire from Santa Ana last week saying he wanted to return to work at the county farm. When he left he was getting a salary of $268 a month and lived on the premises, paying $43 a month for room and board.

Gladu never showed up, De La Montanya said. He got a telephone call from the Larkspur woman, who said Gladu left Marin again on Friday telling her he "had a job," De La Montanya said.

Calistoga Police Chief Ken Hively said Gladu told him one of his motives for yesterday's holdup was that he had overdrawn about $100 in his personal bank account.

Frank Foley, operator of the Wilkins Hotel in San Rafael where Gladu lived while he worked at San Rafael Military Academy, said he had cashed a check and signed a note for Gladu recently. "The guy clipped me," Foley said.

Gladu had also borrowed $10 from Alfred Barnes, a patient at the county hospital.

ed they had insufficient time to get the papers together.

Goldfine's tilt with the subcommittee here occured July 11 while the subcommittee was looking into the disposition of cases involving Goldfine companies by the Federal Trade Commission and the Securities and Exchange Commission.

The questions Goldfine refused to answer related to financial affairs of the Boston Port Development Co., in which he held the major interest.

In refusing to answer the questions, Goldfine claimed they were not pertinent to the investigation.

District court officials said Goldfine will be arraigned Friday.

Seven other Bay Area projects were up for consideration. They included loans for improving small craft facilities at Martinez, Pittsburgh, Redwood City, San Francisco, San Leandro, South San Francisco and Vallejo.

No other Marin projects have applied for the state aid. Bolinas Harbor District, which had considered using such a loan, has tentatively decided to try to finance the proposed improvements with local money.

Orthodox Deacon Dies At Service

Graveside services for Prokope Berdine, a deacon of St. Nicholas' Russian Orthodox Church of San Anselmo who suffered a fatal heart attack during the Sunday morning liturgy, were conducted by Rev. Boris Symeonoff this morning at Mt. Tamalpais Cemetery, San Rafael.

The 73-year-old Berdine made his home with Mr. and Mrs. Constantine Pope at 314 Jewell avenue, San Rafael. He came to the county two and one-half years ago from France. He was born in Russia.

He collapsed suddenly, falling to the floor of the church at 102 Ross avenue. Attempts to revive him by San Anselmo Fire Department's resuscitator squad failed and he was pronounced dead by Dr. John C. Siemens. The body was taken to the Chapel of the Hills.

He has no known survivor.

Board Votes To Hire Aide For Juvenile Hall

The board of supervisors today approved the hiring of an additional woman group supervisor at Juvenile Hall because of crowding of the facilities in Lucas Valley.

Probation Officer Walter H. Busher, in a letter to the board, pointed out that since July this year the daily population of the hall had increased from an average of 13.1 children to 27 children. Highest total was 34 children. The hall was designed to handle 20.

Busher said that since July, only two days had occupancy gone below 15 and that since Oct. 25, there have never been less than 20 children on any day.

DOUBLING UP

"When we are averaging 27 children," Busher said, "we are having to detain seven or eight adolescent boys in custody in the girls' wing along with whatever girls we have there. This involves doubling up of children in rooms, sleeping children on mattresses on the floor."

The crowding is "not so much from any undue increase in the admissions to Juvenile Hall, but due to the difficulty in getting children out of the hall into placements ordered by the juvenile court. As a result, more children are staying longer in custody."

10 GIRLS AT A TIME

He said that as many as 10 girls had been in the hall simultaneously and that it had been two months since there had been less than seven girls at any one time.

There has been only one woman on duty during the daytime, Busher said. The new woman is badly needed, he maintained. The supervisors agreed.

DON'T WORRY; 'TAINT SO — That portion of the plate on parking meters in San Rafael's new Fifth avenue-C street parking lot which says "5 cents per hour until 9 p.m. on Fridays" will be removed or obliterated, Public works Director Norris Rawles promised today. Somebody goofed, Rawles admitted—there's no meter charge after 6 p.m. (Independent-Journal photo)

Parking's Free In New Lots After 6 O'Clock

San Rafael shoppers who park their cars in the three new offstreet parking lots do not have to put in coins after 6 p.m., although the sign on the meter says the meters must be fed until 9 o'clock on Friday nights.

It was all a misunderstanding, City Manager Dan E. Andersen explained yesterday. Fourth street businessman Francis Fogarty pointed out that many customers were confused by the sign that says coins must be put in until 9 p.m. on Fridays.

Councilmen Joseph Sauer and Louis H. Baar, members of the city parking committee, said they had never heard of such a ruling. They asked the city manager to correct the sign.

The city manager issued this clarification: Regardless of what the meters say, you don't have to put money in the meters after 6 p.m. In other words, feeding of meters in the new parking lots will be exactly the same as on city streets.

4 CHILDREN INVOLVED

Request Results In School Redistricting

The boundaries of a Sonoma County school district may be revised to make it a joint district, and the line between two North Marin districts redrawn, so that four ranch children can attend schools nearer their homes.

This was the upshot of discussions at last night's meeting of the Marin County Board of Education.

Involved are Kirk and Elizabeth Hay, children of Mr. and Mrs. Richard B. Hay, and Perry and Mary Moore, children of Mr. and Mrs. Max Moore. Both families live on ranches on Chileno Valley road.

The four children attend Two Rock School in Sonoma County. But Tomales Union Elementary School District trustees refused to approve an inter-district agreement so that Two Rock School District could collect state funds for the children.

Although Two Rock School is much closer to the two ranch homes than is Tomales School —about two miles instead of six miles—the Tomales board pointed out that bus transportation is available to Tomales.

At its meeting last night in San Rafael, the county board overruled the Tomales board to approve inter-district agreements permitting the Hay and Moore children to continue at Two Rock School. But it went further.

The board authorized E. Warren McGuire, assistant county counsel, to start proceedings to redraw the boundary lines of several school districts to straighten out the tangle.

First, the Hay ranch will be placed in Laguna Joint School District, another North Marin district, instead of Tomales. The ranch borders the Laguna district.

Laguna district children attend Kenilworth Junior High High School in Petaluma and Petaluma High School. And the district board has no objection to an inter-district agreement to allow the Hay children to attend Two Rock elementary school, according to County Supt. Richard L. Foster.

Next, the 144-acre Moore ranch, which now lies partly in three school districts, will be annexed to Two Rock District. This will transform Two Rock from a union school district to a joint school district (under California's complicated school district law, a joint district is one which crosses county lines). This will eliminate the complication for the Moore children.

Of Moore's 144 acres, all but 34 acres are in Sonoma County. But the house is in Marin County — in Tomales Elementary School District. Part of the Sonoma portion of the ranch is in Two Rock District, and part in Bloomfield District.

Strawberry Land Owners Elect

Forrest Randolph, wholesale meat broker, last night was named president of the Strawberry Property Owners Assn., succeeding Clifford W. (Bill) Young. Randolph lives at 309 East Strawberry drive.

Ralph Cain of Trailorboat Engineering Co., was elected vice president. Col. W. E. Long and James L. Clark were re-elected secretary and treasurer, respectively.

Long announced the property owners will again sponsor an outdoor Christmas tree decoration contest, with details to be announced later.

Disaster Station Goes Into Operation Dec. 17

Sausalito School District trustees were informed by City Manager Donald A. Duerr last night that the city plans to put its portable first aid and fire-fighting station at the Richardson Bay School annex into operation Dec. 17.

The disaster station, made available by the state, is designed to offer aid in case of enemy attack or community disaster.

The board announced that Mrs. Shirley Krikorian, second grade teacher at Central School, had been selected to lead a two-week phonics workshop at Monmouth College in Illinois next summer.

Times were set for school Christmas programs. They are: Richardson Bay, Dec. 17 at 7:30 p.m.; Marin City and Bayside, Dec. 18 at 1 p.m., and Central, Dec. 19 at 10 a.m.

Trustees tabled a letter from the Marin County Labor Council suggesting that the board adopt a policy which would not restrict teacher employment outside of school hours. Present policy does not interfere with teacher employment outside of school hours, the trustees noted.

Traffic Unit Opposes B Street Compromise Parking System

San Rafael's B street businessman Andrew Pedroli presented a "compromise solution" for parking on B street yesterday afternoon, then stormed out of the meeting when the city's three-man traffic committee stuck to its original stand of keeping parallel parking on both sides of the street.

Pedroli said he and other businessmen would agree to keeping parallel parking on one side of B street if the city would switch back to diagonal parking on the other side.

But the city traffic committee, composed of City Manager Dan E. Andersen, Police Chief Frank Kelly and Public Works Supt. Norris Rawles, said the half-and-half plan (one side diagonal and the other parallel) would still not provide the required 24 feet of freeway in the middle where two cars could safely pass each other.

Chairman Joseph F. Sauer asked the traffic committee to diagram the half-and-half plan, with 30-degree diagonal parking instead of 45 degrees to see exactly how much space would be left in the center of B street.

No date was set for the next meeting.

Harry Albert and Pedroli led the group of businessmen protesting the parallel parking, pointing out that many parking spaces were lost in the switch to parallel. More important, they said, customers are being lost because drivers, especially women, cannot park parallel and are thus being chased away from the street.

At least 90 per cent of B street merchants oppose parallel parking, Pedroli declared. Reports from Mayor John F. McInnis and Councilman Sauer that people are expressing themselves about 10 to 1 in favor of parallel parking are not true, Pedroli charged.

Sauer, Councilman Louis H. Baar and Fourth street businessmen Robert Batty and Francis Fogarty said they are in favor of giving parallel parking a fair trial on B street.

"We've already given it a fair trial," said Pedroli. "Every day we see people try to park and then drive off. Ninety-nine per cent of the merchants on B street are against it."

Pedroli warned that if diagonal parking is not restored to at least one side of B street, the merchants will probably appear in force at the next city council meeting and "blow off the roof."

Albert asked for a concrete report on how diagonal on one side and parallel on the other would work. He agreed with Pedroli that this would be the best compromise solution.

Bid Opening Set For Mt. Tam Firehouse

Bids will be opened Jan. 6 for construction of a new county firehouse on the slopes of Mt. Tamalpais.

Detailed drawings on the structure, which will be able to house three fire trucks and some firemen, were presented to the board of supervisors today by architect Henry Schubart.

Schubart estimated the building would cost $39,500 if completed entirely under contract. However, he said the bid price might be in the neighborhood of $33,000 if firemen completed the inside finishing of all the rooms except the kitchen and bathroom.

The building will have, besides the garage space, quarters for the man in charge of the station and a small dormitory for two or three firemen. It will also have a day room and a duty room, which will have a corner window giving the man on duty a sweeping view of the slopes of the mountain.

It will be built on about an acre of ground a short distance up the fire trail from the Mountain Home Restaurant on Panoramic highway.

The supervisors also gave County Fire Chief Charles Reilley permission to start testing for water on a proposed firehouse site in Hicks Valley at the intersection of the Pt. Reyes-Petaluma and Chileno Valley roads.

San Rafael PG&E Official Gets Promotion, Transfer

Lyle W. Smith of San Rafael, general services manager for Pacific Gas and Electric Co.'s North Bay Division, has been promoted to manager of PG&E's Vallejo-Napa District, division manager E. S. Day announced today.

Smith will succeed district manager Louis N. Pechette of Vallejo, who retires Jan. 1.

The Vallejo-Napa District includes Napa County and the Vallejo, Benicia and Cordelia areas of Solano County.

A native of Albany, Ore., Smith attended Oregon schools and was graduated from Oregon State College at Corvallis.

From 1929 to 1934 he taught agriculture at Fortuna Union High School in Humboldt County. After a year as head of the agriculture department at Arcata Union High School in 1934-35, Smith joined Southern California Edison Co. as an agricultural specialist. He became a power salesman and sales supervisor, and in 1944 joined PG&E as an industrial power engineer at San Rafael. He was promoted to field supervisor, to commercial and industrial sales supervisor and, in November, 1956, to general services manager for the North Bay Division.

Smith also has achieved status as a registered electrical engineer by passing a California examination.

He has been active in farm organizations, Boy Scout work, the San Rafael Chamber of Commerce and the California Chamber of Commerce.

Smith was married in 1932 to Mary Alice Degnan. The Smiths' daughter, Carol Lee, 21, attends Dominican College in San Rafael.

Now residents of San Rafael at 19 Curtis avenue, the Smiths will move to Vallejo.

Novato To Get Contemporary Furniture Store

A new contemporary-modern furniture store will open on Novato's Grant avenue about Jan. 15, it was announced today by Richard A. Gronberg, proprietor of Johnson's Red Barn, which specializes in colonial furniture at 857 Grant avenue.

The new store, to be across the street from the Red Barn at 828 Grant, will occupy the building formerly housing the Novato Variety Store and now being used temporarily by Rayburn's Grocery Store.

Redecorating of the building will begin when Rayburn's Grocery moves into new quarters being completed at 850 Grant avenue.

Eugene Williams, assistant manager at the Red Barn, also will assist at Johnson's new store.

Gronberg opened the Red Barn in September of 1957, two months after his Johnson's Furniture Store in San Rafael was leveled in the disastrous Fourth street fire of July 29.

Performance Of 'Messiah' Set Tonight

Cary Smith of Mill Valley will be bass soloist at the annual performance of "The Messiah" at 8 o'clock tonight in the gymnasium of San Francisco Theological Seminary, San Anselmo.

This will be Smith's first solo performance in Marin County. He is a new member of the Marin Chorale, which unites with the Seminary A Cappello Choir in singing the traditional Christmas music again this Yule season.

Oroginally from Washington, D.C., Smith was formerly stationed with the Air Force on Mt, Tamalpais. He liked Marin County so much that he moved his wife and two children to California. Now a student at San Francisco State College, where he is studying music under Rue Knapp. Smith has studied in the past at American University, Washington, D.C. While in that city he was a member of the Washington Opera Society and the National Episcopal Cathedral Choir. He is a member of the Mill Valley Light Opera Company and soloist with St. John's Episcopal Church in Ross.

Other soloists in "The Messiah" will be Marion Swartz, soprano; Eleanor Clemmons, contralto and Robert Bruce, tenor. Carolyn Witt and Wilbur F. Russell will be accompanists.

Tonight's performance, again under direction of Dr. John Milton Kelly, will be the 22nd annual presentation of the Handel oratorio at the San Anselmo college.

For Fourth Time, Vehicle Hits House

BERKELEY (AP) — There is some hazard in living at 900 Marin avenue, Berkeley.

It's the home of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Rygh. Yesterday, for the fourth time in eight years, a run-away motor vehicle hit their house.

This time it was a 12-ton garbage truck.

The truck had just turned into the extremely steep street when its brakes failed. Quickly gathering momentum, the truck rolled 130 feet down the hill before the driver veered it over the curb, clipped the front porch and rammed into the heavy brick fireplace.

Mrs. Rygh, 54, talking to a friend on the telephone at the time, exclaimed "That's an earthquake!"

The truck overturned after hitting the house. Its load of garbage was strewn over the Rygh lawn and the street.

Russel Badies, 39, of Oakland, driver of the truck, and his brother Nealon, 37, of Berkeley, escaped with minor injuries. A third man on the truck, Prince A. Davis, 33, of Berkeley, jumped off earlier and was unhurt.

Damage to the home and truck was estimated by police at about $5,000.

During the Boer War, Britain sent many of its prisoners to a big detention camp on Bermuda.

ACLU Plans Reception For Clem Miller

Clement W. Miller, 1st District congressman-elect, and his wife, Katherine, will be honored by the Marin Chapter, American Civil Liberties Union, Friday at 8:15 p.m. at a public reception in the Outdoor Art Club, Mill Valley.

Miller, a Corte Madera resident, will speak on "Congressional Committees and Civil Liberties," reviewing the investigating powers of such committees and telling how far these powers can extend before infringing on the rights of private citizens.

Miller served on the ACLU's Marin board in 1955 as vice chairman in charge of education.

Mill Valley Trustees Discuss Class Sizes

Rescheduling of classes in the Mill Valley School District might correct some weaknesses in the bus operations but would not solve problems of class size, Leo B. Edson, principal of Park School, told last night's meeting of the district trustees.

It was the first of three meetings scheduled by the board to discuss the problems of class size.

Edson's report traced the history of bus transportation problems from 1953, showing that the present 1,002 pupils carried represented a 40 per cent increase in that period; the 73,500 miles traveled is a 23 per cent increase, and that the $29,500 expense was up 20 per cent.

In the same period, Edson's report showed, the transportation cost per pupil dropped 9 per cent from $36.08 to $29.44.

The trustees reached no conclusion on changing times for classes to start and finish.

"There is a positive correlation between equalization of class size by transportation and an inefficient bus transportation program," Edson declared.

Supt. G. R. McConnell said trustees may decide at their Jan. 12 meeting whether to call again for a vote on a bond issue for more classrooms to alleviate the class size problem.

Soviet Police Boss Relieved Of Post

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union's top policeman, Gen. Ivan A. Serov, has been relieved of his job. The announcement in the Soviet government newspaper Izvestia today said he had been transferred to other duties but gave no hint of what they were.

Serov's successor as chairman of the Committee for State Security also was not announced.

IVAN A. SEROV
To more important job?

HIGHER JOB?

Most foreign observers in Moscow believed Serov may perhaps have been given an even more important job. He has long been a friend and close associate of Nikita S. Khrushchev, who heads both the government and the Communist Party.

Some Western experts on Soviet affairs believed Serov had been demoted because the Izvestia announcement did not give his new post, the customary precedure when a Kremlin official is promoted.

WELL KNOWN

Serov, a 53-year-old army general, had become well known abroad in recent years for being in charge of security arrangements on Premier Nikita Khrushchev's trips. He was widely known earlier for directing the plan to liquidate anti-Communist elements in the Baltic countries in 1940.

Serov was last seen by Western correspondents at a Kremlin reception Nov. 10 for Wladyslaw Gomulka, head of the Polish Communist Party. A slight, ruddy-faced man with penetrating blue eyes, he was usually friendly and informal in public, chatting freely with foreign diplomats and newsmen at receptions.

After having been closely identified with Soviet security organs almost from the beginning of his career, Serov got some of the powers of Lavrenty Beria after Stalin's police chief was executed in 1953. He formally took command of the committee which is the supreme Soviet police organ in April 1954.

Serov was one of the numerous officials now in top Soviet ranks who worked with Khrushchev when the present premier was Communist Party boss in the Ukraine during World War II. Serov was head of state security in that southwestern Soviet republic.

Ike Gets Secret Nikita Message Via Humphrey

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn.) today gave President Eisenhower a confidential message from Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev dealing with Russian nuclear explosions.

Humphrey, just back from Moscow, also told Eisenhower about secret Soviet developments in the field of rockets.

The senator gave the President an 80-minute oral report on the eight-hour conference he had with Khrushchev.

TWO SECRETS

Afterward, Humphrey told newsmen his report to Eisenhower regarding Soviet nuclear explosions and developments in the rocket field are the two secrets which he had stated earlier Khrushchev had told him.

He added that the Soviet premier had asked him specifically to pass on to Eisenhower the information dealing with Russian nuclear explosions.

Humphrey said Khrushchev also asked him to pass on to the President some suggestions dealing with the Berlin crisis. The senator said he personally regarded those suggestions as unacceptable to the Western powers.

MUM ON DETAILS

Humphrey declined to provide any details regarding the information he passed on to Eisenhower. He said it is up to the administration to decide whether the American public should be informed.

Humphrey has gained wide publicity from his conference in Moscow with Khrushchev and other Soviet leaders, and from the news conferences he has held since then in Moscow, London, New York and Washington.

His hopes for the 1960 Democratic presidential nomination aren't hurt, either, by the invitation to confer with the President on grave international matters.

U.N. DELEGATE

Eisenhower gave the 47-year-old senator a chance to show himself in international affairs as a delegate to the United Nations last year. But he has not previously been in the top echelon of congressional Democrats consistently consulted by the administration.

"I don't think we're going to make any progress politically with the Soviets for a long time," Humphrey told a news conference yesterday. "No great political decisions are in the offing."

If fire breaks out, Wilda is to use the rope as a fire escape from her second story classroom. Her mother, Mrs. W. F. Hyman, apparently disturbed over the recent disastrous Chicago school fire, said she had Wilda pack the rope to emphasize importance of fire safety factors. (AP Wirephoto)

It Must Be Christmas!

BETHLEHEM, Conn. (UPI) — The postmaster of Bethlehem needed no reminder today that Christmas is drawing near.

Cards from throughout the Christian world have started pouring into the Bethlehem post office for remailing.

By the time Postmaster Earl S. Johnson and his helpers close up shop on Christmas Day, they expect to handle about 250,000 pieces of mail.

5th French Republic Comes Into Being

PARIS (UPI)—The newly elected National Assembly convenes here today, marking the first official function of the Fifth French Republic. Premier Charles de Gaulle was to deliver an address.

The new Assembly was to open with all the pomp of the old, including the beating of the drums by the Republican Guardsmen as the temporary speaker strides through the corridors to take his seat.

But it lacked the political power of the Fourth Repubic Assembly, being forced to take its cue from De Gaulle, who was expected to announce Thursday his candidacy for president of the new republic in the electoral college vote Dec. 21.

ELECTION AHEAD

The Assembly today was to elect a speaker and assign Assembly benches on the right, left and center to the various party blocs.

Most of the new deputies have accepted the fact that under the new constitution the Assembly will be second to de Gaulle, but the representatives from Algeria have shown signs of parliamentary friskiness.

They threatened yesterday to resign their Assembly seats unless de Gaulle endorses their policy of French-Algerian integration by next July—a policy he has shown no indications of adopting.

REDS REDUCED

The Communists, who often disrupted proceedings in previous National Assemblies, were reduced to only 10 in the new chamber. However, they were expected to be quite vociferous in their opposition to deGaulle's programs.

The new Assembly is different from the old in that it no longer has the exclusive power to initiate laws—this power may be delegated to the premier.

Germany Campus Called Success By Stanfordites

STUTTGART, Germany (AP)—Stanford University in Germany is a success say its 63 American students as the first European branch of the California school nears the end of its first half year.

The students have been studying languages and culture at the Stanford center in the nearby village of Beutelsbach.

"They have achieved outstanding results in their studies," said Prof. F. W. Strothmann, head of the center. It opened in June.

"Stanford in Germany is no longer an experiment but a permanent enrichment of our university," Strothmann added. He is executive head of Stanford's Modern European language department.

The students visited art centers in Rome and took a one-week trip to Berlin during the session. They will return to the United States soon and another group is expected to arrive late this month.

Strothmann said another Stanford branch probably will open in Florence, Italy. He didn't say when.

HUGE? YOU TOO CAN BE AN AF CADET

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., (AP) — There never has been an Air Force Academy cadet who stands 6 feet 6, weighs 239 pounds, and wears glasses. But there may be in the future.

The academy announced yesterday it is relaxing its physical standards for admission.

The academy has increased cadet height limits from 6 feet 4 to 6 feet 6, and weight from 226 pounds to 239 pounds.

Applicants also may be accepted with distant and near vision in both eyes of 20-50, correctible to 20-20 with moderate refractive error, and with minor defects of color vision. Failure to pass depth perception tests no longer will disqualify an applicant.

Man Jailed On Charge Of Writing Bad Check

Mill Valley police arrested James Leonard Liles, 38, also known as James Morris, in Petaluma Saturday and booked him at the county jail on a charge of writing a $19.50 bad check to the Brothers Tavern in Mill Valley. The arrest was made by Officer Dan Terzich.

Liles was also booked on a charge of failure to support minor children on a warrant from Ukiah.

Alabama Vote Probe Runs Into Wall Of Silence

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI)—A southern member of the federal Civil Rights Commission has cautioned reluctant witnesses to testify on voter registration in Alabama or face possible punitive legislation by the next Congress.

The warning came when registrars and other local officials in six Alabama counties refused a direct order by Commission Chairman Robert G. Storey yesterday to take the stand and answer questions.

Ostensibly they acted on the advice of Gov.-elect John Patterson, one of the officials who greeted the opening of the commission's Alabama hearing with bristling resistance.

This brought a call from the southerner on the commission, former Virginia Gov. John S. Battle, for cooperation in the current hearing.

'ALL FRIENDLINESS'

Speaking "in all friendliness" Battle then warned that "the majority of the next Congress will not be friendly to the South and punitive legislation may be passed . . . this hearing may be used in the advocacy of that legislation which will be adverse to us in Virginia and to us in Alabama."

The hearings here are the first conducted by the seven-member commission created by Congress in 1957.

Geneva Conferees Eye Details Of Test Ban

GENEVA (AP)—East and West turned today to the details of a control system to police a world ban on nuclear weapon tests.

The Soviet Union accepted controls in principle last night but proposed that big power agreement be required to run the control system, thus giving each nation a veto. The United States and Britain insist that the system must be veto-free to be effective.

Western and Soviet delegates to the secret three-power talks approved the second article of a draft treaty authorizing a control organization in general terms and obligating the signers to cooperate with it.

The first article, approved Saturday, obligates signers to suspend nuclear tests.

The articles will become effective only when a complete treaty is approved. The West wants the treaty or an annex to spell out in detail how an independent control system will work to prevent later hamstringing by one power.

Losing Candidate's Backers Riot In Venezuela's Capital

CARACAS, Venezuela (UPI)—Demonstrators favoring Communist-supported Rear Adm. Wolfgang Larrazabal ran riot in the streets here last night, protesting his defeat in Sunday's presidential election by Romulo Betancourt.

Gangs of unruly teenagers circulated through central Caracas, tearing down Betancourt campaign posters and breaking into and looting homes that displayed them. One group wrecked the headquarters of Betancourt's Democratic Action Party in suburban San Augustin.

Police used tear gas to break up a mob of about 1,000 youths in El Silencio Square and another gang that stoned police patrols in the nearby Santa Teresa district. No casualties were reported.

Groups of demonstrators stood on street corners, shouting "Long live Larrazabal!" "Long live the URD!" "Long live the Communist Party!"

Police and troops stood guard at Venezuela's "White House" and at the Capitol, where the supreme electoral council was overseeing the vote count.

At an early hour today, Larrazabal had neither conceded defeat nor had Betancourt formally claimed victory. Both men left it up to the electoral council to announce a winner.

Nearly complete returns gave Betancourt 1,045,607 votes to 832,813 for Larrazabal and 360,736 for Catholic candidate Rafael Caldera. Electoral officials said there was "only the slightest chance" that the votes still outstanding could affect the outcome.

Matson To Sell Hawaii Hotels To Sheraton

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Matson Navigation Co. is getting out of the hotel business after 30 years of playing host to passengers from its luxury liners and other travelers in Hawaii.

Directors voted approval yesterday of a contract for operation and ultimate purchase of the firm's four swank Honolulu hotels by the Sheraton Corp. of America, Boston. The price is 18 million dollars in cash.

The hotels are the Royal Hawaiian, Moana, Surfrider and the new Princess Kaiulani, all in the Waikiki Beach area.

Randolph Sevier, Matson president, said in a statement that the company is getting out of the hotel business "to concentrate more fully on its passenger and freight operations to Hawaii and other areas of the Pacific."

Water Amendment Passes Committee, Still Faces Fight

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A proposed constitutional amendment designed to end California's sectional water fight went to the printer today, but it still had a long, hard road to travel.

Several members of the joint Legislative Committee on Water Problems attacked the measure yesterday and the committee accepted the draft only "for the purpose of getting it into print."

Sen. James A. Cobey (D-Merced) asserted that the amendment would mean an abdication of the Legislature's power to the governor in that the state Water Resources Department would designate the projects to be built.

Assemblyman Bruce F. Allen (R-Los Gatos) urged members of the committee to "think a long time before turning this power over to the administration."

Under the proposed amendment, the Legislature would keep control of the purse strings and veto power over projects, but the details of state water development would be left up to the Water Resources Department.

The amendment also would set up a huge California water fund, taking what's left of the investment fund plus a 500-million-dollar bond issue, income from water projects and two and one-half million dollars a month from the general fund.

Cobey said he opposes "the whole theory," and that the amendment would favor the more populous areas.

Turning water policy over to the department would break up the existing balance of power in the Legislature, he said.

Sen. Alan Short (D-Stockton) answered, "Balance of power adds up to only one word—stalemate."

The two northerners referred to the north's control of the Senate and the south's dominance in the Assembly.

The south, with most of the population, has held out for ironclad guarantees of water before authorizing water projects in the north, which has most of the water.

50-Year Pin For NSGW Member

Warren (Hap) Gallagher of Sausalito, a half-century member of Sausalito's Sea Point Parlor 158, Native Sons of the Golden West, will receive a 50-year pin at the parlor's annual dinner-dance Saturday evening at the IDESST Hall in Sausalito.

Presenting officer will be Raymond H. Shone of San Rafael, grand president of the lodge, according to Manuel E. Silva, chairman of the event. He will also present 25-year pins to Silva, Fred Schmidt and Grido Guio.

The festivities will open with a cocktail party, followed by dinner and dancing.

Cargo-Carrying Missile Fired In First Successful Flight

SAN DIEGO (UPI)—The first successful firing of the Lobber, a new supersonic ballistic cargo missile, was announced late last night by J. V. Naish, president of Convair division of General Dynamics Corp.

The new missile, which could revolutionize the transportation industry and add a vital new element to America's fighting machine, carried a 50-pound payload intact over a six-mile desert range at Camp Irwin, about 100 miles northeast of here.

Naish said Convair already was studying plans for larger Lobber-type missiles which would be capable of transporting men as well as large stores of fuel and munitions.

Naish said the Lobber was a nine-foot solid propellant missile which soared through the air at speeds up to 1,500 miles an hour and was capable of readily supplying troops with ammunition, food, medical and other emergency supplies.

Firm Unveils Tilt Wing Transport

MOFFETT NAVAL AIR STATION (UPI)—An experimental transport plane, with a revolutionary tilt wing for vertical takeoffs and landings, was unveiled yesterday by Hiller Aircraft Corp.

The 16½ ton twin-engine craft, designated the X18 "Propelloplane" by the Air Force, is scheduled for its first flight in April, 1959.

The X18 combines the vertical ascending, descending and hovering characteristics of a helicopter with the inflight capabilities of a conventional aircraft, according to a spokesman for Hiller.

The Palo Alto firm is primarily a helicopter manufacturer.

The transport utilizes twin Allison turboprop engines developing a total equivalent of 11,070 shaft horsepower with counterrotating blades and a J34 Westinghouse turbojet in the after portion of the fuselage.

Hiller engineers demonstrated the revolutionary wing, which tilts from conventional position to nearly 90 degrees. With the wing in the maximum position, the aircraft will rise vertically with full load.

General specifications: Wingspan 48 feet (60 feet with extensions), length 63 feet, height 24 feet, 8 inches. Performance and payload data were not disclosed.

Bridges Reported Planning To Wed Nisei Secretary

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—West Coast longshore leader Harry Bridges left for Reno yesterday to marry a San Francisco legal secretary, the Chronicle said today.

She is Noriko Sawada, a pretty Nisei in her early 30s.

Bridges, 58-year-old head of the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union, has been married twice before.

Miss Sawada was born in Los Angeles and attended schools there. The daughter of Santa Ana truck gardeners, now dead, she was sent to a Nisei relocation center in Arizona along with others of Japanese descent during World War II. She moved to San Francisco after the war.

San Rafael Has Parking By Christmas As Promised

Parking in San Rafael by Christmas! That was the promise the San Rafael city council made to the people of Marin.

And last weekend the third downtown municipal parking lot opened to complete the present parking proposal. There are 234 new metered parking spaces available for shoppers in the city.

This is not small accomplishment. The council deserves commendations and accolades from both the public and the city's merchants for providing them.

On the other hand, in our enthusiasm, we must remember that we have gotten only a part of the actual need. Our three new lots are a good step in the right direction. but it is only a step, not the ultimate.

For example, back in 1954, a Mayor's Committee studied San Rafael's parking problem. Four years ago, almost to the day, the committee said that at that time two lots should be developed with 271 spaces.

Then in the Fall of 1956, the second Mayor's Committee proposed four lots, with 430 spaces, as being needed and practical. It was this proposal, amended and adjusted, which has ultimately resulted in today's 234 new spaces.

And even all of these spaces are not brand new. The largest of the lots, at Third Street and Lootens Place, had been a private parking lot. Many of these spaces, however, had been rented by the month for all-day parkers and so were not available for shoppers or visitors in San Rafael.

This day-long parking brings up another problem. Although the lots have been open only a few days, some gloom dispensers already are saying, "they'll never fill up. What we should do is mark some of the spaces for all-day parkers."

Back in 1950, when the city's parking master plan was a major issue, they were talking in terms of nearly a thousand parking spaces. With the county and city grown tremendously since that time, we now have 234 new spaces.

We are sure the city council won't be bums-rushed into some action now without actual experience figures to go on. Our new parking lots are in and operating. They are available for the Christmas shoppers, who we are sure will fill them to capacity. After Christmas, we shall get a better idea of their normal use.

Filled parking lots are no more useful to a shopper looking for a place for his car than filled curbsides. Filled parking lots mean only that more lots are needed.

The council is alert to the problem and, we are sure, will watch with a critical eye how the new facilities work out and what is needed next.

ARE YOU STARVING YOURSELF!

Vitamin deficiency may be widespread among older residents of Winnipeg, Canada, according to a study of their food habits.

About 100 persons over 70 years old were asked to keep track of the food they ate each day. From the information secured, it was found that despite the quantity of food they consumed daily, they were not getting the necessary vitamins and proteins.

Many of us, no doubt, short-change ourselves by not providing our bodies with the necessary food required for good health. Our inclination is to eat what we like rather than what is good for us.

We can cheat ourselves to an even greater degree by not giving our souls proper spiritual nourishment.

Take care to provide the spiritual vitamins needed to sustain the life of the spirit.

Be objective about both your physical and spiritual requirements and you will lead a well-balanced life. Don't starve either your body or soul.

Film Writers, An Honored Breed, Once Were Afraid Of Best Hotels

NEW YORK (AP) — The writer is no longer low man on the Hollywood totem pole.

"In the old days a writer was kind of like a guy in uniform before Pearl Harbor," said Daniel Taradash. "He was afraid to go into the best hotels.

"But now he is a person of importance in the industry. Everybody at the moment is paying him lip service. Production heads are getting the idea that writers can do more than just sit at a typewriter. Their advice is sought."

Taradash, who now also directs and produces films, is currently one of the highest paid writers in the field.

He can demand and get a "big chunk more than $100,000" for writing a picture, plus a share of the profits.

Taradash, a Harvard law graduate, rang the bell in 1938 in his first assignment in Hollywood as co-author of the script for "Golden Boy."

Dan, a pleasant-faced man of 45 with thinning hair, made movie history when he insisted on getting a percentage of the profits for adapting "From Here to Eternity," a script that won him an Oscar.

A slow and painstaking craftsman, Taradash has turned out only about a dozen movies in 20 years. He takes from six months to a year to finish a script.

"DURING THE PERCOLATING period I may sit for two or three weeks and not write a line," he said. "In the old Hollywood days that would have been unthinkable.

"A writer then was supposed to write — not think."

"I also have another unusual clause in my contract — that they can't see the script at all until I complete it, unless I choose to let them," he said.

"YOU CAN GET MURDERED if you let a producer have a third of the script, while you're still working on the rest. He can start picking it to pieces. Writers can easily be confused, bulldozed and talked out of an idea."

Taradash doesn't share the idea that Hollywood stifles creative talent, and that a man is only as good as his last picture.

"It's an optimistic place," he said. "They like success and like to remember it. Your flops and the stumbling blocks of your career they tend to overlook and forget.

"That attitude is one of the pleasantest things about Hollywood."

10 YEARS AGO

San Rafael joined other Marin cities in an effort to stamp out the rat menace. The city council appropriated $100 for rat bait, which was to be made available to residents for use on their property.

20 YEARS AGO

Pacific Greyhound Lines offered to pay $50,000 a year in advance to the Golden Gate Bridge as a flat toll for operating trans-bridge bus commuter service to North Bay cities. The company based its estimate on four million passengers and 75,000 bus crossings each year.

Hail Ye Editor! Master Of Masters

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

Re your editorial dated Tuesday, Dec. 2, I just cannot refrain from dropping a thought or two.

Of course the people are stupid. They have no idea of what right or wrong is. They should not be allowed to vote. In fact, "they might elect the town drunk" as was stated openly in a Corte Madera council meeting by one of the elected councilmen.

People have no right to vote the way they please. Just who do they think they are? Americans? Where do they think they are? In U.S.A.? That just shows how stupid they, the people, are. This is why we must have an end to letting them vote. You and I know, Old Ed, that this has got to stop. If the schools' empire wants bigger and better buildings, we gotta see that they get 'em. This refusal of the people to vote them more bond indebtedness has got to stop. We just have to figure a way to get around the people. What if they are getting damned tired of the waste of tax money? As said above, "Just who do they think they are"?

The beautiful picture in your newspaper of Dec. 3 showing that magnificent gymnasium, which you captioned "Redwood High Boasts Snazzy Gym" is an example of how we should treat these groveling characters, the taxpaper. Once we get our empire built we can expand and then expand some more and neither hell nor high water shall stop us.

If we can't talk the dopes into voting more bonded indebtedness upon themselves, we will take care of it some other way, just like you say in your editorial. Gee, you are sure a smart fellow! If the rabble refuse to pass the bonds you got it figured that we can get them some other way. Gee, boss, I'm glad to be on your side.

Some folks say that you have lost touch with the common folks in Marin County; that you're getting too big for your britches. Well, boss, don't you let such talk bother you. This is only the rabble talking; unorganized and drifting. They always fight amongst themselves even if they try to organize. If this does not happen and they do seem to be getting organized, a few wisely put and properly placed innuendos by you will accomplish the break-up.

Some say that people vote against the bonds as a protest to the wild spending of the brass of the empires. They say that this is the American Way of showing the elected officials of their disapproval of things done by the officials. Pooh! We can handle this, can't we? There is more than one way of skinning a cat!...

Hail Ye Editor! Let us make a toast to the day that we make you our Master of Masters! Then we will have no more of this stupid voting by a stupid people. You can better select the local bosses and judges over them than they can for themselves. We will take care of them from the cradle to the grave. They will worry no more. They will be happy and no more tears.

Oh, how fortunate we are to have you, Old Ed.

Will St. Patrick Come Down Flue

EDITOR,

Heard "Green Christmas" today. Hooray for Stan Freberg. Each year I feel a little sadder because Christmas comes sooner and sooner.

Cross Should Not Be Used For Tree

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

I was deeply shocked when I first learned that San Rafael was planning on trimming our hill-top cross with Christmas lights, changing our cross to a tree.

I love Christmas and all it stands for. My children look forward to Santa Claus and their tree and presents.

But aren't we forgetting that Christmas is Christ's birthday? True this does not follow in all faiths but I think we all feel that the cross is a symbol at Christmas time as well as the children's favorite — the gaily trimmed tree.

Could we not therefore make room on top of our San Rafael hill for both and not make our cross take a "back seat" for the happy holy season?

Novato Firemen Find Real Pair Of Muscular Dystrophy Workers

Members of Novato Volunteer Firemen's Assn. last week conducted their annual North Marin Campaign for funds to continue the battle against muscular dystrophy, a crippling and often fatal disease of children. As usual, one of the association's most dedicated campaigners was Sam Marzell.

On his third night out, Fireman Sam thought he'd completed his canvass of Lambert way in Novato when he spotted lights burning in the last house on the block. It was some distance away, and Sam, footsore and weary, debated whether to make the long walk.

Never a quitter, he trudged out there and rapped on the door. After making his usual pitch for a contribution, he was flabbergasted when the couple who answered his knock said, "Come in, come in. We were looking for you last night. Where have you been?"

Marzell entered and was offered a cup of steaming hot coffee by the couple, Mr. and Mrs. Stan Young.

"Then," as Marzell tells it, "This fellow put some money in the muscular dystrophy bag. I didn't see how much, but I figured it was a buck or two. Then he placed something else in the bag. It was so heavy it pushed my hand down. I said, 'What have you got in there, some kind of food?' "

The "food" turned out to be an instant coffee jar filled to the brim with pennies.

"We've been saving them for a year," Young told Marzell, "and we've already got a jar started for next year."

Sam will be telling that story for months. He and his fellow volunteers found most North Marin residents responsive to the campaign, but nothing touched them quite so much as the Youngs' double contribution.

"I enjoy making these annual rounds," Marzell says, "because I know I'm doing it for the children's sake. I figure we're walking for those who can't walk, and I'm thankful God gave me the legs to do it."

Incidentally, Marzell was surprised at the number of young people who contributed to this year's drive. One night he ran into a couple of newspaper boys, one of whom kicked in a quarter and the other 50 cents without being asked to give a penny.

Novato Fire Chief George Cavallero, county chairman of the 1958 muscular dystrophy campaign, said the volunteer firemen covered as much of North Marin as possible last week with a limited number of canvassers. But some districts were missed, he said, and anyone still wishing to contribute may do so at the Novato firehouse.

Mexico A Haven For Communists Preparing To Persecute Others

MEXICO CITY — Foreign Communists continue to find Mexico an easy and valuable base from which to operate—and they are operating on a large scale today.

Mexico provides not only a welcome haven when things get too hot at home—there are at least 100 Communist families from the United States here right now—but also a strategic spot from which to mount subversive activities throughout the Western Hemisphere.

For years the Mexican government has given safe harbor for foreign Communists—as well as revolutionists of the extreme right—on the theory that it was applying the respected and humane concept of asylum for those suffering political persecution.

MEXICAN LEADERS and intellectuals greatly pride themselves that their country offers asylum so freely and so unquestioningly and there is no evidence that the new government will change this policy in any important particular.

What Mexican leaders do not choose to recognize—is that there is a vast difference between providing asylum for those who are persecuted and providing asylum for those who use this privilege to prepare persecution against others.

This is the way the great liberal tradition of political asylum is being abused here today. The record is perfectly clear on that.

FOR FIVE YEARS Mexico harbored some 100 to 150 Venezuelan Communist leaders assembled under the direction of the Soviet Embassy. They carried on subversion against their country from within Mexico and the dangerous rise of Communism in Venezuela came from services rendered while Mexico was making it safe for them to operate. They have now made their way back to Venezuela.

There is a group of at least eight Guatemalan Communists who are doing the same thing and are waiting only the timely moment to return.

Occasionally a foreign Communist violates his "asylum" so blatantly that he runs afoul of the law here or elsewhere. This is what happened to Jose Manuel Fortuny the secretary general of the Communist party of Guatemala who has been operating freely here for some time. He obtained a false Mexican passport to go to Moscow a few weeks ago, but this became known and had to be discarded. He started his return trip by way of Rio de Janeiro and was picked up by the alert Brazilian police for presenting another false passport.

THE ADULT United States Communist population here hovers around 200 most of the time. Once in a while a U.S. Communist, as in the recent case of Gus Hall, is given over to U.S. authorities. But this is a rarity.

When Communist Albert S. Stern, whose wife is Communist Martha Dodd Stern, was wanted to testify in the Soble-Soviet spy case, he was sheltered safely here. They both recently made off for Prague, where they were lately joined by Maurice Halpern, a former Boston University teacher who was living here—and now all three are ready for future assignments.

THE CLANDESTINE character of much of the Soviet embassy's role here is illustrated by its extremely tight operations. It does not permit itself to employ a single Mexican national to do even the most menial caretaking work.

The embassy has 10 officers on its military staff among whom are three naval captains—this in a country whose navy is virtually non-existent. This staff is obviously more concerned with what military secrets it can procure from the United States than from Mexico, particularly since the border is so easy to cross by agents who serve the Soviets here in Mexico.

SNOWBOUND — This is how streets in Oswego, N. Y., looked today after continuing snowfall piled up four feet deep. Snowplows from the entire upstate area were summoned to the city to help it dig out. (AP Wirephoto)

N.Y. Community Digs Out From Under 4 Feet Of Snow

OSWEGO, N.Y. (AP) — Police patrol cars delivered milk and a snowplow assisted a maternity case as this northern New York community fought back today from the worst snowstorm in its history.

A task force of snowplows recruited throughout the upstate area attacked mountainous drifts to re-establish lines of transportation and supply.

About two inches of snow fell early today and made a total of four feet on the ground where there had been no drifting, the city's official weather observer reported. Approximately 37 inches had piled up since noon Sunday on top of an 11-inch base, he said.

Mayor Vincent Corsall reported swift progress in recovery with the aid of equipment from nearby areas. State police reported most main routes open and many secondary highways restored to service, although only to one-way traffic in some sections.

Schools and factories remained closed. Police set up an emergency service to deliver milk, and plows escorted fuel trucks on emergency deliveries to homes without oil and coal.

A plow churned a path for an ambulance that took Mrs. Catherine Shannan to Oswego Hospital, where she awaited the birth of a child.

A total of 55 minerals are produced commercially in Texas.

Students See How Army Models Planes

One hundred twenty - five seventh and eighth grade craft students at Richardson Bay School in Sausalito now know how it's done in the Army.

The junior craftsmen, led by Pincipal Robert Thomson and teachers John Scherff and William Mosher, were shown large model airplanes being put together in the craft shop of the headquarters battery, 30th Artillery Group, at Ft. Barry. They also heard an explanation of the Nike guided missile system.

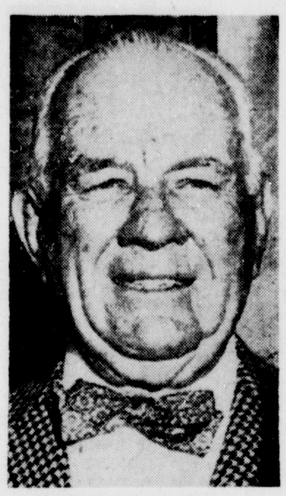
SPEAKER IN PLAYING DAYS — Tris Speaker, who died today, is shown in his playing days as a centerfielder for the Cleveland Indians. He played for the Tribe from 1916-1926. Speaker, one of the immortals of the game, was named to Baseball Hall of Fame and many times to all-time-great squads. Many regard him as the greatest centerfieder in history of baseball. (AP Wirephoto)

Tris Speaker Dies Of Heart Attack

Succumbs At 70 On Fishing Trip



TRIS SPEAKER
'Gray Eagle' dead at 70

HUBBARD, Tex. (UPI) — Tris Speaker, generally regarded as the finest defensive outfielder who ever lived, died of a heart attack last night only a pop fly away from the spot where he played his first baseball game as a barefooted youngster.

Speaker, 70, died whispering his own name, apparently uncertain that those who tried to help him knew his identity.

The Hall of Fame outfielder, who compiled a lifetime batting average of .345 in 22 seasons, mostly with the Boston Red Sox and Cleveland Indians, had just finished a day's fishing with a friend, Charley Vaughan, at nearby Lake Whitney when the end came.

The two men were hooking the boat and trailer to their car when Speaker suddenly slumped over. Vaughan and other fishermen picked up the former big league star and lifted him into the back seat of the car.

Dr. H. P. Sammons, another friend, said baseball's famed "Gray Eagle" opened his eyes and whispered:

"My name is Tris Speaker."

Those were the last words spoken by the man, who along with Babe Ruth and Ty Cobb, was ranked as part of baseball's all-time "dream outfield."

Speaker's body promptly was brought here where he was born and where he first pitched for his grammar school team. He is survived by his wife, Frances, and two sisters, Mrs. Pearl Scott of Hubbard and Mrs. Alma Speaker Lindsey of Abilene, Tex. Burial will be held here in his home town, where he always would come back to fish after each baseball season.

Cobb, a contemporary of Speaker, summed up the sentiments of most baseball men upon learning of his death.

"I'm deeply depressed," Cobb said. "I don't need to emphasize Speaker's greatness. His records speak for themselves."

Speaker began his professional baseball career in 1906 with Cleburne of the Texas League at $50 a month and then earned $57,000 a year in 1920 when he managed Cleveland to its first American League pennant and world championship.

"Spoke," as his fellow ball players called him, broke into the major leagues with the Red Sox in 1907 and formed part of a brilliant outfield with Harry Hooper and Duffy Lewis. From 1910 through 1915 he never hit less than .322 and after being traded to Cleveland in 1916 he usually managed to hit better than .350 each year.

Impressive as his hitting was, it was overshadowed by his brilliant defensive work in center field. He could go back for a ball like no other outfielder and there was none—before or even after him—who ever played so close behind the second baseman.

Crowning glory of Speaker's career came in 1936, when he was voted into baseballs' Hall of Fame at Cooperstown, N.Y.

Doak Roberts, former owner of the Houston club in the Texas League, was credited with discovering young Speaker in this same city where his body lay today.

Trying to interest the St. Louis Browns in him, Roberts wired them:

"If Speaker doesn't make good, I'll give you 175 acres of Texas black land."

The Browns hesitated, but the Red Sox bought him from Houston for $400 and nine years later sold him to the Indians for $50,000 and three players.

Speaker put in short stints with the Washington Senators and Philadelphia Athletics before hanging up his glove in 1928.

Later he became a sales representative for an Ohio steel company and chairman of the Cleveland Boxing Commission. But he never lost his great interest in baseball.

BLOODY WIN FOR ROSI — A blood-bathed Paoli Rosi (right) lands a left high on the head of Bobby Scanlon in the closing seconds of their 10-round lightweight fight at the Cow Palace last night. The New Yorker won a split decision over Scanlon. It was the second meeting for the two with Rosi winning both times. (AP Wirephoto)

Rosi Defeats Scanlon Again, Now Wants Shot At Brown

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—New York's Paolo Rosi, having belted out another victory over San Francisco's Bobby Scanlon, wants a shot at lightweight champion Joe Brown.

Rosi won a 10-round split decision last night in the Cow Palace over the baby-faced Scanlon whom he knocked out in the third round Oct. 13.

Ranked fifth by the National Boxing Assn., Rosi will fight No. 1 contender Carlos Ortiz of New York here Jan. 19. He said he expects to whip Ortiz and then hopes to get the title match.

Scanlon opened an ugly gash over Rosi' left eye in the seventh round this time and in the ninth referee Jack Downey stopped the fight for a physician's examination of the cut. The doctor permitted the bout to continue and Rosi won that round and the last one handily.

Normally a hometown favorite, Scanlon was booed repeatedly for holding. He was careful to keep away from Rosi's potent right hand. A right sent Scanlon to his knee for no count in the second.

In the dressing room, Rosi commented:

"Scanlon is a good boxer but tonight he fought too scared. Every time I hit him he grabbed."

Si Crisci, Rosi's manager, said he thought Scanlon "fought dirty all the way." He asserted that Scanlon opened the cut by butting Rosi and continued to try to butt the wound.

Scanlon declined to discuss the fight. His manager, Art Benjamin, said Bobby fought "according to plan and boxed all the way."

A crowd of 4,000 paid $15,470 net gate.

The BULLPEN

With JOHN J. CONNOLLY

Keep Your Eyes On Rodriguez; Looks Like He's Going Places

CONNOLLY

Last week my nephew, Louie Bruschini, the big butter, egg and cheese man for the Borden's Company, drove me over to the Richmond fight areas to see Sixto Rodriquez, and a chocolate-drop carbon copy of Tony Galento, alias southpaw Billy Hester, battle 12 rounds for the State light-heavyweight championship.

The fight went the distance and in some respects it was like a re-run of the Blue Danube Waltz. In fact in the middle of the scrap, the cash customers, numbering $2,000 worth, began to whistle . . . that's how uninteresting was the hassle. But Sixto took the title away from the southpaw and did it easily, at least on points.

"Do not ever talk to me again about Sixto Rodriquez," my nephew Louie kept on saying. "He can't hit hard enough to bust an egg.

"I like boxfighters hairy and sweaty and sluggers.

"I like guys," continued my nephew, "who fight themselves between rounds. This guy Sixto prayed more in 12 rounds than anybody I ever saw.

"Why he knelt down and blessed himself 12 times. In fact before every round he did it.

"IN THE old days John L. Sullivan and Stanley Ketchell and Ace Hudkins never prayed as much in their life as Rodriquez in less than an hour."

Well, it got my interest aroused to hear a young fight fan rave. And it brought back many pleasant memories, which, of course, happened before my nephew was kicking the gong around.

I remember, I said, when the great Jack Dempsey fought Willie Meehan in the Civic Auditorium during the first World War.

Meehan, in many ways, was a pot belly guy like Hester, only he was righthanded and his skin was chicken white. But Willie was so flabby that Dempsey could have kicked him in the belly and never have hurt him

"But," interrupted my nephew, "Dempsey COULD HIT."

Sure, sezzi, and he did HIT Meehan with everything except his mother-in-law And Meehan kept laughing and bearing in and whacking Dempsey with the bass drum punch until finally after four rounds Meehan was handed the decision

That is why I am "beefing" about the poor press notices young Sixto Rodriquez got after winning the state light-heavyweight crown.

MY OLD PAL, Eddie Muller of the S.F. Examiner, skimmed over the scrap and another pal, Jack Fiske of the Chronicle, who must have had an upset stomach, kicked the bejabbers out of the scrap, saying it was awful.

But, sezzi to my nephew, those guys forget that Hester was a difficult guy to fight, like all southpaw scrappers, and Sixto was finding it out as he went from round to round.

Hester didn't seem to care how hard Sixto hit him. He just kept charging in and writing off the belting he was getting to the grease in his system. He kept puffing a little harder and oftener, but never showing any particular signs of distress. Very few southpaw fighters get hurt much.

Finally my nephew inquired as to the schooling Rodriquez got and I explained to him that Sixto was exposed to first, second, and third degree education; that he worked as a tile setter for a wonderful young fight manager, Karl Ashley, who is one of Marin County's general contractors in the tile-setting business.

IN FACT, it was Ashley who sold hundreds of tickets to guys like Ed Burger, the building contractor; Ben Badarocco, the banker, and Bob Parnow, another builder.

Rodriquez, I'm told, runs 10 miles every morning before he goes to work, then goes to the job for an eight hour shift, and then over to Newman's gym in S.F. and belts around his sparring partners for a couple of hours before dinner.

It's a funny thing for me to say, but I really think Sixto Rodriquez is a name you should jot down in your future sports book.

Some day you are going to hear more about him.

I got hot and cold all over when I thought of how hard he prayed and how hard he tried to make a good showing against a flabby no good light heavyweight SOUTHPAW who had as much license to be called a champion as I have, and I'm not bragging about my figure, fighting or otherwise.

"I GUESS," said my nephew, "that is the caveman spirit in me, that makes me want to see guys like Rodriquez bop guys who look like Beer Barrel Tony Galento around."

As we drove over the Richmond Bridge to San Rafael, I reminded my nephew that Jack Dempsey wouldn't fight Harry Greb because Greb was a southpaw puncher . . . that Joe Louis once told me he knew a nobody southpaw fighter who could have belted the daylight out of Joe even when he was champion.

Just wait and watch for Rodriquez to carve his niche in the fight game. He has the stamina, the courage and I don't care if he only reads signs that say "gents and ladies" . . . he'll get to the top of the fight game.

I hope I'll be around to say I TOLD YOU SO.

St. Mary's-California Is No. 1 Game Tonight

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

St. Mary's and defense-minded California meet tonight at Berkeley in the top basketball game on the Pacific Coast.

The Gaels edged UCLA and swamped Stanford over the weekend. But California, which grabbed the Pacific Coast Conference title last season by stressing defense, beat tough University of San Francisco—and held the Dons to only 43 points.

In other games tonight, Washington State hosts Whitworth, Santa Clara visits Chico State, San Francisco State plays at San Jose State, San Diego State meets Loyola, and the U. S. Marines go against Fresno State.

Last night's games produced a couple of surprises. Idaho State College came up from behind to defeat co-PCC champion Oregon State, 55-49, and Seattle University had to fight to down College of Pacific, 72-67. Seattle swamped the Tigers 91-53, last week.

The Washington Huskies, touted as one of the best teams in the nation before losing two games to Colorado last weekend, didn't find things so easy last night. However, they got by the University of Hawaii, 67-62.

In other games, Long Beach State was forced into overtime to beat Sacramento State, 75-73, Gonzaga defeated Eastern Washington, 73-58, and Whitman downed Northwest Nazarene 69-59.

Center John Bethke was the big gun for Idaho State at Pocatello. He scored 19 points, while rangy Gary Goble led the Oregon State attack with 10.

At Stockton, Seattle was led by Charlie Brown with 19 points and reserve guard Lloyd Murphy, who scored 11 points in the second half. COP's Leroy Wright led all scorers with 22 points.

At Seattle, Doug Smart and Bruno Boin scored 45 points between them for Washington. Smart had 24 and Boin 21. Tony Davis was top for the Hawaiians with 19.

Seattle Executive Buys Bounty II

Purchase of a 41-foot fiber glass Bounty II by Eric Zahn, Seattle manufacturer, was announced today by Frederick M. Coleman, vice-president of Aeromarine Plastics Corporation. Lt was the 13th Bounty II to come off the ways at the Sausalito shipyard.

This is Zahn's second of the Bounty series; he was previously owner of a wooden Bounty purchased before World War II from the then Coleman Boat Co. of Medford, Massachusetts.

Zahn is associated with the Kenson Tooth Manufacturing Co., of Seattle.

The boat was on exhibition at the Seattle Boat Show last week.

Wins Voit Trophy

Japanese Smelt May Feed Trout In Marin

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO—Two Marin lakes have been selected for a proposed experiment aimed at improving trout fishing.

Tomorrow afternoon, the state Fish and Game Commission will be asked to approve a plan for importing fresh water smelt from Japan for planting in 13 California lakes as forage for trout.

The Fish and Game Department, which is making the request, declares "There is a good possibility that trout fishing can be materially improved at slight expense" under the plan.

The Japanese fresh water smelt seldom grows larger than three and one-half inches long, so that it can be eaten by a trout throughout its life. It prefers trout water, the department points out, and it is not large enough to prey on trout or trout eggs.

It lives mostly on plankton, which abounds in many trout lakes, the department said.

The two Marin lakes selected for the experiment are Phoenix Lake in Ross and Kent Reservoir behind Peters Dam at Lagunitas.

Although fresh water smelt do live in the waters of California, no one here attempts to raise them or collect their eggs, the department said. The eggs are available in Japan for $8.33 per million. The Fish and Game Department wants authority to purchase 20 million eggs at a cost of $166.60 plus the air freight to fly them to California next January or March.

The commission is expected to act tomorrow on the request.

Marin Bowler, 11, Fires 402 Total At Marin Bowl

For a young man at the age of 11, Bobby Stevenson of San Rafael shows great promise to become a top bowling star in later years.

Although he's been bowling only two years, Bobby has attained an average of 111 per game in recent competition. But last Saturday at Marin Bowl he topped his average by a good margin with a 402 series for three games. His games were 132, 117 and a nifty 153. During the series Bobby, a sixth grader at Oliver Hartzell School, picked up a difficult 3-7-10 split.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Stevenson and his mother is Marin County representative for the Women's International Bowling Congress.

Welter Champ Rose From Near Poverty

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Don Jordan, the new world welterweight champion, could pass as a dapper haberdasher instead of a prize fighter.

He was the prizefighter last Friday night when he dealt a severe beating to the champion, Virgil Akins of St. Louis, via a 15-round unanimous decision, and won the title.

Jordan is 24, the father of four daughters, with a background of near-poverty, one of 13 children still living in a family that once numbered 19 kids.

As a youngster, he was pretty well headed for the route of juvenile delinquency. He ran with a gang in trouble-torn East Los Angeles known as "The Flats."

But as his friends now say, he straightened out and began to fly right.

Don's father was a fighter of no great promise. But he encouraged his sons to box. Two of Don's older brothers took up the sport but never got very far.

Don, however, showed promise in Golden Gloves competition, and, while still in his 'teens, turned professional.

He learned his trade by industry, ambition and spirit. He is not a tiger at heart, yet does not lack courage in any sense of the term.

His nickname is "Geronimo Kid," based on his Negro-Indian ancestry, and just a few weeks ago the wags had a field day with this angle.

The details are still unclear, but Jordan got into a traffic beef with two girls in another car—they said he was blocking a driveway, or maybe it was the other way around.

In any event, "Geronimo Kid" came up with an archery set and let loose point blank at the other car with bow and arrow. There was a pinch by the police, but in a matter of days the case was cleared. The targets declined to prosecute.

Jordan is quiet in conversation and dresses conservatively.

He fought Gaspar Ortega in a national TV show staged in the grand ballroom of the Lafayette Hotel in Long Beach in October.

Long Beach society was out in its finest furs and gowns. They stayed for the dinner served after the big fight. Jordan, as immaculate as any guest, joined the party—an unobtrusive, well-mannered diner.

It seemed odd that just a few minutes before he had been exercising mayhem on his opponent. And winning a chance at the title.

Today his overall fighting record is: 56 fights, winner of 45, 15 by knockout, loser of 11.

He weighs normally about 143-145—and stands 5-9.
stands 5-9.

Today, in his native Los Angeles anyway, he probably stands 8-9.

BULLDOGS OPEN NEW GYM WITH A BANG

San Rafael High School's brand new gymnasium housed its first basketball encounter last Friday night when the Bulldogs romped to a 53-27 triumph over the Novato Hornets. San Rafael was hosting the Westmoor High team this afternoon. The gym seats approximately 1,300 spectators. (Jim Kean photos)

Novato Opens Cage Tourney Play Friday

Interscholastic basketball at its best will be on tap at Healdsburg this Friday and Saturday and the next Monday when the Redwood Empire Invitational, is staged.

Analy and Novato take the court in the opener at 5 p.m., Friday to be followed at 6:30 when Fortuna meets Healdsburg. In the evening Sonoma contests with Montgomery, new entry from Santa Rosa, and Ukiah play Petaluma.

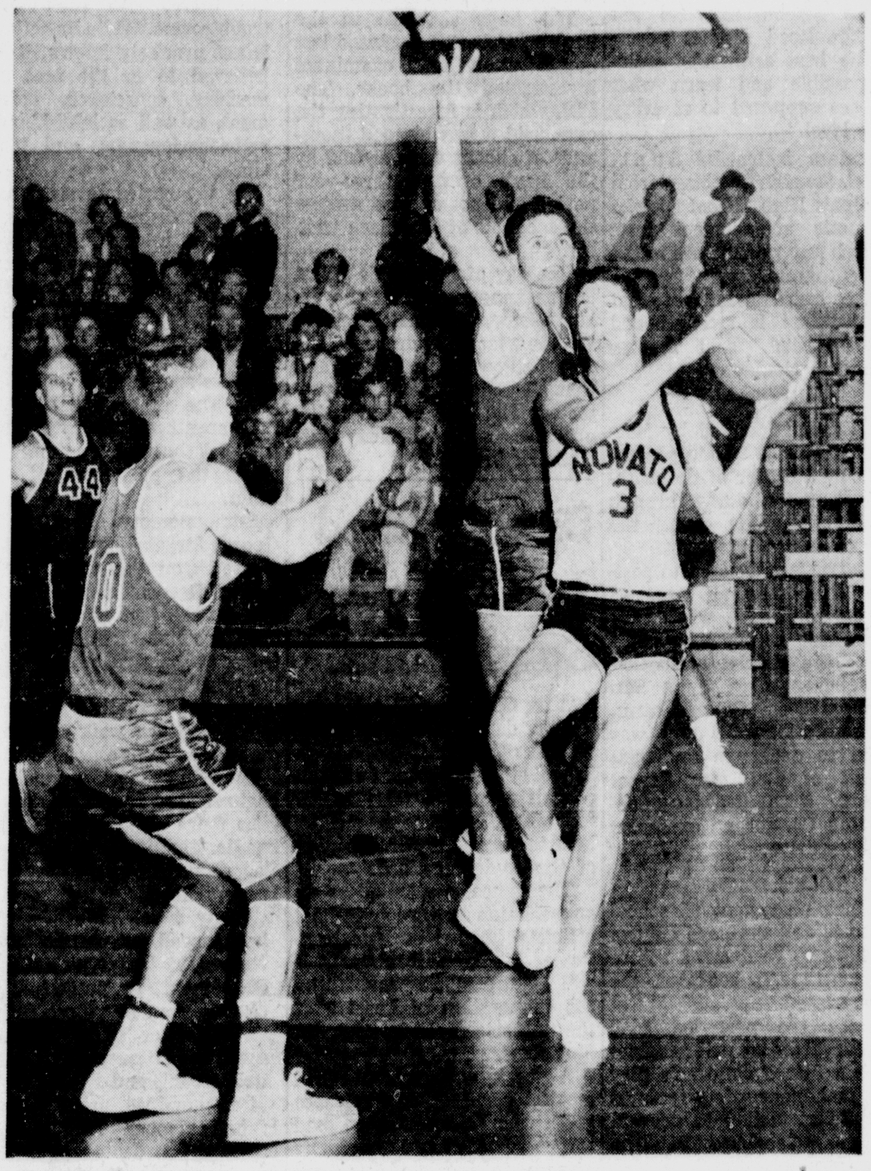
The following night will see semi-finalists meeting in a pair of games, while the losers will fight it out for consolation honors in the afternoon.

FINALS MONDAY

Final playoffs are scheduled for the evening of Dec. 15. The two survivors in consolation matches will clash in a preliminary game at 7:30 p. m. and the two finalists in the tourney will match skills at 9 p.m.

Montgomery and Fortuna are playing in the tourney for the first time this year. In future years, according to tourney director Arthur J. McCaffrey, Eureka and Arcata will alternate with Fortuna, and Ukiah and Fort Bragg will compete every other year.

Many sports celebrities are expected to be on hand for the tournament dinner and award presentation at Villa Chantecler, Healdsburg, Jan. 21, 1959. Trophies will be awarded the championship team, the runner-up, the consolation winner, the most valuable player and the best defensive team. The All-Tournament team members will be awarded medals. The Healdsburg Lions Club is sponsoring the dinner.



CLOSE GUARDING—Closely guarded from the rear by San Rafael's Ron Snidow (arm raised), Novato High star Jack Sparrow (3) attempts to get off shot in their battle Friday night at San Rafael. Sparrow, second high scorer in North Bay League last year, was held to six points Friday as Bulldogs romped to easy win. Other Bulldog players are Mike Curry (10) and John Blomquist (44).

BOWLING

Dick Treadway's 614 series, featuring a 225 game, and another 225 line by Colin Rose highlighted individual performances in the Marin Bowl's 860 Scratch League Friday night.

Team results and high scorers: Wentworth Painting (Treadway, 614) d. Bermuda Palms (Ray Brusati, 545) by 3-0; Marin Drive-In Liquors (Chet Moorhead, 577) d. Filippo Construction (Bill Rhodes, 547) by 2-1; Host Liquors (Colin Rose, 554) d. Marin Bowl Coffee Shop (Forry Wilson, 532) by 2-1; Archie's Mobil Service (Spencer Ward, 589) d. Jimmie and Van's Associated Service (Joe Cardoza, 538) by 2-1.

PCC Plans For 1960 Rose Bowl

PASADENA (UPI) — The 1960 Rose Bowl, a post mortem event after the assured demise of the Pacific Coast Conference, figured prominently today in sessions of the PCC winter meeting.

Faculty representatives and athletic directors met jointly today to exchange and vote on plans for the final Rose Bowl under the agreement with the Big Ten.

The Coast Conference will break up on June 30, 1959. But agreements with the Tournament of Roses and National Broadcasting Co., not to mention the Big Ten, carry through the Jan. 1, 1960 game.

Dodgers Eying Player Deals

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—E. J. (Buzzie) Bavasi, general manager of the Los Angeles Dodgers, says there is a good chance the club will make at least one or two player deals in the near future.

Bavasi, fresh from the winter baseball meetings at Washington, yesterday said the "door was left open for a deal involving Jim Gilliam and, possibly, some of our other players.

"The Braves, Cubs and Phillies all expressed interest in Gilliam," Bavasi said. "If one of the other clubs will give us a righthander who can hit the ball, we can do business."

Lopes May Fight Again In State

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The California Athletic Commission has ruled that lightweight boxer Joey Lopes may return to the ring.

The commission cleared Lopes yesterday after receiving a report from the University of California Hospital that his kidneys are normal. In October, a doctor had found him suffering from a kidney disorder and recommended that he quit the ring.

"There never was anything wrong with me," Lopes said, "and I'm glad everyone knows it now."

Elliott Sees Iowa Team In Movies

BERKELEY (AP)—"I saw no weakness but I can sure tell you of a lot of strengths" California Coach Pete Elliott said today after seeing movies of the Iowa football team.

The coach so far has looked at two of the four game films he was sent by the team his Bears will meet in the Rose Bowl game.

Would Bar Aliens

CHICAGO (AP)—Big Ten track coaches mapped a recommendation yesterday to conference faculty representatives and the NCAA to bar aliens from competing in NCAA track and field championships.

THIS IS THE START OF A CLUBHOUSE

Fairfax 'Standing Still,' Says Ex-Mayor—Streets To Blame

Chuck holes in the unaccepted portion of Cascade drive gave former Fairfax Mayor Floyd W. Elliott an opporunity to deliver one of his periodic tongue lashings to the Fairfax City Council last night.

In a complaining mood, Elliott moved from the specific to the general, charging that Fairfax is "standing still" because its streets are being neglected.

Then, back to the specific again, he accused street department crews of goldbricking in his neighborhood (he lives at 650 Cascade drive), and threatened to bring suit against the city unless it covers or removes 10 truckloads of street sweepings dumped in a hollow off Cascade.

The ex-mayor said nothing has been done by the street department since he appeared at the council's August meeting to complain about chuck holes in his street. He demanded to know why.

Charles Thornton, Fairfax fire chief who doubles as street superintendent, said the job of filling chuck holes on an unaccepted street "doesn't fit in with our plans." If the city did the work on Cascades, he said, it would have to do the same thing on all unaccepted streets.

Elliott said the job would involve "perhaps two hours of work and the expenditure of not more than $50."

"The alibi," he told the council, "is that you haven't got time to do it . . . but I can't believe Thornton will fix that street even if there's nothing else to do."

Mayor Edward A. Smith said councilmen are divided on the question of maintaining unaccepted streets. As for himself, he said he believes the council should heed the request of any citizen who wants chuck holes filled on his street, especially if the city has maintained the street in the past.

Thornton said it is imperative that his crews complete jobs on Tamalpais road and Pine drive before the winter rains come.

"Well, we certainly don't want to do this (Cascade drive) job at the expense of more important work," the mayor commented. "But let's make Cascade number three on the list."

The other four council members accepted the suggestion without a formal vote, and thus a job that didn't "fit in" with Thornton's plans became a Priority 3 project.

This appeared to satify Elliot, who, moments earlier, had asserted: "Fairfax is standing still and your downtown business district is dying on the vine. The only way you're going to improve the situation is by attracting new people in here, but you won't do that by neglecting your streets,"

To Elliott's charge that street crews were "killing time" in his neighborhood one day recently, Councilman William L. Hughes replied testily, "I don't think you know what you're talking about."

Registering his final complaint of the evening, Elliott said part of the 10 loads of street sweepings dumped at the end of Cascade drive, near the city line, landed on property he owns in unincorporated territory.

He acknowledged he had persuaded August Pfalzgraff, Thornton's predecessor as street superintendent, to dispose of tree stumps in the same area. But he said that didn't mean the area was to become a city dump for disposal of beer cans, Little League programs and other trash.

With Elliott threatening to go to the county health department and sign a complaint for abatement of a health hazard, Mayor Smith asked Councilman Rolfe M. Ockenden to inspect the area and determine what might be done to correct the situation.

The council also:

1. Reappointed Police Capt. Clifton Cordes to another two-year on the Marin County Mosquito Abatement District board.
2. Set for Dec. 29 at 8 p.m. a special meeting at which councilmen will (1) hold a public hearing on a proposed amendment to the zoning ordinance, adding multiple residential as a land classification, and (2) give first reading to an ordinance establishing that classification for Robin Hood Acres, a 5-3-acre parcel on which Robin Hood Land Co. plans to erect apartments. The parcel is adjacent to Westbrae subdivision.
3. Authorized the fire department to purchase 250 feet of 1½-inch fire hose at $1.25 per foot and a voice gun for $90. The later is a super megaphone to be used by the fire chief in giving instructions at the scene of a fire.
4. Decided to prohibit the use of Center boulevard by commercial vehicles of more than three tons gross weight.
5. Voted to pay W. E. Radtke, planning commission chairman, $25 per month while temporarily doubling as commission secretary. Former secretary Dolores Price recently moved from Fairfax.
6. Amended the city's dog licensing ordinance to conform with the licensing program of the county and Marin's eight other cities. The action made permananent an emergency measure adopted at the council's November meeting.

Dozen Accused Of $1 Million Bank Swindle

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A dozen businessmen and bank officials are accused by the U.S. attorney's office of looting a suburban bank of up to a million dollars by cashing thousands of worthless checks.

Asst. U.S. Atty Thomas Sheridan says one man cashed checks totaling $296,067 on an account containing $131. Another was accused of having collected $129,465 on 301 checks when his account was already overdrawn $43.50.

DOZEN ARRAIGNED

Among the 12 arraigned yesterday in federal court were the president and assistant cashier of the bank, the Sun Valley National Bank, and the chairman of its loan committee. The others are businessmen in Sun Valley and neighboring San Fernando Valley communities.

They were charged with aiding and abetting John Peterson, cashier and vice president of the bank, who was arrested last week on a charge of making a false bank record. Sheridan said the charges are merely preliminary to a presentation of the complex case to a federal grand jury within the next few weeks.

SHORTAGE FOUND

The huge shortage in the bank's funds was disclosed last month when bank examiners investigated the books. The FBI, which is investigating the case, said it was learned thousands of checks were cashed by the bank over a three-year period and not applied against the accounts of the check writers.

The day of Peterson's arrest it was announced that the Security-First National Bank of Los Angeles had purchased the Sun Valley National Bank and that all deposits would be protected. The bank is now being operated as a Security-First National branch.

ACCUSED OF BANK CHARGE — Charles Bascom Tribble (left), 41, a grocery store operator, and Clarence Claycamp (right), 37, a jeweler, were among 12 persons arrested in connection with the disappearance of a million dollars from the Sun Valley National Bank. They were arraigned before a U. S. Commissioner yesterday and charged with aiding a bank vice president in allegedly misapplying funds of the bank. (AP Wirephoto)

Hub Decides Tonight On Hiring Works Boss

The San Anselmo City Council will decide tonight whether to hire William J. Dabel of Benicia as San Anselmo's first director of public works.

It appeared rather unlikely today that Dabel will be hired.

Councilman William Franchini is expected to cast the deciding vote on the issue. Last Wednesday night, Mayor Arthur W. Smith and Councilman Carmel H. Booth committed themselves against hiring a public works director. Councilman Carleton G. E. Little and Jordan L. Martinelli Jr. have expressed themselves in favor of Dabel's employment.

Franchini said today he did not care to commit himself in advance of the meeting. However, it was reported he has expressed doubt of the wisdom of hiring a public works director at present. (The job would include duties of city engineer, superintendent of streets and building inspector.)

The San Anselmo City Council will receive a petition tonight signed by 68 residents of Greenfield, Terrace and Spring Grove avenues asking for four new stop signs on Greenfield. The petitioners want traffic stopped both ways at Sequoia avenue, and on both Greenfield and Terrace avenues at their intersection. They also want pedestrian crosswalks at Greenfield and Terrace.

The new business license ordinance, restoring fees for retail firms based on sales volume, will be up for adoption, as will the bulky all-inclusive traffic ordinance. The 1958 building code is to be introduced as an amendment to the building ordinance.

The council will receive the civil service board of review's finding that James A. Farmer should be restored to his classification as police officer-clerk, and paid retroactive pay for the difference between the $460 per month he has been receiving since reclassified late in 1957 and the $481 he would have received as a police patrolman. Farmer stands to receive about $275, less withholding tax and retirement contribution.

Larkspur Merger Unit To Go Slow

The fast-moving Larkspur merger study committee topped off a "where do we go now?" debate last night with questioning of William R. Zion, manager of Public Affairs Research, Inc., and author of the merger study report purchased by Larkspur and Corte Madera.

The Larkspur committee of a dozen citizens concluded a two-and-one-half-hour meeting at city hall with decision to go ahead without waiting for a parallel merger study committee in Corte Madera to "catch up."

GENERAL DISCUSSION

Meanwhile, 10 members of the Corte Madera committee, meeting at Neil Cummins School, held general discussions and put off until next week decision on the list of topics to be covered in future meetings.

Meeting of the Larkspur group, presided over by H. H. (Dutch) Pierson, vice chairman, was launched with a rough-and-tumble discussion on the role of the committee before joint meetings can be held.

General consensus was to go slow until early January to allow the Corte Madera group to obtain sufficient studies to permit joint meetings.

STREET DEFICIENCIES

000 Larkspur and $238,000 Corte Madera street deficiencies in the report were exciencies in the report were explained by Zion. He said the figures were based merely on costs to bring the streets to state standards. Pierson observed that "our city streets, however, are as good as theirs."

Zion suggested the committee, if in favor of merging the twin cities, should work to have the proposal placed on the ballot before launching into public controversy on any merits or faults in the plan.

Robert Smith asked Zion what major factors the public would consider in such an election.

Zion said he thought the only two basic questions would be taxes and community values.

The Larkspur committee will meet at 8 p.m. next Monday at city hall. The Corte Madera group will meet at 7:30 p.m. at Cummins School.

HST WOULD TAKE SENATE APPOINTMENT

WASHINGTON (AP)—Harry S. Truman, who has said some of his happiest years were spent in the Senate, would like to return there. But he doesn't plan to run for the office.

Truman was asked at a news conference whether he would be interested in running for the remainder of the term of Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.), if Symington were to get the 1960 presidential nomination. Truman was quick with a "no" on running for the office.

"But I'd be interested in being appointed to fill out his Senate term," the former President replied.

Reed Board Emphasizes Arithmetic

Reed School District trustees, scrutinizing the district's arithmetic curriculum last night, concluded "It is the board's responsibility to see that the Reed district pupils get the best arithmetic training possible and learn what they are supposed to at every grade level."

Trustees instructed Supt. Paul C. Stouffer to obtain from Tamalpais High School District arithmetic achievement tests to check any weaknesses in the Reed program.

"The board must see that our program is strengthened where needed," said Trustee Richard J. MacLaury.

SHOWS SLIDES

The discussion, led by MacLaury, followed a slide presentation by Stouffer of the arithmetic course of study through the eighth grade using the Winston series textbooks.

The trustees decided to postpone their normal Dec. 23 meeting to Jan. 7, when they are to hear a report on progress of the district evaluation study being made by a San Francisco State College team.

A resolution of intent was passed to exchange an equal amount of Del Mar School property with Crowley Construction Co. for an extension of Hilary drive.

TO BE DECIDED

Future placement of school buildings and drainage control will have to be decided before the exchange is accepted, the board agreed.

"Since the proposed road will curve on an embankment above a future children's play area, maximum safety features must be in stalled to prevent accidents," Trustee Alfred Azevedo warned.

The board also approved an application for a site development and engineering survey loan from the Federal Housing and Home Finance Agency for proposed construction of the planned elementary school on the Del Mar property.

A report on the worth of the 1958 summer school program by teachers indicated a slight curricular improvement.

Dance Slated To Celebrate Candy Sales

"The Choc Rock," a live-orchestra dance to celebrate the success of Marin Catholic High School students' sale of enough chocolate bars to raise $6,000 for school equipment, will be held tomorrow under direction of the student council.

The dance is planned as an appreciation gesture by school officials, headed by Rev. Lawrence A. Ryan, principal. It will feature music provided by the cooperation of Local 6 of the American Federation of Musicians.

A week ago, students had met 92 per cent of the quota and the only question seemed to be who would be lucky enough to get the few bars left. Most teams (23 business managers had 87 team captains helping with the bookkeeping—no small matter with $6,000, 35,000 chocolate bars and more than 600 youngsters involved) have made 100 per cent.

The whirlwind campaign not only pays for $2,500 worth of band uniforms, but for audio-visual equipment for the science classes, a tape recorder for foreign language classes, new books for the library and new equipment for the athletic department.

upon the most sensitive portion of the brain, the highly developed cortex. This is felt the most civilized portion of the brain, also the most troublesome. While its action is not precisely known, it is believed to be the seat of memory, conscience, judgment, as well as inhibitions, self-consciousness, and tensions.

Put the cortex to sleep and tensions subside. George feels suddenly relaxed. Self-consciousness evaporates. George talks to people, circulates, tells jokes with stentorian confidence.

Inhibitions slack off. George puts his arm around the boss's wife. The first stage of alcoholic anesthesia has set in, and the first thing to be anesthetized is the policeman of the brain.

But memory also goes. George forgets he put a lighted cigarette on the edge of the piano. Responsibility disintegrates. The fact that the children are home and the sitter leaves at midnight means nothing anymore.

Judgment vanishes. George is sure he can walk tightrope on the clothesline.

Drowsiness sets in, malaise begins as the body fights to oxidize more alcohol than it can handle. Finally there is stupor; George passes out. Anesthesia is complete.

Many a drinker's life has been saved by passing out. For at this point his intake of alcohol is precariously close to the death limit. Only an ounce or so of alcohol spells the difference between dead drunk and dead.

One hundred proof whisky is half alcohol. Thus a one-ounce drink contains half an ounce of alcohol. How many can George take?

Generally two such drinks are considered "safe." The alcohol concentration in the blood will be about .05 per cent. After two drinks the questionable area has been reached and at six drinks (three ounces of alcohol) George is at the danger point.

His blood alcohol is at .15 per cent.

Suppose he keeps drinking? When he reaches .5 per cent (20 drinks, 10 ounces of alcohol) he is dead drunk. And as little as two more drinks—just one more ounce of alcohol—might kill him.

Any concentration in the blood above .55 per cent can be fatal.

Most people think straight drinks hit the hardest. They don't. Straight liquor is so strong that it even anesthetizes the absorption processes a little, hence delaying the alcoholic effect.

But weak highballs are slow, too. Add five ounces of water to an ounce of whiskey and you get an 8 or 9 per cent alcohol solution; sheer buik slows down absorption.

The fastest absorption comes from 10 to 30 per cent solutions: half-and-half highballs.

Of course, food in the stomach (especially milk, fat, and meat) slows the absorption of alcohol. But not fruit—this produces alcohol of its own during digestion and simply makes matters worse.

The drinker's dream, one might suppose, would be to reach that pleasant peak known as the "glow"—when tensions are quelled, anxieties relieved, and none of the mess of drunkenness has yet descended—and stay there. It is theoretically possible.

Dr. Marvin Block, chairman of the American Medical Assn.'s Committee on Alcoholism, asserts, "The average man achieves an optimum stage when he has a shot glass or about an ounce of whiskey. The average human being can metabolize a half-ounce to an ounce of alcohol per hour. If this rate is maintained, the rosy feeling can be continued."

But the doctor adds, "In an attempt to insure this feeling, many are inclined to take another drink before the last is completely burned up. When this happens, the drinker sometimes becomes a little careless, loud and boisterous . . . may see double and become incoherent and fumbling. He often staggers . . ."

And the blush is off the rose.

HERMAN E. HEIN, Mill Valley landscape architect, and Mrs. Dion Ramsey-Raisan discuss details of the decor they are planning for the Frances Young gallery at the Marin Art and Garden Center in Ross, where the annual sale will be held Friday from 8 to 10 p.m. and Saturday from 10 to 4 p.m. Mrs. Richard D. Messinger is production manager.

VISIONS SUGAR PLUMS

Christmas Sale Will Feature Decorations And Delicacies

Festive decorations by the hundreds, holiday delicacies from Marin kitchens, and "visions of sugar plums" actually on a tree will be featured at the 11th annual Christmas Greens and Decorations Sale Friday night and Saturday at the Marin Art and Garden Center in Ross. Hours will be 8 to 10 p.m. Friday and 10 to 4 p.m. Saturday.

Sponsored by the center's Decorations Guild, of which Mrs. Frederick W. Macondray of San Anselmo is president, the sale is open to the public and annually draws hundreds of Christmas shoppers from San Francisco and the East Bay as well as from all parts of Marin County. Proceeds are used to help support the nonprofit center.

This year, for the first time in the history of the event, visitors may make purchases on opening night, formerly just a preview. However, only decorative articles made of permanent dried materials will be available then. On Saturday, both these and items of fresh greens, including the traditional pine boughs and holly, will be offered.

Refreshments will be served Friday night and hot food will be available Saturday.

All of the merchandise was hand-fashioned by members of the Decorations Guild during many weeks of work. Hundreds of wreaths, tree plaques, door swags and novelty items, in endless variety and to suit every taste, are the result.

The sale will be held in the Frances Young gallery on the center grounds, where the decor has been designed by landscape architect Herman E. Hein of Mill Valley.

The Pixie Parents of the AAUW, a center affiliate, are sponsoring the Christmas Cupboard, with Mrs. Jack Brandon of San Rafael as chairman. The cupboard offers a variety of homemade holiday foods.

Marin County Girl Scouts are decorating the Sugar Plum Tree with edible goodies especially for the youngsters, Mrs. J. S. Detweiler of San Anselmo is in charge of the Scouts' participation.

Chi Omegas Yule Party Set Dec. 13

Marin County Chi Omega Alumnae have selected Saturday, Dec. 13, as the date for their annual Christmas party.

Members and their husbands will gather at 7:30 p.m. in the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Rhoads, 143 Jordan way, San Anselmo, for dinner and an evening of dancing.

Co-chairman are Mrs. Donald Stokes and Mrs. Corinne Matthews, and Mrs. John Smillie and Mrs. Herbert Rowland are in charge of food.

Dinner will be cooked and served by members, and there will be dancing after white elephant gifts have been exchanged.

Proceeds from the party will be used for the chapter's philanthropic projects. Each month several members take refreshments and visit with residents at the Lucas Valley Farm.

For Thanksgiving they made floral tray decorations for the women and gave cigars and cigarettes to the men.

Reservations for the Christmas party must be made by Wednesday, Dec. 10, with Mrs. Leland Young, 185 Via Lerida, San Rafael.

The Northgate group of the Marin Art and Garden Center had its annual big-time Christmas party Friday night at the Meadow Club, Fairfax, and in beauty, attendance and gayety-among-friends topped all previous Northgate holiday doings.

Festivities began at 6:30 p.m. with cocktails and canapes, continued with a sophisticated and glamorous fashion show with clothes from a San Francisco specialty shop, and ended at dinner in the dining room at the club.

Around the theme "Christmas by Candlelight" the club had been decorated along traditional and old-fashioned holiday lines, except for one outstanding contemporary stylized wreath fashioned by Mrs. Winston Jones for the occasion. The huge circlet which characterized the decor was purchased later in the evening for "a tidy sum," said sum going into the coffers of the Decorations Guild of which Mrs. Jones is a mainstay.

The fashion show, designed to entertain the gentlemen and to give them ideas of what to buy their Northgate wives for Christmas, prompted applause as each familiar model projected herself into the spirit of the evening.

George Lemont of TV fame gave an amusing running commentary during the show which opened with Mrs. Richard Kure appearing as "The Spirit of Christmas." All in red, Patricia set the tone of the event, loaded with holiday gift boxes and toting a Christmas tree.

Next came Mrs. Barlow Ferguson in sheer, red, lace-trimmed shorty-pajamas. Betty's news in night wear wowed her audience.

BATHING SUIT

Mrs. Floyd Gilman, in a quick change of pace, appeared in a pink cotton bathing suit with a modest cape and pretty hat to match. Bee had been on jury duty in Marin Superior Court all week, but managed a "fitting" along with doing her civic duty.

Mrs. Charles Trost was trim in the "must" in every wardrobe, the San Francisco suit. At least the "must" wasn't black; it was a becoming beige in wool.

A desert orange knit dress with matching coat and orange bucket hat became striking on Mrs. Leroy Page. The costume was recommended for travel.

"Palm Springs, here I come" said the commentator as Mrs. Harding McPhun modeled in pink linen shorts with a deep pink top.

Next appeared Mrs. Henry Skinner in a Christmas green satin hostess gown, cut with both cunning and comfort.

Mrs. Donald Watts smashed the tradition that one must wear a conservative slicker when it rains when she showed a raccoon-trimmed, borgana-lined coat completely waterproofed.

Very comfortable, and very chic was Mrs. William Cassidy in nylon quilted two-piece lounging pajamas.

For those who don't know what to wear over a lovely beige cashmere dress, Mrs. Rudy Lang presented the answer in a beige leather coat with a mink collar.

Mrs. Alfred Oyster and Mrs. Edgar Lindner in a dual appearance presented the news in shirtmakers. Pat wore a silk shirtmaker print accented with pink and Maude modeled a white on white silk. They proved that Marin's favorite silhouette can be glamorous.

That silk is important in sports as well as dress wear, was demonstrated by Mrs. J. T. Turner who modeled a "mixed-match" casual suit.

Mrs. William Brantman was welcomed aboard with "This is the way all the girls should look when they open the front door for the breadwinner at night." Her eye-catching costume was a Dior adaptation hostess gown in blue and silver brocade cut with high Empire lines.

Mrs. William Pomeroy modeled completely drip dry natural silk pajamas from Hong Kong.

OTHER COSTUMES

Other costumes included a costume for "the hostess with the mostest," namely black satin pants worn with red satin brocaded jacket; a banded white silk holiday dress with colored empire accents; a white satin hostess gown set off with a flattering rouche of cock feathers; a floating blue printed nylon peignoir; red slacks worn with a coral silk blouse; and a large collection of beautiful short evening dresses exemplifying the importance of color at night.

Speaking of color at night, seen among the spectators were many red, many green and lots of blue silk frocks. Mrs. Allen Zeiss, who with Mrs. Donald Perry were receiving congratulations for their decorations of the club, wore royal blue. Mrs. John W. Merryman, Northgate Group president, in dark green satin, was receiving birthday congratulations. More bright blue was noted in frocks worn by Mrs. Rowland Chapman, general chairman of the successful party and by Mrs. Ralph Alden of the prizes committee.

Mrs. Frank Stratford in green, added to the lovely group watching the show which included Mesdames Norman B. Livermore, Wallace Scott and E. M. Shelton.

'GAIETIES' EVENT OF SATURDAY

Saturday evening the Meadow Club was the scene for the annual Christmas party of the Ross Valley Players, the "Gaieties." The Club was aglitter with traditional Christmas decorations and the gay formal gowns of the women added to the happy holiday spirit.

Cocktails were served at 7:30 o'clock with dinner and dancing following.

Seen among the many diners were the Percy McPartlands seated with the Ed Wrights, the Wishard Browns and the George Achoffs. Mr. and Mrs. Max Boone shared a table with the James Guilder and the D. J. Wallaces as well as James Fitch and Mrs. Bernice Jordan.

President and Mrs. Don Morrell received guests as they entered the foyer and later dined with the Jackson Bennetts and the Charles Kendricks. Dr. and Mrs. Ira Degenhardt dined with John Carish. The Chapin Days, Barney McGraths and Judge and Mrs. Harold Haley were in another group. Kay and Roland Wilson were seen on the dance floor enjoying the fine music. Dr. and Mrs. L. Martin Griffin also were among the diners, as were the Thalbert Duncans.

Camp Fire Workers Plan Holiday Meet

The annual Christmas meeting of all professional Camp Fire workers in region 10 will be held Friday, Dec. 12 at the Piedmont Camp Fire Girls Council headquarters.

Region 10 includes Northern California, Nevada and Utah. Miss Mary Fiedler of San Rafael is regional director of the area.

Miss Joan Yule, executive director of the Marin Council of Camp Fire Girls, will be chairman of the all day meeting. The program will be divided into three discussion sessions, the first of which will be the Golden Jubilee Girl Project. Each councill will come prepared to tell what is being done in each area on this national two year project. Miss Yule will lead the group in discussion. This will be followed by an exchange of ideas on junior high age girls, led by Mrs. French Baker, field director of Marin. Mrs. Constance Brumley, field director of Marin, will conduct the discussion on Horizon Club activities. The purpose of these discussions will be to investigate successful projects and approaches to these age groups by exploring and sharing each council's experiences.

During lunch, which will be prepared and served by volunteer members of the Piedmont Council, Miss Delores Walthers, executive director of Martinez, will give a report. The Martinez Council is participating in an experimental program being conducted by National Camp Fire Girls as a result of a Gallup poll study done last year. The findings of these experiments in 10 selected Camp Fire Councils throughout the nation will form the basis of a new program which will be instituted when the experiment is completed.

The day will end on a humorous note when a "Queen for a Day" will be selected. She will be chosen because of relating the saddest experience in her career as a Camp Fire Girls professional worker. Those contesting will be Miss Marion Coombs, executive director, Central Contra Costa, Miss Aileen Martinson, field director, San Francisco, Miss Claire Barracks, executive director, Peninsula Council, and Miss Delores Walthers. Mrs. Constance Brumley, assisted by Miss Sylvia DeVincinzi, field director, Marin, will act as coordinators for the contest.

Two sharpshooting highway patrolmen are the "top guns" among Marin County law enforcement officials for 1958.

In four matches which wound up Sunday at the county pistol range in San Rafael, Duncan Snell and William Roberts of California Highway Patrol posted the highest individual scores to take first and second. Snell rang up a score of 1,091, followed by Roberts with 1,077.

Sgt. Sidney Weber of the sheriff's office came in third with 1,060. Wade Powell of San Rafael Police Department was right behind with a score of 1,057.

Rangemaster H. O. Peters, who trained the men, announced that trophies will be awarded to these men at the next meeting of the Marin County Peace Officers Assn.

In yesterday's final match of the year, Weber took top score with 277, followed by Powell with 271 and Ed Levine of the sheriff's office with 269.

Non-Marching Brass Band To Play Carols

Christmas carols with a brassy beat will resound in Terra Linda and Marinwood on the night of Dec. 22.

Making the welkin ring will be an aggregation bearing the unlikely name of the Just for Fun Gallinas Valley Sanitary District Non-Marching Band.

The Just for Fun, etc., will live up to its non-ambulatory name by blowing out its music from the back of a flatbed truck, according to Joseph S. Curalito, Dixie School District music teacher who directs it.

POUND AND PUFF

The 22 members (there may be more by then) will pound and puff sweet (or loud, anyhow) Christmas music from 8 to 10 p.m. The truck will tour throughout Terra Linda and Marinwood, making sure that the sound of Christmas is heard by all, said Mrs. F. Strathirn of Terra Linda, one of the two women members of the Just for Fun, etc.

The amateur band was formed recently of residents of Terra Linda, Marinwood, Santa Venetia and San Rafael Meadows, hence the "Las Gallinas Valley Sanitary District" title. But membership is open to anyone who can read and play music and "who has a good sense of humor," regardless of residence, said Mrs. Strathirn.

LONG SILENCE

"Most of our members probably have not played in a band since high school days," she said.

Undaunted, however, the Just for Fun, etc., plans nonmarching concerts at the dedication of the new Terra Linda fire station (still undated) and at productions of the Terra Linda Little Theater.

The band practices each Monday at 8 p.m. in Mary E. Silveira School.

Alto Motel Host To TV Thieves

Television thieves struck Saturday at the Alto Motel, 817 Redwood Highway, Alto, and took off with a TV set and and other equipment worth $190 in all.

Mrs. L. N. Koons, the manager of the motel, told Sheriff's Deputy T. A. Lightfoot that two men drove up in a small black sedan at 4 a.m. A man who gave his name as Bob Bennett and address as San Fernando registered for a motel room. He was about 20 years old, 5 feet 8 inches, and wore a dark suit. His companion was a stocky blond youth.

When Mrs. Koons checked the room about 2 o'clock that afternoon, she found the men gone. So were a 17-inch television set and stand, an electric coffee maker and a pink bedspread.

THE PARENTS' CORNER

'I Hate Both My Parents,' Says Girl Of 15 In Tough Situation

Doris T. "I'm a girl of 15. I hate both my parents. My father is down with leukemia. He'll die eventually. Since he's been sick my mother has worked. She has a night job. She is tired all the time. They expect me to do the housework, and be a full-time nurse. I don't even get to go to church. I missed every football game this fall. My clothes are awful. Dad scolds me all the time. What did I do to deserve such parents?"

Reply. I'm sure you did nothing to cause your father's illness, nor the situation it creates. Your hatred is understandable but it doesn't help. You are being tested early in life. Please try to show your strength, not your temper. Talk with your counselor at school. Probably she can help your mother and father understand your feelings. Then maybe things can be changed a little at home. A way should be found for you to go to church, and become active there. If your mother can't take care of your father part of the time on Sundays, other care might be arranged through your church. Ask about it. You need companionship, and a renewal of faith. Remember that your parents love you. They want only the best for you. But they are under terrible strain. Remember, and be more patient.

HOMEWORK STRIKE

Bill W. "We teen-agers should organize a union. We need something to protect our rights. Our teachers give us too much homework. I don't object to an eight-hour workday. I get sore when teachers pile on assignments. Their homework makes any school day a 14 or 16 hour day. I want to go to college. I'm taking some advanced courses. What would happen if I started a strike against homework?"

Reply. At first people would laugh. Then they'd get angry. Don't try it. Here's something better. Keep track of your home studying. Have your friends do the same. Then show your teachers your record. Let them see they're overdoing the homework. If your problem gets worse you could go to your principal. Probably he would be willing to help you. Remember, no strike.

Decoration Contest Set In Greenbrae

Residents of Greenbrae will compete for more than $200 in prizes this year in the 12th annual Christmas decorations contest sponsored by the Greenbrae Property Owners Assn.

Prizes will be donated by the Schultz Co. and merchants of the Bon Air Shopping Center.

Dr. Ted F. Pett, president of the property owners assn., said judging will be between 7 and 10 p.m. Dec. 23. He said all residents of Greenbrae are eligible to enter. No application form is necessary. Judges will make a complete tour of the area to view the entries.

Intent is to base judging on originality of design and presentation, rather than cost, said Pett.

George Bogel, sales manager for the Schultz Co., said first prize will be $50; second, $30; third, $20; and fourth through eighth place, $10 each, all in cash.

Additional prizes will include five $10 merchandise orders and six $5 orders.

Judges will be Dick Messinger, Bradley Palmer, Leo Perrier and Clerin Zumwalt.

Bogel said the contest was originated by his firm in 1947, the first year of the subdivision's existence.

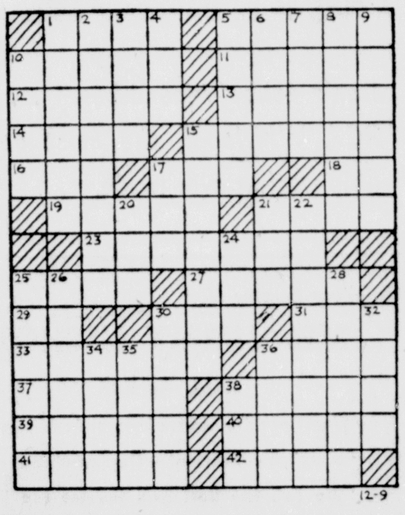
Saturday's Answer



DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation

UQJ QCG C QJCBP—QZO UQCVV X UCM?—PZZ UZZF RCGJ WVCG—IBZOFXFW.

Saturday's Cryptoquote: PEOPLE OF THE PHILIPPINES: I HAVE RETURNED—MACARTHUR.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Fire Probe To Open

CHICAGO (AP)—Forty investigators continued their broad inquiry today into the Dec. 1 Our Lady of the Angels School fire. A top city official said it will not end until the cause has been determined.

Earle Downes, Chicago fire attorney, said investigators will talk to more than 500 persons.

Cook County Coroner Walter E. McCarron announced the names of 16 men who will be on the jury at the inquest tomorrow into the deaths of 89 children and three nuns. Most are insurance company officials, engineers and architects.

McCarron said the jury's principal job is to determine the manner and cause of death.

Snowball Could Survive

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—A snowball stood a pretty good chance in Hell today.

The head man reported Hell frozen over, with six inches of snow under foot. The temperature got down to 10 above zero overnight.

Hell is a tiny Michigan community 18 miles northwest of Ann Arbor. The head man is Mayor Erdly Van Sickle.

Phone Net Complete

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Frederick R. Kappel, president of the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. says arrangements had been completed to bypass the 50 critical target areas so the nation's telephone network could still work in case of an enemy attack.

Kappel told a businessmen's luncheon yesterday that "under our present arrangement we can dial from New York to San Francisco without going through a single major city."

'Eddie's Welcome'

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Although she filed for divorce last week, Debbie Reynolds says it's all right with her if Eddie Fisher wants to spend Christmas with her and their two children.

"He has always spent Christmas with the children," said Debbie. "I suppose he will again."

Miss Reynolds made the comment in answer to newsmen's questions.

'Smokers Anonymous'

LONDON (UPI)—"Smokers Anonymous," a society patterned after Alcoholics Anonymous to help people stop smoking, will begin its work Jan. 1, it was announced today.

One society member, a London doctor whose name was withheld in accordance with the society's rule, said the group was being founded to fight cancer. He said it would accept only people who seriously want to stop smoking.

Custody Suit Private

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A suit to determine custody of actor Sterling Hayden's four children will be heard behind closed doors.

"For the protection of the children," Superior Court ordered a private hearing of Mrs. Betty Ann De Noon's suit for a determination of custody.

Pretrial charges filed by Hayden accused Mrs. De Noon of being intimate with six men. Mrs. De Noon charged that Hayden "hates women."

The children, now between 6 and 10, went to Hayden under an out-of-court agreement when the couple was divorced three years ago.

Bombed School Aided

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (AP) —People throughout the Western Hemisphere have donated cash and food for an integrated school in nearby Osage that was wrecked by a bomb Nov. 10.

Principal James Twigg said yesterday $843 in cash and $405 worth of food for the school's hot lunch program have been received.

The largest single donation, $50 cash, came from a man in Maracaibo, Venezuela. The smallest, 5 cents, was sent by a youngster from Orinda, Calif.

Several persons were questioned about the bombing, but no one has been charged.

Kim Il Sung In China

TOKYO (AP) — North Korean Premier Kim Il Sung left Peiping for home by train today after a 17-day tour of Red China and Communist North Viet Nam.

Soviet Writer Flees

BERLIN (AP) — Soviet writer Alexander Tcheyshvili, a 1951 Stalin Prize winner, has fled to the West.

A spokesman for the anti-Communist Russian refugee organization, NTS, said the 55-year-old novelist crossed into West Berlin about eight days ago, asked for political asylum and was now believed to have left the city.

Tcheyshvili is a Georgian who won a Stalin Prize—highest Soviet literary award—for his novel "Lelo," a glorification of the Soviet collective farm system.

Stabbed By Hula Hoop

LYTHAM ST. ANNE'S, England (UPI)—Joyce Cookson, 11, was stabbed by her hula hoop yesterday.

A joint in her cane hoop parted when another girl bumped her and one end was driven deep into her thigh. Firemen cut off the hoop and the end was removed in a hospital.

College Of Marin Musicians Perform Chamber Music

By MARTHA BRUCKNER

The music department of College of Marin presented "An Evening of Chamber Music" at Olney Hall on the campus in Kentfield Friday.

Thompson Chesnut, director of the concert, likes to offer a different kind of program every year. This time, he selected several different groups of instruments for variety. The comparison of these groups—strings, woodwinds and brass—verified again the fact that string players are difficult to get. Nevertheless, the small string group tackled three movements of Mozart's "Kleine Nachtmusik." For Bach's Brandenburg concerto No. 2 they got help from a flute (Elisabeth Howie), an oboe (Carolyn Michaelian) and a trumpet, played by Chesnut himself.

A well-disciplined and lively performance of a pathetic composition by Lully, three Russian dances and a modern composition by Arnell was given by the student's brass choir with brilliant trumpets (Louis Tomlinson, (first trumpet) and the rest of the brass also doing very well (first horn, James Schroeder; first trombone, Erik Wik; tuba, Merlin Combs). Earlier in the program the horns as a quartet had performed works by Mendelssohn, Tschaikovsky and von Weber.

A professional note was given to the concert by a woodwind quintet formed by Howie (flute), Carolyn Michaelian (oboe), Andrew Ward (clarinet), Virginia Ojeda (bassoon) and Geraldine Chesnut (horn), all members of the Marin Symphony Guild. Their performance was well rehearsed, clear and appealing.

Like It Or Not, Say Legislators, New Taxes Are Needed

By MORRIE LANDSBERG

SACRAMENTO (AP)—California legislators agree overwhelmingly that, like it or not, they'll have to impose new taxes next year.

That's the view of close to 80 per cent of lawmakers replying to an Associated Press questionnaire. They said they'll vote additional levies in view of a predicted 270-million-dollar deficit by 1960.

"I will not like to," said Sen. John J. Hollister Jr. '(D-Golet), "but I may have to."

FEW HOPEFUL

Only a relatively few inclined to the hope the day can be postponed for tapping the tax payers. Some suggested first using up reserves, such as they are. Others called for holding the line on spiraling state spending.

More than half of the 120 members responded in the poll. Asked whether they would prefer to boost present taxes or impose new ones, a 3 to 1 majority favored a combination of both.

Judging from the replies, it's a good bet California will put on its first cigarette tax. This prospective source drew the highest number of votes. It was followed by proposals for a bigger state cut of horse racing profits.

LIQUOR TAX

In order, the legislators next favored boosts in liquor, beer, personal and corporate income taxes.

There was decisive opposition to any raise in the 3 per cent sales tax. Even stronger reaction frowned on repeal of the present exemption on groceries. Many members declared they would fight any further consumer levies.

The survey turned up something of a sleeper—a controversial one, at that. Fifteen members signified they'd support a severance tax on oil, gas or other natural resources. None offered any hint as to the possible income.

DRAW POKER

Assemblyman Charles Wilson (D-Los Angeles) came up with still another idea: a "sizeable tax" on draw poker clubs. He acknowledge, however, this would hardly wipe out the red ink figures.

An increase in income taxes on fast capital gains and on profits from land speculation was suggested by Assemblyman Allen Miller (D-an Fernando). A lien law on property of old age pensioners was offered by Assemblyman Charles Conrad (R-Sherman Oaks).

Assemblyman Lester A. McMillan (D-Los Angeles) urged repeal of the veterans' $1,000 exemption on real property taxes. The state itself wouldn't benefit, but McMillan said it would help the counties.

ANTI-TAX GROUP

Among the anti-tax group, en. Nelson S. Dilworth (R-Hemet) thinks we can avoid new taxes by careful use of existing income. Sen. Charles Brown (D-Shoshone) suggested running the state on deficit spending for at least another year.

Assemblyman John Busterud (R-San Francisco) called for constitutional reform to place all of the state budget before the Legislature for review. The Legislature now has direct control over about 30 per cent of the state's expenditures; the remainder represents fixed charges.

'BUCKLE DOWN'

Assemblyman Harold K. Levering (R-Los Angeles) said:

"If this Legislature will buckle down to the job, there is no doubt in my mind that we can bring the cost of government in line with income. If we do not, I am not going to vote for any new taxes anyhow.

"I would rather see a showdown and see the Democratic party start issuing registered warrants. Of course, this financial debacle is chargable to the Republican administration that has been spending more than our income for some services that I regard very questionable for the past 10 years."

The Senate's president pro tem, Hugh M. Burns (D-Fresno), was asked whether he had any ideas for budget economies. "Yes," he said, "but I never get to first base." He sides with the prevailing view: there's no getting away from the need for more taxes.

Apartment Project Up For Discussion

A quarter-million-dollar apartment project near the San Rafael Airport will be discussed tonight by the San Rafael Planning Commission. The meeting is set for 7:30 p.m. in the city hall.

Kaehler Construction Co. wants to build 26 apartment units on Belvedere street between Alto and Medway streets.

Planning commissioners also plan to discuss the development of the entire East San Rafael Assessment District, which was originally set up as a light industrial area. With a growing interest in construction of apartments, bowling alleys and other non-industrial uses, the planners want to take another look at the area to see if industrial zoning should be changed.

A protest delegation from Sunnyview Terrace is expected to attend to oppose a zoning change near the intersection of East Crescent drive and Scenic avenue, north of the Miracle Mile. Tamarin Realty wants the present garden apartment zoning changed to straight apartment zoning. Residents oppose apartment zoning on grounds that traffic would be congested and sanitation facilities would be inadequate. Some want the area zoned back to one-family residential.

Aldersly, Inc., which operates the Danish Home at 326 Mission avenue, wants a rezoning of adjacent property so facilities of the old people's home can be expanded. The adjacent land, at 507 Belle avenue, is zoned for duplexes. Aldersly requests multiple zoning.

A fence in Loch Lomond that caused a neighborhood feud comes up for variance request. Roland and Jorna M. Hellman of 32 Manderly road request approval of a concrete wall and fence that are already up. They also ask for completion of the fence to make all of it six feet high, as suggested by the planning commission at the last meeting.

The neighbor, Bruce Bernhard, complained that Hellman's structure was a 12-foot fence (six feet of concrete wall and six more feet of wooden fence put up without proper permit. Bernhard threatened to retaliate with a 12 foot fence of his own until the planners stepped in and decided that Hellman should raise his fence to an even height all the way to serve both sides.

MacArthur Ignored

TOKYO (UPI)—The influential English-language Japan Times suggested today that Gen. Douglas A. MacArthur "no longer is a personality of importance" to Japanese readers.

The Times, in an editorial criticizing MacArthur for his refusal to see a Japanese mission investigating the drafting of the nation's postwar constitution, noted that Japanese language newspapers gave only scant attention to the incident.

"This may be because the vernacular papers are by policy against tampering with the constitution," the newspaper said. "Still another reason may be that General MacArthur no longer is a personality of importance to their readers."

Power Willed Eyes To Blind; Unfulfilled

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Actor Tyrone Power willed his eyes to give sight to the living, but his wish was not fulfilled.

At the U. S. Air Force Hospital in Spain where the actor's body was prepared for burial after his unexpected death of a heart attack last month, a spokesman said his eyes were not removed.

The Eye Bank for Sight Restoration in New York said that eyes must be used within 24 to 48 hours of a donor's death. There are few places outside the United States where they can be utilized in the corneal transplant operation which opens a window of sight for some blind persons, the eye bank said.

The Eye Bank spokesman said further that Power's wish could not have been fulfilled even if he had died at home if the gift was noted only in his will. Such a gift must be made in a special deed and its existence known to someone close to a dying person so that eyes may be removed within the short time they can be used.

Power's will filed yesterday in superior court directed that the bulk of the estate be equally divided into six parts and placed in trust for his third wife, his mother and sister, and his three children—one yet unborn.

The estate, although listed simply as in excess of $10,000, was said by one of the executors, A. Morgan Maree, to be of substantial value.

Plans Laid For Pony Express Celebration

Initial steps were taken in Sacramento on Friday to organize California's celebration of the 100th anniversary of the first running of the famed Pony Express.

April 3, 1960, will mark the centennial of the unique mail service, which operated between St. Joseph, Mo., and Sacramento.

Friday's meeting, held in the office of Gov. Goodwin J. Knight, was attended by Col. Waddell Smith of 75 Margarita drive, San Rafael, president of the National Pony Express Centennial Assn. Knight is a member of the association's board of governors.

Smith, great-grandson of William Bradford Waddell, one of the founders of the Pony Express, outlined the role of the California Pony Express Centennial Assn. The state organization's bylaws and articles of incorporation were approved at the meeting.

STERLING, Ill. (AP)—A pearl found in Rock River by Marvin Haenni is about the size of a dime and weighs 48.40 grains. The true value of the pearl is unknown but a local man offered $1,000 for it.

Cellist Fills In Quartet Without Rehearsal

By MARTHA BRUCKNER

The Marin Arts Quartet opened its second season Sunday at the well-filled Outdoor Art Club in Mill Valley.

Before starting to play, Charles Meacham had to announce that Jean Maguire, the cellist of the quartet, had been taken ill a few hours previously. To avoid canceling the concert, Herman Reinberg, one of the leading cellists of the San Francisco Symphony, had agreed to fill in, although he had time for no rehearsal and only a short look at the Hindemith score, which he had never played before.

However, Reinberg managed to blend in with the three other players.

This was made easier by their perfectly established harmony, with Meacham as a firmly and beautifully leading first violinist, William Pynchon as a reliable second violin player and Albert White at the masterfully handled viola.

In Mozart's Quartet in C Major, op. 465, in the beginning of the concert, there was a slight uncertainty of the cello, but it had almost disappeared in the concluding Brahms. The rich possibilities of that score, fully materialized, made it the highlight of the program.

Hindemith's first quartet, so modern when it was written more than 40 years ago and awarded the Mendelssohn Prize in Frankfurt, had now an almost romantic attitude to which Meacham had referred in his preview. However, the third movement, with so many musical thoughts, was very long for modern listeners.

On Leave In Denmark

Army Sp/4 Arthur R. Meacham, 24, son of Mrs. Ella Meacham of San Rafael, recently spent a 15-day leave in Copenhagen, Denmark. Specialist Meacham is assigned as a radar operator in the 67th Artillery's Battery C at Worms, Germany.

TV Writer's Jail Sentence Still In Effect

NEW YORK (UPI)—Television columnist Marie Torre today faced 10 days in jail unless the federal judge who sentenced her on a criminal contempt of court conviction suspends the sentence.

The U. S. Supreme Court yesterday refused to review the conviction. Miss Torre was sentenced Nov. 12, 1957, by Federal Judge Sylvester J. Ryan, who found her guilty of contempt for refusing to divulge the source of a story she wrote about Judy Garland.

Miss Torre, whose column appears in the New York Herald Tribune, had no comment on the high court's action. Ogden R. Reid, editor of the newspaper, indicated he would have no comment until he had discussed the case with counsel.

The Herald Tribune supported Miss Torre's appeal of the lower court ruling, in which she said the Supreme Court decision would have "an immediate effect on the willingness of news sources to transmit news in confidence to reporters and news media."

'NOW, LET ME THINK!' — Six-year-old Joanne Drolla of Mill Valley is a Miss with a mind well made up. She even had her Christmas list all written down for Santa Claus when he made his initial Mill Valley appearance yesterday. But the Christmas saint seems to have stumped her with one of his questions. (Independent-Journal photo)

Chrismas (And Santa) Arrive In Mill Valley

There's no doubt that the Christmas season has arrived in Mill Valley.

From the city's huge living redwood Christmas tree at Miller and Sunnyside avenues, reaching more than 100 feet in the sky, to the little sidewalk forests of trees being sold for home decoration, the city has acquired a festive air.

Santa Claus has arrived and is greeting children in Lytton Square.

SNOW SCENE

Included in the Lytton Square decorations is an elaborate display in the center of the area by the city flagpole, where a 27-foot fir occupies the center of a simulated mountain display including rocky terrain and a snow scene. The display was designed by florist Normand Black and assembled by volunteer labor.

Along Throckmorton avenue from the R and M Style Shop to the Bank of America, and on Miller avenue from Mayer's Department Store to Brown's Furniture Store, garlands of greens have been strung from 10-foot poles in sidewalk holders. Intertwined in the greens are small cones from the Jeffrey pine and twinkling red and green lights.

In addition, there are the familiar strings of colored lights topping the Lytton Square area, installed by the fire department. These, the living tree and the sidewalk garlands are all scheduled to be lighted tonight.

Carl Mosher, one of the Lytton Square merchants, said plans are in the making for two innovations.

PHOTOS, STORIES

"We are planning to have photographer Phil Planert in the square each afternoon to take candid pictures of the youngsters with Santa," he said.

"We are also planning to have a story-telling hour each afternoon under the town clock when Santa will entertain the youngsters."

Wives of the Project 17 members will have a mistletoe and "kissing bell" both adjacent to the bus station.

Mosher said many of the stores are planning to remain open until 9 o'clock daily except Saturdays until Christmas.

Liquor Store Gets Oriental Front Design

Mill Valley's Redhill Liquor Store has gone Oriental.

The store this week unveiled a new front, designed by A.B. (Gus) Costigan, Mill Valley builder and contractor, featuring a front window which is a replica of a Japanese tea garden, complete with a real waterfall flowing over rocks, bamboo and beach sand.

The store, at 67 Throckmorton avenue, has been operated by S. J. (Si) Weil since 1950.

PICTURE WINDOW

"The exterior of the building, including stucco and paint design, has been so developed as to suggest a picture frame," Weil explained, "so that the eye naturally travels to the center design with its attractive Oriental scene."

An angled panel of Oriental motif set off by vertically placed reeds serves as a backdrop for the window landscape.

Perhaps the most unusual thing about the window is that it contains no merchandise, signs or placards.

DUTCH DOOR

The entrance consists of a slit Dutch door, which, except for the exterior electric sign, offers the only means for a passerby to determine what the store has for sale.

The store's interior has been redesigned to convey the same Japanese atmosphere, with liberal use of the reed paneling. Center posts have been topped with curved shingled roofs sheltering the shelving which displays glassware.

Church Women To Install Officers

'Touch Of Tropics' In Audubon Movie

"A Touch of the Tropics," the second in a series of Audubon Screen Tours, will be presented Friday at 8 p.m. in Olney Hall, College of Marin, by William H. Wagoner Jr., explorer.

Dr. S. N. LeCount, director of adult education, said the film and lecture will be based on a study of wildlife of the Florida Everglades.

The color motion picture is one of a series produced by Wagoner and his wife, June, after extensive travel in North America.

Future screen tours are scheduled for February, March and April. Tickets may be obtained from the college, which co-sponsors the series with the National Audubon Society.

Winter Camp To Be Held In High Sierra

A winter camp program for boys and girls will be conducted in the High Sierra Dec. 20-24 by Victor York of Fairfax at his Yuba Ski Land on Highway 49 at the summit of Yuba Pass.

York, instructor in recreation leadership at San Francisco State College, will be camp director. His staff of counselors will include Robert Halbeck, ski expert, and Bernice Lee, folk dance instructor.

York said the camp program will emphasize ski instruction. Evening activities will include games, skits, folk dancing and group singing.

Facilities at Yuba Ski Land include lodge, dormitories, 500-foot ski tow on a gentle slope for beginners and 1,000-foot tow on a steeper hill for more advanced skiers. The youngsters will travel to and from the camp by Greyhound bus.

CLIMACTIC TRIAL SCENE

"You killed Emily French," accuses Mr. Myers, Q.C., portrayed by Alexander Imlay in a climactic scene of "Witness for the Prosecution," being presented at the Sausalito Little Theater, 745½ Bridgeway. He points to Leonard Vole, played by T. D. Casey, accused of murdering a wealthy widow. Produced in the round with the audience participating in the action, the play is a suspense drama by Agatha Christie. Final performances will be Friday and Saturday at 8:30 p.m.

Cab Driver Admits Tiburon Vagrancy

Connie Gene Dunn, 22, a cab driver living at Hilarita Housing in Tiburon, will be sentenced in Marin Municipal Court on Dec. 30 for vagrancy.

Dunn was caught Nov. 29 by Sheriff's Deputy Charles Newman inside the tool room and storage shed of Fred G. Zelinsky on Juanita street, Tiburon. He was originally booked on suspicion of burglary, but that charge was never pressed because there was no evidence of burglary. However, Dunn admitted he was guilty of vagrancy.

1959 EDSEL

Edsel Ranger 2-door sedan

Makes history by making sense!

Check the new official price labels for Edsel's new, low prices

The new law says that every car must have a label showing the manufacturer's suggested retail price—and Edsel Dealers are even happier about it than the public! Because Edsel prices didn't go up this year—they went down! The 1959 Edsel is now priced with the most popular three—and the price labels prove it!

Edsel's four new high-efficiency engines prove something else important—real gas economy. They include a thrifty six with a great test-track record—and a new, economy V-8 that uses regular gasoline!

Edsel's new size makes sense, too. Six-passenger room inside—less length outside. And less useless car weight. So it's much easier to handle than long, bulky cars.

Try the car that's proud to wear its price—proud to prove it makes sense! See your Edsel Dealer!
